STRONG PLEA FOR PARK IMPROV MENT

Members of the Council Make Preliminary Draft for Levy Which Will Be Submitted in Regular Form.

The informal meeting of the city council of the street department should be put on a Friday night witnessed a free-for-all discus- civil service basis and that they should be sion of the tax levy for the new year. Speeches were made by representatives of departments of municipal government and several members of a committee representing the North Omaha Improvement c ub. which organization is clamoring for improve- dall. City Comptroller Westberg also had ment of north end parks.

It was presumed that this meeting would he largely attended by heavy taxpayers for the purpose of beseeching the council not to make a large levy, but the representation of this class was light, R. C. Patterson even being silent. No protests were entered.

At the close of the speech-making the members of the council adjourned to a committee room and figured on the levy. The several funds were considered one by one and the following preliminary draft resulted. the figures being mills and fractions thereof: General, 5; curb, guttering and paving. ; street cleaning and sweeping, .65; sewer maintaining, .20; health, .25; judgment, .10; rark, .75; library, .50; sinking, 5.60; water, lighting, 1.96; police, 2.50; fire, 3.50; making a total of 24.64 mills, which, with 4 mills added for schools, aggregates 28.64 2.50; lighting, 1,65; water rent, 2.60; sinkmills.

levy of last year, and the proceeds will be 25 mills, still further increased by the fact that the valuation this year is greater than it was a year ago. The figures' suggested at Friday night's meeting are only preliminary, and it is likely that the pruning knife will be applied in several places. Several of the plies and all skin diseases members of the council expressed themselves as believing the aggregate is too high. It is expected that a cut of 1 mill will be made in the general fund, and an effort will be made to find other opportunities for reducing the levy. City Attorney Connell declared Dics Soon After. City Attorney Connell declared the levy. the 28.64 levy exactly right, but several aldermen seemed to think there ought to be a reduction, although they confessed themacives as being puzzled to know just where to make the cut. Andrew Rosewater, city engineer and exofficio chairman of the Board of Public Works, made an extended speech in which be urged liberal appropriations for public work, especially street cleaning. Mr. Rosewater declared himself a strong advocate of cleanlinese. He suggested that the employes given police power in order to take charge. of persons who violate sanitary ordinances.

> Among those who pleaded for improvement of North Omaha parks were Mesers. Craig, Kierstead, Smith, Gratian and Kensomething to say on behalf of the North Omaha proposition and declared himself in favor of making parks for the poor as well as the rich. He said the parks are the only recreation spots for working people.

While the general discussion was in progress Councilman Stuht found opportunity to say some uncomplimentary things about the public policy of Mayor Moores. It was a somewhat tempestuous outburst, but it lasted only a moment and scarcely made a ripple on the otherwise harmonious meet-
