torium at 10 o'clock this morning. The first number on the program was a paper by F W. Graham of LeSeuer, Minn., on the subject "How Can the Quality of Milk Deivered for the Manufacture of Butter Be Improved?" Mr. Graham, however, was absent, and his paper was omitted. P. H. Kiefer of Strawberry Point, Ia., was also supreme court. While the position does not absent and his paper on "The True Relation carry with it a very large salary the appliof the Buttermaker to the Patron" was read by Mr. Anderson of Minnesota. The sense of the paper was as follows:

"The patron must be recognized as one of the parties interested in the buttermaking business. The buttermaker should assist and instruct the patron and should never miss an opportunity to talk over the falo county has been suspended by Govdairy business with him. The patron should be taught to brush all dirt from the cow before milking, how best to feed the cows stealing and sentenced to a term of thirty and get the most milk at the least expense, to keep his milk cans clean and always free from bacteria by scalding with hot water. The buttermaker should make the patron feel that interest is being taken in him and his work; he should be shown all the attention and courtesy possible."

Much comment was aroused by these statements and a long discussion resulted. Prof. Bates of Minnesota and Secretary Wilson added greatly by their remarks to the information on the question.
