tachments: Six to ten Americans were wounded in this column. Colonel Carpenter started during the night of November 20, artillery at daybreak, November 21, on the trenches. The enemy volleyed as the artillery took up a position, wounding four. Two companies of the Twenty-sixth regiment garrisoning Jaro, moved through Capaz, attacking the enemy on the right flank just north of Jaro at daybreak, November 21, driving them toward Colonel from the commander of the United States Carpenter. The country between Jaro and Santa Barbara is thickly entrenched, especially near Pavia. The Sixth artillery fired on the trenches and the Eighteenth regiment charged, the enemy retreating to the next trench. The Eighteenth again charged, encountering and attacking a force of bolomen who were hidden in the long grass and who severely wounded several Americans.

During the afternoon of November 21 the fighting was severe immediately south of Pavia, three miles north of Jaro.

Capture Three Cannon. The column returned to Jaro after the flank movement, having captured three sixpound smoothbore cannon and a quantity of arms and ammunition.

The enemy's loss was not obtainable, but seven men were found dead in one trench. The insurgents are falling back on Santa Barbara, which it is expected General Hughes has attacked before this. lub corporal, captured by

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23 .- It is said at the Navy department that the disinclination of the department to order Rear Admiral Schley to South Africa has no connection whatever with the personality of that officer. Whoever commanded the South African squadron at this juncture, it is said, would receive similar instructions, for it is regarded as a matter of national policy to refrain from sending war ships to either the Cape or to Delagoa bay or Durban. It is felt to be unwise for the United States to initiate the sending of war ships to South Africa now. LONDON, Nov. 24 .- 5 a. m .- Before anxiety as to the situation in Natal had been relieved there comes news of a great battle at Belmont. This has happened sooner than was expected. Only the official account is yet to hand, but so far as sennie and Alice Jenkins are named as can be gathered the fighting appears to have been almost a repetition of the battle of Elandslaagte. A dispatch of the previous day estimated that the Boers in that vicinity numbered 2,000 and that they had five guns and judging from the absence of any statement to the contrary in the official report it is believed the British were slightly superior in numbers. The Boers had chosen a position with their customary skill and were strongly entrenched. The British were obliged to the last ridge by a bayonet charge after its shells. Nothing is said as to whether the eral Methuen can be congratulated on a

The diary of events at Mafeking, up to November 15, has arrived. It gives little that is new. At that date Colonel Baden-Powell had no idea of being relieved for a fortnight or perhaps for a month. Both Mafeking and

Kimberley, however, seem to be quiet. Boers Get in Close. (Copyright, 1899, by Press Publishing Co.) PIETERMARITZBURG, Nov. 23 .- 11:30 a. n .- (New York World Cablegram-Special relegram.)-Your correspondent, acting in the place of Churchill, returned at midnight to Maritzburg fearing that the line would be cut south of Mooi river. The guard train leaving here at 4 o'clock this morning reports that the enemy have taken a further commanding position during the night on a ridge two miles west of the village. They commenced firing again into the British camp and several shells fell into the railway station without damage. A large number of Boers are reported in the vicinity of Nottingham road, looting all the farms in the neighborhood. There is a rumor from Dutch sources here today that the British forces inflicted another disastrous defeat on the Boers around Ladysmith recently. Nearly all of the Boers' large guns are reported captured, completely demoralizing their forces. rumor is quite unconfirmed. The Dutch in the district are much depressed, so there may be some truth in the report. Apparently there is no fighting yet at Estcourt, although the flying column went out Tuesday toward Willow grange without meeting the enemy.
