A signed statement, refuting the rumors that London is armed to fight against the legislature, was written tonight by Judge Brown and will be delivered by him as a speech before the Laurel county circuit court at the opening of its regular term tomorrow. The address in part:

The people of northern and eastern cities have vied with each other in their efforts to slander our town and county, while some our own Kentucky papers have so far orgotten the truth as to be a party to the slanderous attacks. Among the infamous barges, it has been said that London is the very mouth of hell; that it is the center of the so-called feud district, and that the citizens of this county are a band f outlaws, ready and anxious to pound down on the legislature and tear it to pieces, or upon those whose political affiliaons differ from the predominant party o the county. I desire, in behalf of the people of my native county, in behalf of the people hom I love and among whom I was born and reared, to denounce all such charges as absolutely false. As to feuds, Laurel county has never in her history known such a thing. As to the charges that our citizens are outlaws, a baser falsehood could not possibly be fabricated. Ours is one of the untainous counties, but the mountains are the glory of the earth, the home of liberty, and the best nursery of good citizen-Our people have their convictions. They believe thoroughly what they believe but they are too honorable, too honest, to resort to dishonorable means to force their convictions upon others. In education, industry and moral worth the people of London will compare most favorably with any city or town in Kentucky. The wall between chaper Bros, and the Famous fell, but the flames were quenched before doing much destruction in the latter establishment. was not long before the upper floors and walls of the building opposite Penny &

Gentle on Broadway began to fall. Casualties to firemen were numerous When the walls of Deer Bros,' 5 and 10cent store collapsed several members of engine company No. 11 were in the building. Four firemen were covered by the debris and it was several hours before they could be taken out.

Brave Efforts at Rescue. Charles Mappes, a pipeman, had been crushed to death and several others injured. John Judge, foreman of No. 11, was wedged n with debrie. Across his feet lay the body of Mappes, but with a cool head he directed the efforts of his comrades in their work of rescue. When he was finally removed

he was taken to the hospital on an ambulance, where several others of the injured had been removed. From Broadway the flames ate their way through to a number of three and fourfirms in various lines of business. These were soon on fire from top to bottom and were gutted. Heroic efforts were made to keep the fiames from the building on the corner of Fourth and Franklin avenue, occupled by the German-American bank, and they were successful. This and two buildings adjoining on the south were saved. Across on Fourth street and extending through to Third street were a row of old buildings occupied by the Schisler-Cornelia Seed company, the Plant Seed company, pany. Bassett Plumbing company, Musller Block Commission company, Nelson Dis-Benton & Co.'s Commission house, Baur Flour company Mrs. Lawton was unable to speak. She and William Bock's saloon.
