Liquidation Throughout the Session Brings Gloom to Bull Hopes.

BEARISH STATISTICS WEAKEN WHEAT Trading Bull and Tone Heavy—Corn Keeps Up Well in spite of Wheat.

CLOSING STRONGER THAN THE OTHER GRAIN.

CHICAGO, Jan. 15.—A formidable array of bearish statistics, however, did not prevent the demand from showing a further advance in the downward course today. May closing 1 1/2c under Saturday. Corn closed 1/4c up and oats 1/2c lower. Provisions closed 1/4c up.

Liquidation ruled in the wheat pit throughout a session which brought nothing but gloom for such hopes as may have survived the recent reverses. There was a little demand against puts, but its steady influence very close to the bottom was only momentary.

CHOOSE TERMINAL BRIDGE

Illinois Central Will Not Cross River on Union Pacific Bridge.

TERMINAL BRIDGE FACILITIES ARE FREE

Change in Freight Contract Gives Illinois Central Free Use of Terminal Bridge for Passenger Trains.

Developments arose yesterday which indicate unquestionably the intention of the Illinois Central to use the bridge of the Omaha Bridge and Terminal company for the transfer of its passenger trains across the Missouri river into Omaha.

The terminal company is making extensive preparations for the advent of the first passenger service over its new line. An admission is made by officials that the improvements, which are being rapidly pushed forward, are to prepare the line for the inauguration of through passenger service.

While it now seems certain that the Illinois Central is going to use the Terminal company's bridge and tracks the matter of which depot will be used is yet an open question and some speculation is being indulged in.

In case the Union station is selected the Illinois Central passenger trains will be transferred from the Terminal to Union Pacific tracks on the bottom near the old pumping station and then will be taken to Seventeenth street, where connection is made with the depot tracks.

Charles Young, general passenger agent of the Burlington, returned from Chicago, where he spent a few days in consultation with George Bonnell, city passenger agent of the Burlington in that city, relative to a trip to the east Mr. Bonnell made under the direction of the general passenger department.

Mr. Bonnell is conceded to handle more immigrant business than any other agent of the Burlington. He has had long experience in this line and has acquired a reputation for his ability to handle the business.
