The Mystery of Dust at Sea.

It is a puzzling fact that the decks of sailing vessels show dust at night, even if they be washed in the morning and no work is done during the day. This is like indigestion, which creeps on one unawares. However it comes, the only way to cure it is by the use of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, a remedy which never fails to cure dyspepsia in all its forms, as well as prevents malaria, fever and ague.

SOUTH OMAHA NEWS.

Tonight the Young Men's Republican club will hold a rally at Modern Woodman hall in the city hall building. Notices have been sent out to all members and republicans generally are invited. It is the intention of the club to have a number of good speakers attend and deliver brief addresses. In addition to speeches on general topics the Crawford system will be discussed, as well as the VanDusen primary law. A great deal of interest centers around the Young Men's Republican club at this time, as it is asserted that the club holds the balance of power in the coming municipal election. Very possibly the question of endorsing certain candidates for city offices will be brought up, and if so a lively time is expected. As far as known the members of the club are numbered, the main object being to select good men for office and especially those who have a standing with the voters. Several candidates are known to be seeking the endorsement of the club, but it is understood that no endorsement will be given until after a thorough canvass of the ground. If the club endorses a candidate the members expect to turn out and do everything possible to elect him.

The discussion and explanation of the new election laws will doubtless be of interest to a great many, and for this reason alone it is expected that every member will be present. As far as known the republicans are working together amicably and without discord, while the democrats are all torn to pieces. The factions in the democratic party are all pulling in different directions, and this fact strengthens the belief that the republicans can win at the coming election.

Judge King Acknowledged. Judge King will hereafter be recognized as police judge of South Omaha. This decision was reached yesterday afternoon by Mayor Emsw, when he instructed the police to follow the Judge King of the district court ordered the records of the office turned over to Judge King, and when this is done he will be the police judge of the city. Judge Babcock and his attorneys are inclined to hold that the mayor was not bound by the decision of the district court, but for all local purposes a decision has been reached as Judge King will occupy the bench recognized by the police from this time on.

Some of the members of the council are inclined to think that Babcock is entitled to full pay for his services, even if they are not expected that Judge King's bills will meet with some disfavor when they come before the auditing committee. Today will tell the story. It is understood that the municipal authorities will abide by the decision of the court in every respect, and if this is done there will be no difference of opinion. Judge Babcock has merely been legislated out of office before his term expires. He will endeavor to collect his salary, and it will remain with the council whether two police judges will be paid or not.

Electricians and Charity Ball. The electricians of the city are preparing a great display for the charity ball, to be held at the Exchange hotel February 26. While it is not expected that the decorations of a year ago will be surpassed, it is the intention to equal them. Every electrician in the city is interested in the movement, and will devote time and money toward making the affair a success. Tickets entitling a gentleman and two women admission are now on sale for $2, and the sale is entirely satisfactory to those concerned. That there will be a large attendance is assured beyond a doubt, as tickets are being taken in blocks and steadily. The women of the hospital association are working hard to make the affair a success, and the proceeds will doubtless reach a large sum.

Stock Receipts Entirely Good. Live stock receipts at the stock yards continue to increase and from this time on it is expected that there will be busy times at the exchange. So far this season the receipts are 19,846 head in excess of a year ago, while hogs and sheep are a little behind. With the continuance of cold weather it is expected that hogs will be rushed to market, and thus the deficit of 8,000 head will soon be made up. Sheep show a shortage of only 6,000 head, and will more than be made up within the next few days. All feeders are late this year, but corned cattle will commence to come now and sheep will also be shipped in quantities. The packers report a great demand for mutton, and good prices are now being paid for lamb and mutton stock.

Presbyterian Art Exhibit. On Saturday afternoon and evening of this week the King's Daughters of the Presbyterian church will give an art exhibit at the parlors of the Young Men's Christian association. The pictures to be exhibited are the property of Hope, who will have them for the benefit of the cause. Every lover of art is requested to visit this exhibition. A small admission fee will be charged for the purpose of defraying expenses.

Music City Gossip. Frank Alexander of Boulder, Colo., is the guest of his sister, Mrs. Harvey D. Mosely, residing here. Jack Watkins is being talked of for a member of the Board of Education by the republicans. The Leona club will give a "hard times" party at Masonic hall on Monday evening, February 13.

The directors of the Union Stock yards met yesterday, but only routine business was transacted. Rev. J. M. Ross will deliver a lecture tonight at the United Presbyterian church on "Historic Boston." The democratic party appears to be sadly discouraged, and a republican victory this spring is predicted. It is reported that a policy wheel is running under the court saloon at Twenty-sixth and N streets.

All the small patients are doing well. It is reported that A. A. Carpenter, the present city clerk, will not again be a candidate. Court Alleman, No. 265, Independent Order of Odd Fellows, on the evening of February 22. Charity ball tickets are being sold quite rapidly. The object is a worthy one and citizens generally are taking an interest in the affair. Mrs. Hayward entertained a number of friends at cards yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. J. H. Hill, 210 Douglas street. A sneak thief stole an overcoat belonging to Dr. R. E. Schindler from the office of the doctor on Twenty-sixth street yesterday. Patrick McDonough reports that a saloon on Twenty-sixth street was entered Thursday and about $100 worth of cigars and liquors stolen. The Rogers sale of fancy stock at the yards today will be largely attended, and it is expected that many of the best animals will be secured. A number of buyers from the country arrived last night. A tip went out last night that another raid on the gambling houses was about to be made. Those not on the inside went under cover in order to stand firm under when the shock comes. Employees of the Omaha Water company are engaged in examining the fire hydrants in the city. The first hydrant examined yesterday was found to be frozen, and it is expected that all the hydrants will be inspected, and if any are frozen attention will be paid to them.

Communications today the Nebraska Telephone company will make a test of all lines in the city at 9 o'clock each morning. At the present time 275 lines are in use in the city, and each line is to be tested according to the orders posted by Manager Holland yesterday.

Building Trades Council. At the regular meeting of the Building Trades council, held Thursday night at the Labor temple, the usual amount of routine business was transacted as well as some matters of importance. The delegates from the Omaha branch of the Journeymen Stonecutters' association were admitted to the council. Their names are: William Whitaker, Albert Ohlms and John Empeke. A resolution was adopted "pushing the label of the Woodworkers' union. Hereafter union carpenters will refuse to handle any work not bearing this label. The matter of endorsement of parties for city appointments was laid on the table, as the council does not care to engage in the endorsement business while a municipal campaign is pending. Several unions presented a number of hours and wages, which were endorsed.

HOME PATRONAGE OPENING

First of a Series of Exhibitions that Will Extend Over a Period of Ten Days. Four hundred retail merchants of Omaha attended the opening of the Home Patronage exposition in the Commercial club rooms Thursday night. But for the cold weather the attendance would probably have been even larger. Altogether the projectors of the enterprise feel that the exposition has opened auspiciously and that the results anticipated have not been overestimated.

Many of those present expressed surprise at the great variety of goods displayed—every article from them manufactured in Omaha. Good products and low prices were most conspicuous among the exhibits of the former there were at least forty different kinds. Among the pleasant features of the occasion was a feast of wholesome viands, only such articles appearing on the bill of fare as are made in Omaha. Music was furnished by a music box, two pianos and a mandolin and guitar club.

At request of several retail grocers, the executive committee has set aside next Thursday evening for the special entertainment of the club of trades. All retail grocers, with their clerks and families, are invited to attend on this occasion. Next Friday night will be devoted especially to the professional men and their families.

ROASTS THE FIRE DEPARTMENT

Fusion Minority Candidate Makes Speech in Which He Declares Equipment Out of Date. W. S. Poppleton, the fusion candidate for mayor, was the principal speaker at a meeting of the Silver Republican club, 1115 Howard street, Thursday night. There was a fairly good attendance.

After general remarks in opposition to the republican policy, Mr. Poppleton launched into details of city government, dissecting it piece by piece. He paid particular attention to the fire department, declaring it inadequate for the protection of a city like Omaha.

"Our fire department is obsolete," declared the speaker, "and until it is materially improved we cannot hope for reduction of insurance rates. Let our kind of people get into office and we will go out with a club, if necessary, and collect enough back taxes to buy hose and other equipment that should be a part of every properly conducted fire department."

Continuing, Mr. Poppleton asserted that the present fire apparatus is a disgrace to the city, that a change of administration would be the proper remedy, and that there is imperative demand for improvement of conditions. He touched upon the tax levy and declared that taxes in Omaha are excessive. He said by proper municipal management there would be no occasion for such a levy as now exists. He declared that good times prevailed when the democrats had charge of Omaha, and he did not forget to speak in complimentary terms of the personnel of the fusion ticket, modestly excepting himself.

At the conclusion of Mr. Poppleton's speech the audience gave him three cheers. Informal talks were made by W. J. Fleming and others.

Visiting Nurses Meet. The women of the Visiting Nurses' association held their regular monthly conference Thursday afternoon at their rooms in the Arlington block, 151 Dodge street. All the officers of the association were present, and a special effort was made to advance the cause of active charity in the city during the next two months of winter. There is, at present, an unprecedented amount of suffering and distress among the poorer classes of Omaha's population, and this state of affairs has called forth the earnest sympathy and untiring efforts of the association, who have heretofore done so much to alleviate the sufferings of sick and unfortunate patients.

The women report a large number of patients on their lists of daily visitations and are engaged in preparing a list of the way of food, fuel, clothing and medicine, and they extend an invitation to the generous and suffering-minded members of the above named articles at their supply room in the Arlington block, where they will be glad to carry on their work. A list of the names of the members of the association is being arranged and an afternoon meeting is guaranteed to all who will attend. All interested in the work are invited.

Why He Struck Mike Bronner. Mike Bronner, who has been arrested with committing an assault upon Mike Bronner, and his case will come up for hearing in police court this afternoon. The assault was entirely unprovoked. He was looking for a man named Jack Stebbins, and was referring to the man at North Twelfth street. Going to the place designated, he knocked on the door and the man who responded said "very disagreeable."

"Good morning, Mr. Stebbins," then, he says, the man struck him. Mike Hoffman, the defendant, explains that he understood Bronner was applying to him an opprobrious epithet.
