Fruit and Produce.

Some Trading at St. Louis. ST. LOUIS, Nov. 25.—The Merchants' ex-change was closed today in observance of the funeral of Vice President Hobart, but there was an assemblage of grain traders in the curb room, with some trading going on. The feeling was firm in both wheat and corn. May wheat sold at from 72c to 71%c and December at 67%c, but more buy-ers at the lowest rates than sellers. Futs on May sold at 71%c and calls at 72%d72%c. A few trades in corn were made at 30%c for December and 31%c for May. Receipts for the day were 41,300 bu, of wheat, 65,955 bu, of corn and 20.800 bu, of Fruit and Produce. The near approach of Thanksgiving day has not helped the fruit and produce men to any great extent as yet. Trade with them seems to be unusually quiet for this time of year, but they are looking for some improvement this week. There was more demand for potatoes last week than for some time past. Prices are gradually firming up, as the market is not very heavily supplied. Good stock at the present time is worth 30%35c. Sweet potatoes are still on sale at prices ranging from $25% 4.00 per barrel, the price depending upon the kind of potatoes and the size of the barrels. Cranberries are in good demand and are quoted at $5.5%6.00 for Cape Cods and $5.50%7.00 for fancy Howes. Celery is selling all the way from 20c to 40c. There is practically no change in the quotations on good shipping apples. Grapes, both New York and California, are also quoted the same and are said to be in good condi-

New York and California, are also quoted the same and are said to be in good condi-tion. Mexican oranges are worth $4.00@ 4.25, and California navels $4.50. Eggs were in rather light receipt last week and the demand good, the bulk of receipts going at 15½c. The supply of butter was a little more liberal and prices fell off a little, as will be seen from quo-tations below. The poultry market was in good shape, the supply and demand run-ning about even. Very little dressed poultry was received, but dealers say that it can be handled this week without diffi-culty even should the weather stay warm.

poultry was received, but dealers say that it can be handled this week without diff-culty even should the weather stay warm. A big demand for all kinds of poultry is looked for from now until Thanksgiving and good prices are being predicted. There is no change in the quotations on game. The demand for oysters continues un-usually heavy even for this time or year. Dealers say there is a peculiarity about the oysters this year which is seldom no-ticed. In the government report on oysters the statement is made that the male has a reddish tinge, but local dealers are of the color, as it is too general to be limited to the males only. Dealers say that about eight years ago the same thing was ex-perienced and most people thought the oys-ters were spoiled, when in the least. It is thought that the color is caused by some kind of vegetable which the oysters feed upon, and the fact that only those coming from certain localities are red bears out that theory.
