Missouri Mine Owner Alleges Inequitable Rates on Coal Shipments.

MISSOURI PACIFIC IS THE DEFENDANT

Interstate Commerce Commission Will Meet in Omaha February 28 to Investigate Charges Preferred—Witnesses Subpoenaed.

Investigation of charges of rate discrimination preferred against the Missouri Pacific railroad will occupy the attention of the Interstate Commerce commission at a meeting to be held in Omaha February 28.

James McGrew of Lexington, Mo., is the complainant. Rates on coal from Missouri mines to Omaha are involved in the controversy.

Witnesses who have been notified to appear before the commission are W. B. Douglas, purchasing agent for the Cudahy Packing company, and the C. B. Havens Coal company.

It is inferred that the testimony of Mr. Douglas will relate to the price paid for coal coming from certain mines in Missouri, from which some idea can be gained of the rates charged for the transportation of such coal.

Assistant General Freight Agent Phillip of the Missouri Pacific states that he has not been subpoenaed as a witness.

OFFICIALS HOME FROM THE WEST.

President Burt and General Manager Dickinson returned from Salt Lake.

President Burt and General Manager Dickinson of the Union Pacific returned Friday night from Salt Lake and Ogden, where they had conferences with officials of the Oregon Short Line, Oregon Railway and Navigation company, Southern Pacific and Chicago & Northwestern.

At Ogden it is reported that the meeting resolved itself primarily into a discussion of proposed time chart changes, which become effective on the Southern Pacific the latter part of this month.

At Salt Lake the meeting was held in the presence of the officials of the Southern Pacific that his line was not altogether pleased with the changes in the Southern Pacific proposals to inaugurate in order to perfect the through service from Chicago to the coast for the benefit of lines which will enter into active competition on transcontinental business.

LAW TO DECIDE IN KENTUCKY

While Refusing to Sign Louisville Agreement Taylor Orders Troops Home.

SOLONS TO RECONVENE AT FRANKFORT

Governor Has Determined to Allow the Courts to Settle the Entire Difficulty—Proclamation is Issued.

FRANKFORT, Ky., Feb. 10.—I have only this to say: After mature deliberation and conference with my friends from every section of the state, I have concluded to allow the controversy to take its due course.

"It is due to say that the eminent gentlemen, my friends, who secured the propositions resulting from the Louisville conference, acted in perfect good faith, from the highest motives of patriotism, and did the very best they could for the people of this state."

"WILLIAM S. TAYLOR, Governor of Kentucky."

The foregoing proclamation was issued by Governor Taylor tonight and according to his oral statement at the time of its issuance embodies all he desires to say concerning his position at the present time.

The decision not to sign the Louisville agreement was reached by Governor Taylor a few minutes after 1 o'clock this afternoon. For over two hours he had been in conference with fully representative members from all parts of the state, including county commissioners and four republican members of the legislature.

The meeting was held in perfect privacy at the residence of Governor Taylor in Frankfort. The members of the conference with the exception of Governor Taylor gathered in the legislative hall usually occupied by the state house of representatives.

But Two Courses to Pursue. Governor Taylor stated to the conference that there were two courses to be pursued. First, to sign the Louisville agreement; the second, to quietly withdraw the troops, allow the legislature to reconvene in the capitol building in Frankfort, to call off the session now being held at London and to ignore the Louisville agreement entirely.

From the capitol he passed to the executive building, where he at once made up and signed the following proclamation, reconvening the legislature at Frankfort.

FRANKFORT, Ky., Feb. 10.—The excitement recently prevailing in this city having to some extent subsided and there appearing no probability of any further disturbance, I do hereby by this proclamation reconvene same in Frankfort on Feb. 12, 1900, at 12 o'clock noon.

Orders were at once issued to General Collier to prepare for the departure of the troops, and in a very short time a large number of them were ready to leave.

Word was at once sent to the members of the republican legislature now in session at London, that they were to reconvene in Frankfort, and a prompt reply was received to the effect that they would all leave in a body on Sunday and be in Frankfort Monday morning in ample time for business.

When informed of the action of the democratic legislature at Louisville in refusing to come to Frankfort, Governor Taylor said: "It strikes me that their attitude is somewhat inconsistent. They claim they cannot be protected at Frankfort and there is nothing here to make them feel otherwise."

Democrats Are Inconsistent. When informed of the action of the democratic legislature at Louisville in refusing to come to Frankfort, Governor Taylor said: "It strikes me that their attitude is somewhat inconsistent. They claim they cannot be protected at Frankfort and there is nothing here to make them feel otherwise."

St. Louisville While. LOUISVILLE, Ky., Feb. 10.—The collapse of the peace negotiations through Governor Taylor's rejection of the Louisville agreement and the latter's action in calling off the London legislature and partially withdrawing the troops have left the flight over the state officers' but in a worse legal tangle than ever.

Receipt of news from Frankfort this afternoon was followed immediately by a gathering of the democratic leaders at the Millard hotel. At this conference were Senator Blackburn, Governor Heckman, General Castlem, President Carter, Speaker Trimble and others.

It is probable a joint resolution, which was offered today, will then be adopted, calling for the appointment of a committee to investigate the conditions at Frankfort, as far as they affect the safety of the legislature. The members do not accept Governor Taylor's action in ordering away part of the troops as restoring order under which they may return to the capitol.
