

FIRE DESTROYS PEST HOUSE

Unexpected Chapter is Added to the North Omaha Injunction Proceedings.

MILLER PARK ILLUMINATED AT MIDNIGHT

Building Unoccupied and More or Less Mystery Surrounds Origin of the Fire-Injunction Case is On.

Fire has added a new and unexpected chapter to the Miller park pest house case, about which there has been so much agitation...

Many residents of North Omaha supposed the burning of the house would put an end to the injunction proceedings...

Lurid for a Small Fire. The house that burned was the property of Louis Littlefield. He leased it to the city...

At present there are no cases of smallpox or other infectious disease in Omaha...

The city authorities find it a difficult matter to find a satisfactory location for a pest house...

NOVEMBER INDIAN SUMMER

Unusual Warmth is Prevailing for This Time of the Year.

If a Rip Van Winkle should drop into Omaha blindfolded he would be puzzled to determine his geographical location...

Indian summer—just a thing cooler—in November is rather anomalous in a state so far north as Nebraska...

The weather records show that on November 8 of years gone by overcasts have been on many occasions a necessity instead of the burden they now are...

November 8, 1899, will go down into history on the records of the weather bureau as a day when workingmen found their coats uncomfortable, even in outdoor work...

It is a noteworthy fact that for the last two years this country has been reversing itself on weather. Last winter when ice was forming at New Orleans...

Some Reading that Will Prove Interesting to Young Mothers—How to Guard Against the Disease.

Croup is a terror to young mothers and to post them concerning the cause, first symptoms and treatment is the object of this item.

The origin of croup is a common cold. Children who are subject to it take cold very easily and croup is almost sure to follow.

The first symptom is hoarseness; this is soon followed by a peculiar rough cough, which is easily recognized and will never be forgotten by one who has heard it.
