State House Gang Neglects Public Business to Preach Politics.

POYNTER TAKES A RIDE ON BRYAN'S TRAIN

Executive Office is Closed and People Desiring to Transact Business of Importance Are Barred Out.

LINCOLN, Oct. 28.—(Special.)—If this may be taken as an average day at the state house the campaign that is being waged in the interests of the so-called reformers in costing the taxpayers of the state at the rate of $25,000 per year. Nearly one-half of the people employed at the capitol, including the state officials, were away from the building today and many of the offices remained closed all day. Governor Poynter joined the Bryan special train and the entire clerical force of the executive department was in Omaha. Secretary Porter was at Clark's. The secretaries of the Board of Transportation were, and have been since the campaign opened, engaged in committee work. The third floor of the building was absolutely deserted all day long. The pure food commission office was locked and on the second floor the only fusion office in that portion of the building was closed most of the day. The principal offices in the building were left in charge of clerks and stenographers. Among those who were away from their duties today were Governor Poynter, Private Secretary Fred Jewell and Clerks Blum, Mary and McEntee, all of the executive department; Secretary of State Porter, State Treasurer Meserve, Auditor General William B. Price, Deputy Land Commissioner Nelson, Secretaries Laws, Edgerton and Dahlman, Leon C. Crandall of the insurance department, Adjutant General Barry, Secretary P. J. Hall of the Banking Board, Deputy Labor Commissioner Kent, Superintendent Jackson, Deputy Superintendent Beck, Oil Inspector Gaffin, General Kelsey, Attorney General Smyth, Deputy Attorney General Oldham, Assistant George Corcoran, Deputy Food Commissioner Hubbard, "Rainmaker" Wright, Janitor Stockman, and Charles De France. This list includes only those who were asked for today and who were said to be absent. There perhaps are as many from the various state institutions who are devoting their time to the work of reforming the state. They all draw salaries from the state aggregating over $25,000 per year. The office of chief executive is in charge of J. G. P. Hildebrand, who also looked after the insurance department. Governor Poynter and the clerks, in their haste to get away this morning, forgot to give Mr. Hildebrand a key to the office, and as a result the executive department remained closed. Communication with the office after noon, when one of the janitors finally succeeded in opening a rear door.

Supports Reese for Judge. The following is a good sample of letters that are received daily by the friends of Judge M. B. Reese in this city: "I am not a republican, but I am for Mr. Reese for supreme judge for many reasons. He is a lawyer of high standing all over the state and is honest in every particular. His principal object in life is to do the right thing and to do some kind act for some poor individual and to this every alumnus of the law college of the State university can testify. "I have made some special efforts for him in my circle of friends and have succeeded in securing the words of fifteen of my very closest friends, who are republicans, that they would vote for him, and I only wish that every alumnus in this state could do as well. If they would he would be elected. I have talked to many and they all say, regardless of their party affiliations, that they are for Judge Reese for supreme judge. "I have seen Judge Reese in many trying circumstances, but he always came out with honor to himself in every instance. As to the ability of the two men there is no comparison. One is a lawyer and the other is a politician. No other words are necessary."

Auditor Cornell has revoked the charters of the Odd Fellows' Fraternal Accident Association and the Fraternal Order of Eagles of America. This action was taken because of the demand of the officers of the companies that powers of attorney heretofore issued to Auditor Cornell be revoked immediately. No explanation was offered by the officers in making the demand. It is probable there will be a vacancy soon in the list of officers of the Second Regiment of the National Guard. Colonel Campbell has about decided to locate in Denver and is at present at that place on a thirty day leave of absence. If he concludes to remain permanently in Colorado he will resign as colonel of the Nebraska regiment.

Many who wished to hear the speech were unable to gain admission to the hall. Mr. Mailley took up the attacks that have been made upon him by the fusionists. Sloan of Geneva was the speaker and for over an hour an audience of varied political complexions listened attentively to an eloquent, logical and patriotic discourse on the merits of fusionism and national. Bryan's meeting here, written up by his hired stenographer, is so entirely false that the whole article may be considered an attempt to deceive the public. Mr. Bryan was met by a crowd that stood easily on the west end of the depot platform, leaving more than three-fourths of it absolutely unoccupied. There was not a single cheer for Bryan or any one else and there were certainly no crowds tramping down the middle of the streets, the better to see the "familiar features so well beloved," as Bryan was on the inside of a closed carriage and could not be seen. The report says the people stood in the rain along the sidewalks to discuss the speech. In the first place, no rain fell and in addition to that the audience dispersed at once. There was no time for a speech and no porter omitted to make that he hired a livery team here for $3.50 and the driver was only able to collect $2 when the trip was completed.

Webster of Omaha spoke here last evening, the opera house being well filled with interested listeners. Scott charged Baker with owning the Cuban and Porto Rico villas on the Midway at the Greater America Exposition, also that it was an immoral institution. Judge Baker had the sworn affirmative of the secretary and treasurer of the company owning this village that Judge Baker did not own nor ever had owned any stock or interest in the company that owned it. Scott charged that when Baker came to Omaha he was $150 in debt and that after the Mosher trial he paid the note and bought a house, paying several thousand dollars and had $25,000 in the bank. Judge Baker showed by deeds which he had with him that the property was bought and paid for two years before the Mosher trial occurred. Other charges against Baker's record were disposed of in a similarly conclusive manner.

John L. Webster was next introduced and spoke for an hour, principally on the expansion issue.

He then made a brief tribute to the ability and worth of Judge Reese. He spoke briefly of the tariff legislation of the party which had enabled it to completely fulfill the promises it had made to the people of a restored prosperity. The larger portion of his speech was concerned more than any hour, was in regard to the Philippine question and was a logical and forceful presentation of the stand taken by the party and the policy of the administration in adjusting the affairs of these islands. KEY TO PETTIGREW'S SPEECH

South Dakota Senator Makes a Statement Regarding What He Said at Woonsocket, S. D.

ST. LOUIS, S. D., Oct. 28.—Senator Pettigrew, in an interview today regarding the report sent out from Aberdeen concerning his speech at Woonsocket, said: "What I said in my speech was substantially as follows: That President McKinley in his speeches in the west said that the Philippine islands had been delivered into our hands by the will of God and that God had caused our flag to be raised there. In view of the fact that the secretary of state recently wrote a letter to an Ohio congressman, evidently intended to be used to affect the election in that state, in which he said that we acquired no title to the Philippine islands by conquest, that our claim rested solely upon the purchase of the islands from Spain, and in view of the fact that the president had instructed our commissioners at Paris to insist upon the cession of these islands to the United States; that if God had anything to do with the transaction He must have come to the secretary of state in a vision, thus making the president the latest of the prophets, and that in this way only could God be responsible under the circumstances for our claim of sovereignty."

I said that I refused to receive such messages from God, transmitted through such a source, and refused to recognize a God who would use such an implement as a means of making His wishes known to us; that our flag stood for a principle, for an idea, for the doctrine of the declaration of independence; that it was emblematic of these and when raised in violation of the ideas for which it stood and the principles which made it dear to us, it was no longer our flag and could only be restored to us by pulling it down, and thus blushing for shame for my country's honor and wished I could blot out the recent history we had made. I never said I discovered any country or my flag."

The Ladies' band was engaged to entertain the crowd that never came. The managers were ready at sea and finally called on Dr. J. R. Buffington, who now constitutes the silver republican faction of the fusion octopus, to entertain the few who tarried a short time in hopes the speaker might come.

He said he prided himself on belonging to the party which clings to the cardinal principle that framed this grand country. He admitted the presence of prosperity, but attributed it to the fact that the money that went into hiding in 1896 was coming out and seeking investment. The meeting is looked upon by the republicans as one more victory for their cause. It is believed that in view of the fact that the secretary of state recently wrote a letter to an Ohio congressman, evidently intended to be used to affect the election in that state, in which he said that we acquired no title to the Philippine islands by conquest, that our claim rested solely upon the purchase of the islands from Spain, and in view of the fact that the president had instructed our commissioners at Paris to insist upon the cession of these islands to the United States; that if God had anything to do with the transaction He must have come to the secretary of state in a vision, thus making the president the latest of the prophets, and that in this way only could God be responsible under the circumstances for our claim of sovereignty.

I said that I refused to receive such messages from God, transmitted through such a source, and refused to recognize a God who would use such an implement as a means of making His wishes known to us; that our flag stood for a principle, for an idea, for the doctrine of the declaration of independence; that it was emblematic of these and when raised in violation of the ideas for which it stood and the principles which made it dear to us, it was no longer our flag and could only be restored to us by pulling it down, and thus blushing for shame for my country's honor and wished I could blot out the recent history we had made. I never said I discovered any country or my flag."

Kirby Case Goes to Jury. ST. LOUIS, S. D., Oct. 28.—(Special Telegram.)—The Kirby case was given to the jury at 4:35 this afternoon. The general belief is either in a conviction or disagreement. Judge Garland in his charge to the jury completely shattered the claim of jeopardy on the part of the defendant. In the former trial the jury disagreed and it is reported was discharged without Kirby or his attorneys being present. The case has been one of the most bitterly contested ever tried in the United States court here and interest in the verdict is intense.
