HORSETHIEF IS IDENTIFIED

Man Who Shot Constable Moss at Loveland Is Thoroughly Recognized.

STEALING HORSES IS HIS PROFESSION

He Retains an Attorney to Conduct His Case in the Courts—Wounded Constable Not Fatally Injured.

Williams, the man who shot Constable Moss at Loveland on Tuesday, has been identified as a horsethief who the authorities of Iowa and Nebraska have been after for several months. He says his right name is James Williams. To several persons to whom he had recently sold horses and who called at the county jail and identified him he gave the names of Jack Moore, Jack Gregg and Jack Gregg. The names of these men were familiar to several times during the last summer, he was known as Jack Moore. Sheriff Wise of Seward, Neb., who was among the callers at the jail, identified Williams as the man answering the description of a horsethief on whose trail he has been since October 1. He told the officers that he would much rather that the people at Loveland had struck him up than have to take a court. C. S. Bond of Loveland identified Williams as the man who stole a mare and a foal from a commission man named Fred Terry, in South Omaha. Williams denied having stolen them, but admitted that he had been engaged in wholesale horsethieving in Iowa and Nebraska for several months. He has been instructed to pay the full value of the horse and buggy at Glenwood, among the horses being two thoroughbreds called Red Bird and White Pelt. In talking of these thoroughbreds Williams said that he had provided means for several months on Red Bird's back noting that he could have caught him.

Penitentiary Bird.

George Treyner, who eighteen months ago was a guard at the Iowa penitentiary at Fort Madison, is of the opinion that Williams is the same man, who, under the name of Jack Greogorovich Williams, was in the penitentiary for a four years' sentence for horsethieving. Williams, when seen by Treyner, at once recognized him, but denied that he had been in the penitentiary. He said he had frequently passed through Fort Madison on his way to Chicago with stolen horses.

The Council Bluffs authorities are now certain from statements made by Williams that he had several associates and a close watch will be kept on the county jail, as fears are entertained that they will make every effort to effect an escape.

His preliminary hearing on the charge of shooting with intent to commit murder was fixed for this afternoon, but his wounds will prevent him being taken into court and the hearing will have to be postponed. His wounded leg was dressed by Dr. Christensen. His preliminary soreness, his injuries are not very painful.

Word was received from Loveland yesterday morning that Constable Hardin Moss was resting easily and that aside from weakness his injuries were not regarded as serious. Another report tonight from the hospital which lodged in his back will be made.

Retains an Attorney.

Williams has retained S. R. Snyder as his attorney and assigned to him the $185 which he had on his person when arrested. Later C. S. Bond and William Bradley, farmers living near Loveland, attached this money on proceedings commenced in the superior court by Bond bought a team of black mares from Williams, paying him $150. Since Williams' arrest it has developed that the mares were stolen. Bradley bought a buggy from the desperado, paying him $30. Like the mares, this buggy had been stolen by DeWitt.

Wagon Sheriff Slead went to Loveland yesterday afternoon and brought to this city the two mules which Williams had there. One was identified by E. D. Laughlin of Ashland, Neb., as his property, stolen from him last Sunday. The other was claimed by M. J. Eichler of Milford, Neb., the animal having been stolen from him on the night of October 20.

The barn from which Williams tried to get a horse when cornered by Officers Albro and James, belonged to Ed Dalton and it was Dalton, who after Albro had knocked Williams from off the horse, grabbed the desperado by the throat and choked him almost to death before he gave up the fight and allowed the officers to bind him. Dalton hopes if there is a reward out for Williams' capture to get a slice of the money.

More About the Man.

Sheriff Trompen and Detective POUND of Lincoln were in the city yesterday evening and from them considerable information was secured about Williams. They say Williams is one of the most desperate horsethieves operating at this time in the west and that there is hardly a county in Nebraska where he is not wanted.

Officers Albro and James are sure of some money for capturing him, as there are known rewards of $50 each offered by parties in Seward and Lancaster counties and in Lincoln and Osceola, Neb.

Chief Bixby yesterday made a careful examination of the papers found among Williams' effects and they show that between July 20 and 26 he was in the vicinity of Crete with a number of horses and boarded with a family named Lader. He left on the latter date and August 8 he was in the neighborhood of Lincoln, where he borrowed $300 from one J. E. Little, giving a chattel mortgage on some horses. August 31 he was in South Omaha and the papers indicate that he sold through or to the Terry Commission company the team he had mortgaged to Little. October 8 he was evidently in Atchison, Kan., and some of the papers would indicate that some time during September he was in Wyoming and stopped with a man named H. B. Jefferies at Lookout.

Work of Burglars.

The residence of Scott Riser at 315 Third Street was entered by burglars Tuesday night, who secured a pocketbook containing $48 from Mr. Riser's trousers, which were on a chair beside his bed. Investigation yesterday showed that a few minor articles were also missing. The burglars or burglar

MEMPHIS CARPENTER SPEAKS.

P. W. Wilcox Addresses an Enthusiastic Crowd at Smith's Hall.

Republicans gathered in full force last night at Smith's hall to listen to P. W. Wilcox, known from Maine to California as the Memphis carpenter. Mr. Wilcox has been expounding the principles of the republican party on the platform for over thirty years, during which time he has made a close study of all the vital issues of the two leading parties. He was prompted to go on the platform in order to bring before the conditions of the workmanman and is not in politics for office, as he has never been a candidate and said he never intended to be.

Mr. Wilcox made a stirring address, in which he gave a careful and concise review of the condition of the country for the last few years. His arguments were convincing and his address was listened to with the closest attention. A large number of workmen were noticeable among the audience.

He commenced his address by stating that he had been in the United States for the last few years and that he had seen the country from the standpoint of a workman. He stated that he had been in the United States for the last few years and that he had seen the country from the standpoint of a workman.

Dealers Lay In Insufficient Supply Resulting in Serious Annoyance.

As a result of a local ice famine, the Fort Dodge ice dealers exhausted their supply of ice two or three days ago, and since then have been placing orders outside to supply their trade until the season had closed. The freight car famine, however, which is especially severe in this part of Iowa, made it impossible to ship the ice here in sufficient quantities, and the result is that those who purchase ice in smaller quantities have been unable to get any at all, while those who use large quantities have not received nearly all that they needed.

Strange Death of a Farmer.

Henry Daniels, a farmer living near Lehigh, member of a well known pioneer Webster county family, died this morning as the result of lockjaw, ensuing from what was supposed to have been a trivial accident. Last Friday, while out in his yard, the farmer was struck by the wire of an old broom and he gave it an energetic kick to free his foot. The broom was short and sharp on the end and in some way penetrated his leg between the ankle and knee, inflicting a painful wound, which, however, caused no immediate apprehension. The wound soon grew worse, lockjaw resulted and death followed.

Lawyer at Bar of Justice.

PORT DODGE, Ia., Oct. 25.—(Special Telegram.)—District court convened here Monday afternoon with Judge Weaver on the bench. The session promises to be uninteresting, with the exception of the case of the state against Olmstead, which is a continuance of the famous Olmstead case of Webster City, in which C. C. Olmstead, as county attorney, was disbarred and is now being tried for perjury. The case is brought here on a change of venue from Webster City.

DES MOINES WANTS TROOPS

Effort to Divert Reception from Bluffs to Capital City.

OMAHA-MANAWA ROAD IS INCORPORATED

Company Capitalized at One Million Dollars Files Articles and Deposits Fee—Girls' Fate is Still a Mystery.

DES MOINES, Oct. 25.—(Special Telegram.)—It may be that the state reception to the returning Fifty-first Iowa regiment will be held in Des Moines, instead of at Council Bluffs. Mayor MacFarlan of this city and other prominent citizens are working quietly in the matter and seem to think the change may be made. It is stated that, judging from dispatches received from the west, the matter will be left to a vote of the soldiers themselves to determine which place shall have the reception.

The Omaha, Council Bluffs & Suburban Railway company of Council Bluffs today telegraphed a fee of $1,000 to the state for filing its articles of incorporation. The articles say the company will build and operate between Omaha and the Bluffs, between the Bluffs and Manawa and to all suburbs.

The Mabel Schofield case is still as much of a mystery as ever. A sensation was created today by the statement that two Highland Park students were suspected of ending her life and then dropping her in the river.
