Negotiations of Burlington Toward Securing Valuable Franchise.

Railroad Sages Have Predicted All Along that Burlington's Hartville Extension Contemplated Direct Line to Ogden.

Railroad sages have predicted from the time that the Burlington began the construction of its line from Alliance, Neb., to Hartville, Wyo., that the latter point was by no means the terminal held in mind by Burlington officials. The general opinion has been that the Hartville extension was merely preliminary to a direct line through to Ogden and Salt Lake, Officials of the Burlington have evaded any discussion of this matter whatever, but it is an open secret that the Orden gateway is a point to which entry has long been sought by this road, It is now said that affairs have reached such a stage that the Burlington is negotiating for the purchase of the Utah & Wyoming franchise for the right-of-way into Salt Lake City, via Emigration canyon. The matter, it is said, has been left entirely in the hands of Burlington officials at Denver, who are working under instructions from the highest officials of the Burlington system. A representative of the Utah & Wyoming railroad left Salt Lake made against officers and privates of the a few days ago for Denver, presumably American army. ONE ARBITRATOR WILL BE CHOSEN. Burlington and Memphis Will Select

Man to Decide Differential. It is expected that a call for a special meeting of the Western Traffic association at Chicago will be made this week. The meeting is scheduled for the purpose of taking action in the appointment of an arbitrator on the differential question on packing-house products from Omaha and Kansas City to the southwest, which precipitated the warfare between the Burlington and Memphis roads a short time ago. It is practically certain that there will be but one arbitrator and he will be agreed upon by the two roads interested. Should other roads belonging to the Western Traffic association oppose and vote against the request of the Burlington for arbitration, more trouble may be expected to occur,

The conversation urned to the recently published stories of church looting, and particularly to the story involving the honor of General Funston. 'There is no truth in it," said Chaplain Mc-Kinnon, with great emphasis. "It is an invention prompted by malice or revenge. I visited the church in Caloocan shortly after the fall of Manila. It was then occupied as a barracks by Aguinaldo's troops. It was stripped of everything of value. The statues were removed. The altar alone remained. The insurgents did not take that because it was solid masonry. Our troops did not reach Caloocan until the following February. There Caloocan until the following February, There was nothing in the church then but the altar and the horrible filth of the fleeing insurgents, I know General Funston well. He is a noble fellow and would no more do the act he is accused of than he would betray the flag he has so gallantly defended. I saw the robe mentioned in the story. Mrs. Funs ton bought it from a Chinaman and showed it to me, being anxious to find out if it was church property. I assured her it was not. ## IN HONOR OF ITS FOUNDER

Memorial Exercises at Creighton University-Speeches, Music and Announcement of Honors.

Memorial exercises were held at Creighton iniversity yesterday in commemoration of he anniversary of the death of Edward Creighton, founder of the institution, who died November 6, 1874. The memorial address was delivered by Michael O'Hern, a member of the graduating class. He dwelt upon the philanthropic characteristics of the deceased benefactor and entered into a general review of the usefulness of the school. Father Dowling made a congratulatory speech, complimenting the students on their good work, and referred to Edward Creighton as a model for them to imitate. Music was furnished by a mandolin club, a glee club and the junior choir assisting.

Other features of the program were a declamation by John White, and an original poem entitled "Who is Truly Great?" by John A. Bennewitz. Father Kuhlman, vice president of the school, announced the class nonors as follows:

Rhetoric, John A. Bennewitz; poetry, Frederick Langdon; humanities, Edward Hart; first academic, George Lee; second academic, Joseph Nachtigall; third academic Frank Whalen.

The exercises closed with a finale by the orchestra. Church services in honor of the Creighton achool were held at St. John's Sunday at which Father Corcoran was cele-Music was rendered by the senior
