ATTORNEY FOR PLAINTIFF IS ABSENT

City Attorney Connell Announces He is Ready and the Court Declares that No Further Time Will Be Granted After the Date Set.

The Sixteenth street viaduct injunction, which was to have been heard by Judge ing of the situation, a freight official stated: Dickinson yesterday, was continued until November 8. City Attorney Connell, representing the defendant municipality, an-nounced he was ready for trial, but Mr. Abbott, one of the attorneys for the plaintiffs, requested continuance owing to the absence of his partner, Mr. Cowin, who has been called to New York on imperative business. Mr. Abbott could not state exactly when days ago the Burlington, taking its whole sys- $2.50 yd., go on bargain square at 15c and third of regular price. Headquarters for Cowin would return, but thought it would be within the next ten days.

In granting the continuance Judge Dickinson said he would set the case for November 8 and that it must positively be heard at that time, as he could not permit further | which has increased enormously over that of

It is estimated by the judge and interested attorneys that two or three days will be consumed in the hearing. It will require at least one day in which to read the lengthy affidavits on file. The greater part of this budget of sworn testimony comes from the numerous plaintiffs. City Attorney Connell seems to take matters easy and declares he is hopeful of winning a favorable decision for the city. On the other hand, property owners, manufacturers and others One of the officials in speaking of their visit interested in South Seventeenth street are said: "We are making our usual tour of specially energetic in protesting against the closing of that thoroughfare.

City Attorney Connell has filed additional affidavits from Andrew Rosewater, city engineer, and Ernest Stuht, member of the city council. Mr. Rosewater's affidavit is quite lengthy, entering thoroughly into the merits of the case from the standpoint of Mr. Rosewater expresses the opinion that Seventeenth street is mostly used for local traffic and the general trend indicates that the railroad crossing is a dangerous place and that occasion requires the interference with house-moving that will result from the closing of the street, by saying that only shacks are moved and that no Omaha and Ogden. special importance is attached to the work when compared with other interests at stake. A blue print showing the street topography accompanies Mr. Rosewater's affi-

Mr. Stuht in his affidavit shows that the Seventeenth street crossing is a menace to public safety. He expresses the opinion that no serious commercial damage can result from the closing of the street and goes on at length to point out other convenient thoroughfares that may be substituted. There will probably be no more affidavits filed and the case will rest as it now stands until Judge Dickinson takes it up.

Holmes, who was brought before Judge Baxter Wednesday morning to answer the charge of stealing brass from the Burlington road at Blue Springs, maintains his calm and "slick" appearance throughout the ordeal. Although the Burlington is the only railroad directly interested, other companies are watching the trial with interest for the reason that the theft of brass has become one of the most common nuisances with which the special agents of the roads have to contend. It is shipped from one division point to another very frequently, and marauders who are inclined to steal it have but little trouble in carting it away owing to its portable condition
