taining a wonderful amount of useful information.

The number of books circulated during the year has been $3.310 and of this number only four books have been lost. The number of magazines taken from the library was 5.717 and this large circulation of magazines has considerably reduced the number of books called for. The reading room is well supplied with newspapers and magazines, seven daily papers being included.

The only expenses incurred during the year beyond the ordinary charge on the library fund have been for new bookcases for the room set apart for government books and for an Aldruh cabinet for the preservation of letters and other papers of striking interest and importance.
