

PARALYZED WHILE WRITING

Samuel C. Sample, an Omaha Elk, Dies as the Result of Paralysis.

STROKE COMES AS HE FINISHES A LETTER

Victim Was a Prominent Banker at Butte, Neb.—Body is Taken in Charge by the Omaha Lodge of Elks.

Samuel C. Sample, a banker from Butte, Neb., died at the Merchants hotel yesterday from a stroke of paralysis. Shortly before noon on Monday Mr. Sample was seated at the writing desk in the hotel and was just finishing a letter to his wife when he fell over in his chair practically helpless.

Mr. Sample and his daughter, Miss Alice Sample, arrived in the city a few days ago. Monday Miss Sample was at Council Bluffs assisting in the reception of the Iowa soldiers. She knew nothing of the affliction of her father until her return to Omaha Monday night.

Mr. Sample has been prominent in Masonic circles in Nebraska and was a member of the Omaha lodge of Elks. As soon as his death occurred, representatives of the Elks lodge took charge of the body and the funeral will be held under the auspices of the lodge.

INSPECTION OF SEWER WORK

Real Source of Gossip Concerning Alleged Political Inspectors Employed by City.

The talk of political inspectors employed by the public works department on sewer work, which has been circulated of late by opponents of the city administration for political effect, has come to the notice of City Engineer Rosewater, head of that department.

"The whole trouble is," he said, "that the work has been too closely watched the last summer to suit the contractors. We always have two inspectors on a piece of sewer work, one to watch the mixing of the cement and the other down in the ditch watching the laying of the material. One man cannot do the work for the reason that some contractors have to be watched continually or they will work in too much sand and not enough cement and will use mud or anything to fill in with. We have two men on the Leavenworth street work now, and we shall keep them there for the reason that the contractor took the work cheap. He does not like the idea of having men watching his work, as he says, because it is a reflection on his honesty. It is not intended to be, of course, but even if it does look that way we cannot help it. Business is business and we do not intend to take any risks. Even with a couple of inspectors on the work it is not absolutely safeguarded. Recently we have met and were constructed in Washington and the army engineers in charge of the work were the inspectors. The contractors had arranged a system of signals by which the men were always warned of the approach of an inspector in time to get good material out. So whenever there was an inspector near they used plenty of good cement, but whenever his back was turned mud and sand went in, so that in a short time the entire sewer went to pieces.

"As to what the World-Herald says about too many bosses and the inspectors being incompetent political hangers-on, that too is all nonsense. The bosses are hired by the contractor and not by the city, so they are in no way connected with the city. It is immaterial how many bosses there are on a job. One of the inspectors on the North Omaha sewer is a rank democrat, but he is an expert on sewer work and a perfectly honest man, so we don't care anything about his politics. We have met and were political talk with him and don't want to. He has been employed by the city for years and is a reliable man."

House that Has Caused Much Trouble Between Two Men Buried Monday Night.

The house at 4829 Leavenworth street, which for the past year has caused much evil feeling and at times nearly bloodshed between Joseph H. Taylor and Henry Ross was on Monday night totally destroyed by fire. The place was owned and occupied by Taylor, who, when he inherited it from his father about a year ago, put Ross out into the cold world, notwithstanding the claim of an unexpired lease advanced by Ross. This has been the subject of a running quarrel between the two ever since, and for some time the neighbors have been expecting a serious outcome.

Taylor says he was awakened about 11 o'clock at night by some one shooting in his yard, and glancing out of the window he saw his pet dog being used as a target for revolver practice by some man. None of the shots took effect, and he called the dog in the house. He then arose and went to quiet down his neighbor. About 12 o'clock he awoke and found the room filled with smoke. He hurriedly aroused the family, and attempted to save the house, but the fire had too great a headway, and the building was burned to the ground. Taylor estimates his loss at $1,500.

The New Explosive. Thorite, the new explosive, has been distinguishing itself by passing through a 4 1/2 inch Harveyized steel plate. If its success continues, it will make as great a record for itself in the military world as Hostetter's Stomach Bitters has in the medical world. So far nothing has appeared which can equal this wonderful medicine in its speedy and permanent mastery of all diseases of the stomach, liver or kidneys. It's a good remedy to try when everything else has failed.

Civil Service Examination. A civil service examination for clerks and carriers in the Omaha and South Omaha postoffices will take place in the federal building November 22. There are thirty-eight applicants for the Omaha office—carriers, 11; male clerks, 14; female clerks, 13. At South Omaha there are only six applicants—carriers, 3; female clerks, 1; male clerks, 2. The decision of the commission to hold these examinations but once a year is the cause of the small number of applicants. The number of applicants for the South Omaha postoffice is seldom equal to the demand.

EXPOSITION DIRECTORS SUED

Employe Asks the Court to Hold Them Individually Responsible for Debts Contracted.

A case has been brought against the directors of the Greater America Exposition in Justice Foster's court, who is expected to be a test case for the benefit of the employees of the defendant company, to determine whether the directors are personally liable for debts contracted, in the event that the company should prove bankrupt. The plaintiff is Henry E. Easton, who claims $720 for stock and labor performed. He alleges that the exposition company pretended to incorporate with an authorized capital stock of $500,000, no part of which was to be issued until fully paid up. This pretended corporation, the plaintiff says, incurred debts exceeding two-thirds of its capital stock contrary to law. It is also alleged that the company transacted business in excess of its powers and that its incorporation was void because of the failure to post in a public place and to publish in a newspaper its articles of incorporation. For these reasons it is asserted that the directors are personally liable for the debts. The defendants mentioned are: H. J. Penfold, Fred A. Naab, P. E. Jier, W. F. White, George Clabaugh, R. S. Wilcox, C. M. Wilhelm and two others, names unknown. The case was set for trial November 16.

HE SAYS SHE SPAT ON HIM

Unique Cross Bill Filed by William Dent Rose in His Divorce Proceedings.

William Dent Rose, defendant in divorce proceedings instituted a few weeks ago by Mamie E. Rose, has filed answer and cross-bill in the district court. According to the story recited by Mr. Rose, all was not sunshine in his home life. He denies the allegations of cruelty set forth in the plaintiff's answer and recites a few chapters from his own standpoint. One of the most unique charges made by Rose is that his wife spat in his face. He also accuses her of using harsh language and of unmercifully whipping their little son. It is further alleged that Mrs. Rose took the child to Missouri out of the jurisdiction of the court last August and that she remains there. The defendant prays that his son may be returned to this jurisdiction and that a decree of divorce be granted the defendant instead of the plaintiff. He also asks the custody of the child.

Announcements

Seats are now on sale for Sousa's great operatic triumph, "The Bride-Elect," the most successful opera, competent critics claim, since the successful Gilbert & Sullivan operas. The company, numbering eighty, opens at Boyd's theater Friday night for three performances. Harry Leene is seen in the baritone roles and the others are sung by competent if not a people of world-wide operatic reputation. Kansas City, Chicago and elsewhere accepted the offering and spoke highly of it. It exploits no one artist, is not a one-person show and strict observance is taken of the most useful stage detail by its manager, J. E. Warner, who has handled Emma Abbott and some of the greatest opera organizations of the period.

At the Creighton-Orpheum matinee today there will be an immense attendance of women and children to hear the world-famous Hungarian Boys' Military band, under the direction of a celebrated master of music—Schilyonzi Niklos—who has the reputation of being the Sousa of Europe. There are six other acts on the program and every one is of a high order. Friday night will be request night, when any person wishing to hear the boys' band play any particular piece may make their request in writing to the box office where the ones received the largest number of votes will be selected for the program. The boys of the band will hold a stage reception at the matinee Saturday for women and children.
