QUARANTINE AT DES MOINES

Smallpox from Youngstown, the Mining Town.

DES MOINES, Jan. 11 - (Special Telegram.1-Des Moines has awakened to its danger from smallpox. A meeting of the council was called this afternoon and a quarantine established against the inhabitants of Youngstown and also at East Thirtieth street. Officers will be stationed in this territory for the purpose of enforcing the rules. The council meeting was called at the request of the mayor after he had been approached by scores of excited residents of East Des Molnes. These residents said that persons are still coming and going from Youngstown at their pleasure, and were exercising no care whatever to prevent contact with the disease. They declared that there are hundreds of miners residing in Des Moines who work in the midst of the affected district and go and return from their work morning and evening, thus subjecting the entire city to exposure. These persons even went so far as to demand that officers be stationed at the end of the fair ground car line and arrest anyone from Youngstown attempting to board a car who cannot furnish a certificate from health authorities.

The agitation became so strong that it was decided to order the Grant Park schools closed this morning and all pupils who appeared were sent back to their homes and told not to return until further notice. This afternoon the Des Moines Board of Health served notice on Manager Hippee of the street car line that the fair grounds cars of the Des Moines Street Railway company must discontinue running until the proper quarantine regulations have been established by the authorities at Youngstown. This order of the board will remain in effect until the quarantine at the coal mining town is thoroughly in working order.

Two more suspected cases developed into genuine smallpox at Youngstown today. The board of directors of the State Agricultural society held a meeting today and selected George H. Van Houten to succeed himself as secretary.
