The brief of the city attorney in the case was appealed. In the meantime the city carts, but no damage was done, council voted to accept a compromise propissued on the application of Dr. Farnam. It was the general opinion of most of the councilmen and even the citizens that the proposition was a good one. The case before the court will decide the injunction case, it is thought.

The city of Lincoln originally brought suit against the Lincoln Street Railway company and its mortgagees to foreclose liens for paving assessments and asked for foreclosure upon the lines of the company for $31,000 paving assessments levied against lines then in the streets but previously occupied by the company. The last judgment of the court was for over $100,000 and included penalties and interest.

Considerable business of more than or dinary importance will come before the supreme court at its sitting which com- camp. mences tomorrow morning. The court will probably remain in session three days.

Observant visitors to the Falls have no doubt noticed this condition. In the course of time the shale foundation of the limestone ledge is excavated to such a point that the unsupported ledge breaks away by its own weight and the crest line of the Horseshoe falls recedes so much further. Then the water attacks the newly-exposed shale, and in time the process outlined is repeated. This has been going on for centuries, and it will continue until the Falls of Niagara are no and that of Twents Years Ago. In the war of 1879-80 the Boers displayed deadly accuracy with the rifle, but their weapon then was very different from the arm used at Dundee, Glencoe and Lady-smith. The rifle of twenty years ago was built on the lines of the British Martini, relates the New York Sun. It was a hammerless arm of about nine pounds weight, with a thirty-inch half-octagon barrel and a shotgun butt stock. The caliber was forty-five, with a bullet weighing from 405 to 450 grains. The powder charge was ninety grains in a brazs-drawn carridge case. The rifle was sighted up to 2,000 yards. Besides the usual stationary sight it had a reversible front-that is, a sight Felegram.)-A fire occurred in the Grand capable of being used as an ordinary front Island foundry today and the structure was eight, and, by a single motion, it was wholly destroyed and also part of the coal- changed into a fine pinhead sight covered shed of A. On an occasion where particularly fine shooting was demanded this front globe was further covered with a thimble-shaped hood, shading it perfectly. The usual standing rear or fixed sights were on the barrel, while on the gun's grip was a turndown peep that was regulated by a side screw to an elevation of 2,000 yards. peep and globe were never used under 700 or 800 yards.

"I was very much interested in the Boer riffemen and their weapons," said Archibald Forbes, who was with Sir Evelyn Wood's column in South Africa in 1879-80. "They are marvelous rife shots. They shoot their antelope and other game from the saddle, not apparently caring to get nearer their quarry than 600 or 700 yards. Then they understand the currents of air, their effect upon the drift of a bullet, and can judge distance as accurately as it could be measured by a skilled engineer. They can hit an officer as far as they can discern his insignia of rank. Sir George W. Colley, the commander in South Africa, was killed at a distance of 1,400 yards at Majuba hill. We lost terribly in officers at the fight mentioned and also at Laings Nek and Rorke's Drift, from the deadly rifle of the sharp shooting Beers."

It is easy enough to see how the Boer be came so expert with the rifle. History of one hundred and more years ago in the southwest and the west of this country is repeating itself on the South African veldts. Every old state of the American union. except Louisiana, was won from its red owners by the pioneer and his deadly rifle. For 240 years the Hollander who went to far-off South Africa and his descendants have fought wild beasts and wild men for the country they wanted. The Boer region of South Africa, producing fine wheat and corn crops, is very fertile. It has a native grass that live stock thrives on, with a climate very much like that of the country from southwestern Kansas to New Mex ico. But to obtain this country the Boer ago the Dutch farmer, with his five-foot-Carter has become thoroughly familiar with of his flocks and herds. Kruger is himself said to have killed 250 lions, not to speak of panthers and hyenas outbreak caused the solitary farmer of Boer to see to it that he had the best arms available for offense and defense.

The Boer weapon that did such execution the other day is the sporting model of the Mannlicher, a German gun, perhaps the most wonderful weapon of its caliber and weight in the world. The military Mannlicher is used in the armies of Austria, Holland, Greece, Brazil, Chili, Peru and Roumania. The ideal Mannlicher is a sporting rifle known as the Haenel model. It is a beautifully finished arm, weighing about eight German marks. The rifle barrel is thirty inches long, the carbine twenty-four. It rifle has an extreme range of 4,500 yards direction of a considerable portion of the and a killing range of 4,000. electrodes used on all other makes of belts. Electricity cannot penetrate the system through the bare metal. That is the reason some of these other belts do not cure. Some of them do not give any current at all—of course these could not even help you.
