Furniture.

If you read the papers you are no doubt aware that things are costing more now than they have for some years past. The cause of this does not matter so much as the fact that we have to pay more for every article, even the cheaper grades. We have been advised to advance all prices, while the factories advance, and while it may appear poor business not to do so, we have not yet done so.

We have large supplies on hand bought several months ago, and can therefore make you prices that we know are right. The styles are right, workmanship right and if you are ever dissatisfied with anything you get here, come in and we will gladly meet your views in all and every case.
We place on sale this week several upholstered rockers, in red, green and blue, at $1.50 each; regular $2.50 rockers.
We still have a few odd chairs, and will leave them for a day or two longer. For such chairs our price is very low. We have just received the largest car possible to get of brand new, stylish oak chairs, and have from 6 to 10 doz. of each kind. Case seat chairs at 75c, 85c, 95c and $1.25 each. Box frame case seat chairs, golden oak quarter-sawn stock, $1.85; leather seat, $2.50. First-class sideboard for $11.50. A good dresser, $7.85. Washstand, $2.75. Extra fine white enamel metal bed, $3.75. Oak extension tables, $2.95. Parlor tables, ephed top, 21x24, new style, mahogany, bird's-eye maple veneer and solid oak, $2.55. Smaller, same woods and finish, 16x16 top, 59c. Oak panel screen frame, $1.00. Oak easel, 50c. Golden oak 3-panel screen, filled with fancy silk, $1.75. Photo frames, 25c each. Florentine moulding, dark finish. When you are in the market for anything in the furniture line give us a chance to show you.

LUMBER DEALERS' MEETING

Address by Met L. Saley the Feature of the Morning Session.

MEMBERS OPPOSE IDEA OF AMALGAMATION

Think that the State Association Offers Better Means of Successful Co-Operation—Meet in Executive Session.

There was a notably large increase of attendance at the second day's session of the Retail Lumber Dealers' association yesterday. The first business to come up was the report of the auditing committee, which was adopted, showing that the reports of the secretary and treasurer were correct.

A. H. Barnett of McCook moved that all retail lumbermen present not now members of the association be invited to enroll their names. He stated that since the opening of this convention twenty-one persons had joined. A committee was appointed to solicit new members.

The feature of the morning session was an address by Met L. Saley of the American Lumberman, entitled "Hold the Fort." The speaker said that he had attended meetings of various associations since their inception and had noticed a gradual change in the proceedings. When the retail associations first started and attempted to control the sale of lumber to consumers the wholesale houses declared that their constitutional rights had been invaded and that they would carry the matter to the courts to determine whether the retailers could in any way restrain them from selling to contractors and consumers, but after consulting with the best legal talent they had consulted upon their stationery, "We sell to retailers only." The wholesalers are now living up to the association rules for the same reason that the inmates of the Stillwater penitentiary are now among the most law-abiding people of Minnesota—because they are compelled to. The wholesalers burglarized the business of the retailers and sought to drive them from business. The retail dealers of the various states fell into line to fight for their business life and are going to watch the wholesalers. They have decided upon means and are now engaged in "holding the fort."

"There must be no laxity," said the speaker. "Do not trust the man who smote you under the fifth rib and is ready to do it again. Some wholesalers are all right, but some are ready to demoralize trade whenever possible."
The committee appointed to confer with the secretary of the Northwestern association relative to co-operation reported that the best plan would be for the association to authorize the board of directors to act as an advisory committee to confer with similar committees from other associations and to report to the next convention, and that if it should transpire that action should be taken before the meeting of the convention the board shall notify all members and be governed in its action by the tenor of the answers received from a majority of the members.

CONSUMPTION CURED.

An old physician, retired from practice, had placed in his hands by an East Indian missionary the formula of a simple vegetable remedy for the speedy and permanent cure of consumption, bronchitis, catarrh, asthma and all throat and lung ailments; also a positive and radical cure for nervous debility and all nervous complaints. Having tested this wonderful curative powers in thousands of cases, and desiring to relieve human suffering, I will send free of charge to all who wish it, this recipe, in German, French or English, with full directions for preparing and using. Sent by mail, by addressing, with stamp, naming this paper, W. A. Noyes, 829 Powers Block, Rochester, N. Y.

Wide Range of Debate.
This report brought on an extended debate which took a wide range. William Fried of Fremont thought the report should be adopted, as it would give the members time to consider the matter, and he was not ready to join if it meant that the Nebraska association must disband, but if upon investigation, he found that it would be for the best interests of the members he would favor it. He thought that the report which gave 800 lumber yards in the state of Nebraska was erroneous, as from all he could gather from the association, there were only about 600, and that as a matter of fact, taking into consideration the population and wealth of the state, Nebraska lumbermen were organized as well as those of any other association territory.
Secretary Holtis defended his plan and A. H. Weir of Lincoln thought that the association should outline some method for the direction of the board in its conference.

The idea of the state organization was defended by J. H. Johnson, W. D. Ayres, G. D. Crane, George W. Baldwin, J. C. Cleland, C. F. Iddings, Thomas Murty and M. L. Freis. Mr. Freis thought that the time had come for the Nebraska association to put an organizer into the field to build up the association and that the secretary's entire time should be devoted to settling matters of disagreement between wholesalers and retailers and to visiting the various towns at the request of members to settle local disputes. The report of the committee was adopted.
The resignations of Frank Colpeizer and S. W. Lightner as members of the board of directors were accepted and their successors were chosen at the election of officers yesterday.

A Stormy Session.
The executive session in the afternoon was rather stormy. The committee whose business it was to prepare a list of wholesalers charged with selling to consumers and contractors, made a report. With few exceptions every wholesale house in Omaha and Lincoln was on the list. Each house had a representative in the meeting as an honorary member of the association, and as his house was mentioned and protested against loudly. Each house had its particular friends and between efforts to punish enemies and whitewash friends the meeting almost got beyond the control of the president at times. Finally, Mr. Ayres of Central City moved that the list as prepared by the committee, with no amendments, be published. Mr. Foy of Hoagland's moved an amendment to the effect that the names of all firms against whom charges had been brought be published in the proceedings. The point of order was raised that the amendment was not germane to the motion, which point was overruled by the chair. On an appeal from the decision the convention refused to sustain the chair and the original motion prevailed.

Resolutions.
At 5 o'clock the executive session was completed and the doors were thrown open and the committee on resolutions made its report. The report tendered the sympathy of the organization to C. H. Ketrledge on the death of his wife and it was resolved that an engraved copy of the resolution be given Mr. Ketrledge, who in responding to the resolution expressed his thanks in feeling words.
The other resolutions, which were adopted by a unanimous vote, were as follows:

"Resolved, That the board of directors be instructed to employ a secretary at a stated salary to solicit members and to adjust differences between the wholesalers and members, in this association and between the members, in addition to the present duties of the association."
"Resolved, That the board be instructed to take up the matter of dividing the state into districts and the establishing of district associations, which shall hold conventions during the year."

"Resolved, That the secretary be requested to consider the question of issuing bulletins as often as in his opinion matters of importance shall come up which should be thus communicated to the members."
"Resolved, That the thanks of the association be tendered the retailers and jobbers of Omaha for the comforts and enjoyments experienced upon the occasion of the tenth annual convention on constitution and by-laws reported an amendment to the constitution limiting the eligibility of members to the office of president to two terms and providing that no member of the board of directors who has completed the term for which he was elected shall be eligible to re-election until three years after the end of his term and that no wholesaler shall be eligible to office in the association. This was adopted. An amendment to the by-laws changing the annual dues from $5 to $10 was tabled.

GRAIN-O! GRAIN-O!

Remember that name when you want a delicious, appetizing, nourishing food drink to take the place of coffee. Sold by all grocers and liked by all who have used it. Grain-O is made of pure grain, is low in caloric content and strengthens the nerves. It is not a stimulant, but a health builder and the children as well as the adults can drink it with great benefit. Costs about 1c, as such as coffee, 15c. sold per package. Ask your grocer for Grain-O.

NEW LINE FOR UNION DEPOT

Belief in General that Missouri Pacific Will Change Depots.

TRAINS WILL ENTER UNION STATION

Likelihood that Pending Negotiations Will Speedily Be Concluded—Time and Distance Will Be Shortened.
Close observation on the part of certain well informed local railroad officials leads to the belief that the deal between the Missouri Pacific and the Union Pacific is practically closed, whereby the former road will use the Union station for its through passenger trains in and out of Omaha. A rumor to this effect has been abroad since the opening of the new Union station and, while no authentic information has been given out, no denial of the report has ever been made by the officials between whom the negotiations are in progress. Recently, however, a prominent official interested in the pending proposition made the unusual statement that it was only a matter of a short time until all the Omaha railroads would be using the Union Pacific station for their through passenger trains, with the exception of the Burlington.

Several years ago the Missouri Pacific used the depot which was at that time dignified by the title, "union station." Its passenger trains used the Union Pacific tracks between Omaha and Papillion. Later the belt line, extending from South Omaha and skirting Omaha on the west and north, was constructed. Since that time the Webster street depot has been used by the Missouri Pacific. The advantages which would be afforded the Missouri Pacific by the use of the Union station have been carefully weighed by the officials and it seems probable now that the negotiations will be concluded at an early date. Missouri Pacific officials are said to hold the opinion that whatever additional expense may be incurred in the use of the Union station would be more than offset by the added passenger traffic to the southeast from the northern and western lines terminating here. It would be within the range of possibilities that the Missouri Pacific and either the Omaha or Illinois Central would enter into a through sleeper arrangement, making through connections from St. Paul and Minneapolis to Kansas City and St. Louis.

The saving in time is also a matter of especial moment. If a contract is entered into by the Union Pacific and the Missouri Pacific for use of the depot it would also include through privileges between South Omaha and Omaha. For its through trains the Missouri Pacific would abandon its belt line, which is six and one-half miles long, making the running time between South Omaha and Omaha twenty-seven minutes, and see the Union Pacific tracks, a saving in distance of four and one-half miles and a lessening of sixteen minutes in running time.
The plan under consideration contemplates the use of the Union station for the through train between Omaha and St. Louis, which at present arrives here at 12:55 p. m. and leaves at 2:30 p. m. and the through train between Omaha and Kansas City, arriving here at 5:59 a. m. and leaving at 9:30 p. m. The local passenger train operating between Omaha and Auburn, which arrives here at 9:45 and departs here at 10:30 p. m., will continue to use the Webster street depot.

Business Good at Oden.
C. A. Henry, Union Pacific agent at the Oden union depot, is in the city paying a brief visit at general headquarters. Mr. Henry is enroute to his home from an eastern trip. "Everything is booming in Utah and around Oden, especially in the railway line," said Mr. Henry. "There is greater activity in railroad building and improvements in that section than ever before. Consequently, there is a great demand for labor and no idle men are to be found. Railroad business is good. Travel is especially heavy and everything contributes to a general condition of prosperity."

THAT COMMISSION CIRCULAR.
Letter to Ticket Agents Continues to Be Topic of Interest.
The circular relative to the abolition of the payment of commissions by the railroad companies and suggesting a remedy for the ticket agents, which has made its appearance in Omaha and is creating extraordinary interest, is as follows:

"Dear Sir: The combination of capital represented by the various railway companies, and the uniform action of all the larger systems, have forced their weaker competitors into the movement of abolishing all commission payments. It is the old question, but under a stronger pull than before and unless successfully combated by you the loss of commissions will be followed up by a formation of a new combination by which you will virtually have to face a loss of position. The remedy lies in your own hands. Route your business to all directions via the strongest line. In the east the New York Central and through connections (also Pennsylvania line).
"In the west the Union Pacific and through connections, the Chicago & North-western and through connections, also the Santa Fe system (where they are the strong line).
"If the ticket agents use their combined efforts wisely and energetically they will prove themselves a stronger power than all the great railway combinations ever anticipated. Follow the above suggestions to the letter until you receive a positive promise from some line that they will pay, and then give them all your business. A tip to the wise is enough. Know your power and use it."
The meaning of this circular is obvious even to the uninitiated. The ticket agents by routing all business over the strong lines would practically compel the weaker lines to offer some inducements in order to get a share of the traffic. The publication of the anonymous circular is presumed to have been prompted in the main by the brokers, who have suffered great loss of revenue since the new order of things became effective. It is not believed that the circular will be followed by any perceptible change in the present situation, unless it should result in calling the general attention of the railway presidents to the dissatisfaction ex-
