HINTS TO DAIRYMEN.

Big Butter Companies Organize Two weeks ago Charles Harding, for many years in the creamery business at Norfolk, Neb., established a central station at Omaha, and since that time had been locating tributary stations in Nebraska, Iowa and northwest Missourt, and a large business is already assured for the Five of the largest creamery companies in Kansas and Oklahoma, representing onefourth of the dairy interests of that territory, have been consolidated, under the name of the Continental Creamery comconsolidated company starts out with 107 skimming stations. The new company is incorporated under the laws of Colorado. Its capital stock is $500,000. The officers of the new company will be J. E. Nissley, manager of the Kansas Creamery company, president; C. H. Pattison of Abilene, treasurer; W. B. Jansen of Belott, vice president, and former State Printer Parks, secretary. One of the largest creamery butter manufacturing establishments in the west will begin operations in Kansas City about March 10. Negotiations looking toward the consolidation of the interests represented by T. W. Brady & Co. of Kansas City and the Meriden Creamery company of Meriden. Kan., were concluded last week. Both concerns have been leaders in the western butter trade and have handled the products of upward of fifty Kansas and Missourl creameries, to which the new firm expects to add a large number of new customers. It is claimed by the Sioux City papers that the new creamery plant at that place, which is to be in operation within a week or two, will be the largest in the world.

It will be of interest to the farmers, who supply the milk, and also the consumers of butter, to note how these extensive butter factories will affect the cost of produc-
