This covers the figures of the contract made by the state authorities with the Rock Island road for transporting the Fiftyfirst Iowa regiment from San Francisco to Union Pacific with the Rock Island, the Money has been advanced to meet all the bills incurred in bringing the soldiers home, including besides the transportation, $7,400 for other expenses. The meals cost $3,941.60. The Pullman charges were $2,550 and there were other small bills, including telegraph, etc., all of which have been met by the state through its governor. It is understood that the largest part of the expenses have been paid by the governor himself, and the remainder has been covered by temporary loans from different banks in the state. The entire sum, it is expected, will be refunded by the legislature.

Charles A. Speigel, who for some time operated a fur store in this city, was sentenced this morning to eight years in the Fort Madison penitentiary. Speigel was convicted of having set fire to his store rooms for the purpose of recovering the insurance. The Iowa State Traveling Men's association met here in nineteenth annual session today. The reports of officers show that there are now 11,107 members in good standing, that $81,105 was paid in benefits last year and that there is now $30,239 in the treasury. The association voted to increase ing of Colon in 1885.

According to Mr. Etter's statement this city is the only one in the land where a Sunday felivery system has been in force. When this delivery was discontinued on account of the general closing of business places during the summer there was little or no complaint, but now that some stores are open for a short time Sundays, the morning de livery is missed. Perhaps there would not be so much complaint if better service was given at the postoffice on Sunday forenoons, but as it is business men are compelled to wait while school girls and others blockade the window. If a change in the matter of distributing mail at the postoffice is made the business men will doubtless become conciled to the loss of the usual Sunday morning delivery

There was nothing puritanic nor plutoratic about the third annual ball given by Omaha hack drivers at Creighton hall Saturday night, It was a wide open function-'a warm rag," somebody remarked-and the vernacular was understood. Never did the Bretons with their passe pied, the Italians with their passamezzo, nor the Spanish with their passacaglia, away back in the early centuries, outshine the giddy maze in which Omaha Jehus whirled.

All of the men were "gents" and all of the women were "ladies." The code of othics was somewhat liberal and everybody had a good time. Fulldress suits were not a requirement for admission, but several of the "gents" wore shining tiles. It was a night off and every substitute back driver in the city was at work while the regulars
