

THE OMAHA DAILY BEE. PUBLISHED EVERY MORNING.

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION. Daily Bee (without Sunday), One Year, $6.00. Daily Bee and Sunday, One Year, $7.00.

OFFICES. Omaha: The Bee Building, South Omaha, City Hall Building, Twelfth and N streets.

CORRESPONDENCE. Communications relating to news and editorial matter should be addressed to Omaha, B. Editorial Department.

BUSINESS LETTERS. Business letters and remittances should be addressed to The Bee Publishing Company, Omaha.

REMITTANCES. Remit by draft, express or postal order. Payable to The Bee Publishing Company.

STATEMENT OF CIRCULATION. State of Nebraska, Douglas County, ss: George H. Tesch, publisher of The Bee Publishing Company, being duly sworn, says that the actual number of full and complete copies of The Daily, Morning, Evening and Sunday Bee, printed during the month of February, 1900, was as follows:

Table with 3 columns: Copies, Total, and Less. Rows include numbered entries for circulation data.

Subscribed and sworn to before me this 15th day of March, A. D. 1900. M. B. HUNTING, Notary Public.

St. Patrick proposes to celebrate the century year just the same as usual.

The month of March wants it distinctly understood that it has all varieties of weather on tap.

The annual destruction of the fruit crop has occurred, but later the commission houses will be able to supply your order as in former years.

The unexpected often happens. That is again strikingly illustrated by the nomination of Tom Brennan for mayor of South Omaha on the democratic ticket.

The despair of the democratic gang in Douglas county could not be more conclusively evidenced than by the lawless interference from Governor Poynter to put a police commission club in their hands.

A man named Truth has been arrested for sending circulars making fraudulent representations through the mails. The court will now have an opportunity to decide "officially" whether there is anything in a name.

Governor Poynter is said to have asked William J. Broatch to wire whether he would accept a place on the next popocratic police commission. As if Broatch were ever known to refuse any position of profit or notoriety.

Mayor Kusor of South Omaha says he was "double-crossed" by his friends at the democratic primary. But the doctor, with childlike and bland humility, says he not only forgives the men who smote him, but turns the other cheek.

Republicans all over the state will watch with interest the little game of freeze-out that is being played in Lancaster county between ambitious aspirants for senatorial honors.

Young Mr. Poppleton would not only have to keep his gloves on while associating with Broatch, Peabody and Harry Miller on the police commission, but he would also have to hold his nose and close his eyes. No wonder he does not want to serve.

The Iowa republicans will meet in May to make arrangements for the annual burial service of the democratic party in that state. Long practice has made the Iowa republicans experts and the job is done with such neatness and dispatch that Fred White really enjoys riding at the head of the democratic funeral procession.

The Norfolk people do not appear to be inclined to allow the secretaries of the State Board of Transportation to get away through any holes in the fence. Every time they make a dive for an opening they find a Norfolk man there ready to lead them off. There is a bare possibility that the secretaries may be forced to meet the issue fairly, but it will not be until every resource has been exhausted.

The bill which the naval committee of the house has introduced is evidence that this country does not propose to fall behind in the matter of keeping up the navy. The antiquated tubs which Americans abroad were once compelled to hush for have been supplanted by vessels as fine as any afloat, and if the work is continued as planned there will be enough of them amply to protect the interests of this country all over the world.

County Treasurer Elsasner is to be commended in his effort to recover the funds belonging to the county tied up in one of the defunct savings banks. But he should not stop there. He should endeavor to place the county money in some responsible bank or banks that will pay interest on deposits under the depository law. It is now more than a year since Douglas county has received a penny of interest on county deposits, while the city receives interest all the time on its money.

INTERNATIONAL OBLIGATIONS.

President McKinley has said to the British government that the United States would be glad to aid in any friendly manner to promote a cessation of hostilities in South Africa. The British government has in respectful terms stated that it cannot accept the intervention of any power. It should therefore be perfectly clear to every person of ordinary intelligence that our government cannot with propriety and with a decent regard for its international obligations do anything more at this time in respect of the South African conflict.

The injustice of this must be apparent to everybody not utterly blinded by prejudice. All the powers having representatives at Pretoria were appealed to to intervene with a view to a cessation of hostilities. Only the United States submitted this appeal to the British government. Germany declined to do so and France took no action. Our government, on the other hand, promptly conveyed to the British government the request of Presidents Kruger and Steyn, accompanying it with an expression of the hope that "a way to bring about peace may be found" and the assurance of a willingness on the part of the United States to aid in promoting so happy a result.

Those who have insisted that the United States should proffer mediation are either ignorant of our international obligations or are willing to place the government in a position that might prove exceedingly embarrassing. A formal proffer of mediation under existing circumstances Great Britain would be justified in regarding as an unfriendly act. Moreover, it would be contrary to the traditional policy of this country. There is a mistaken idea that the agreement entered into at The Hague conference gives warrant for this government proposing mediation.

The despairs of the democratic gang in Douglas county could not be more conclusively evidenced than by the lawless interference from Governor Poynter to put a police commission club in their hands. A man named Truth has been arrested for sending circulars making fraudulent representations through the mails.

Governor Poynter is said to have asked William J. Broatch to wire whether he would accept a place on the next popocratic police commission. As if Broatch were ever known to refuse any position of profit or notoriety. Mayor Kusor of South Omaha says he was "double-crossed" by his friends at the democratic primary.

Republicans all over the state will watch with interest the little game of freeze-out that is being played in Lancaster county between ambitious aspirants for senatorial honors. Young Mr. Poppleton would not only have to keep his gloves on while associating with Broatch, Peabody and Harry Miller on the police commission.

The Norfolk people do not appear to be inclined to allow the secretaries of the State Board of Transportation to get away through any holes in the fence. Every time they make a dive for an opening they find a Norfolk man there ready to lead them off. There is a bare possibility that the secretaries may be forced to meet the issue fairly, but it will not be until every resource has been exhausted.

The bill which the naval committee of the house has introduced is evidence that this country does not propose to fall behind in the matter of keeping up the navy. The antiquated tubs which Americans abroad were once compelled to hush for have been supplanted by vessels as fine as any afloat, and if the work is continued as planned there will be enough of them amply to protect the interests of this country all over the world.

County Treasurer Elsasner is to be commended in his effort to recover the funds belonging to the county tied up in one of the defunct savings banks. But he should not stop there. He should endeavor to place the county money in some responsible bank or banks that will pay interest on deposits under the depository law. It is now more than a year since Douglas county has received a penny of interest on county deposits, while the city receives interest all the time on its money.

THE OMAHA DAILY BEE: SATURDAY, MARCH 17, 1900.

President McKinley has said to the British government that the United States would be glad to aid in any friendly manner to promote a cessation of hostilities in South Africa.

The injustice of this must be apparent to everybody not utterly blinded by prejudice. All the powers having representatives at Pretoria were appealed to to intervene with a view to a cessation of hostilities. Only the United States submitted this appeal to the British government.

Those who have insisted that the United States should proffer mediation are either ignorant of our international obligations or are willing to place the government in a position that might prove exceedingly embarrassing.

The despairs of the democratic gang in Douglas county could not be more conclusively evidenced than by the lawless interference from Governor Poynter to put a police commission club in their hands.

Governor Poynter is said to have asked William J. Broatch to wire whether he would accept a place on the next popocratic police commission. As if Broatch were ever known to refuse any position of profit or notoriety.

Mayor Kusor of South Omaha says he was "double-crossed" by his friends at the democratic primary. But the doctor, with childlike and bland humility, says he not only forgives the men who smote him, but turns the other cheek.

Republicans all over the state will watch with interest the little game of freeze-out that is being played in Lancaster county between ambitious aspirants for senatorial honors.

Young Mr. Poppleton would not only have to keep his gloves on while associating with Broatch, Peabody and Harry Miller on the police commission, but he would also have to hold his nose and close his eyes.

The Norfolk people do not appear to be inclined to allow the secretaries of the State Board of Transportation to get away through any holes in the fence. Every time they make a dive for an opening they find a Norfolk man there ready to lead them off.

The bill which the naval committee of the house has introduced is evidence that this country does not propose to fall behind in the matter of keeping up the navy. The antiquated tubs which Americans abroad were once compelled to hush for have been supplanted by vessels as fine as any afloat.

THE OMAHA DAILY BEE: SATURDAY, MARCH 17, 1900.

President McKinley has said to the British government that the United States would be glad to aid in any friendly manner to promote a cessation of hostilities in South Africa.

The injustice of this must be apparent to everybody not utterly blinded by prejudice. All the powers having representatives at Pretoria were appealed to to intervene with a view to a cessation of hostilities. Only the United States submitted this appeal to the British government.

Those who have insisted that the United States should proffer mediation are either ignorant of our international obligations or are willing to place the government in a position that might prove exceedingly embarrassing.

The despairs of the democratic gang in Douglas county could not be more conclusively evidenced than by the lawless interference from Governor Poynter to put a police commission club in their hands.

Governor Poynter is said to have asked William J. Broatch to wire whether he would accept a place on the next popocratic police commission. As if Broatch were ever known to refuse any position of profit or notoriety.

Mayor Kusor of South Omaha says he was "double-crossed" by his friends at the democratic primary. But the doctor, with childlike and bland humility, says he not only forgives the men who smote him, but turns the other cheek.

Republicans all over the state will watch with interest the little game of freeze-out that is being played in Lancaster county between ambitious aspirants for senatorial honors.

Young Mr. Poppleton would not only have to keep his gloves on while associating with Broatch, Peabody and Harry Miller on the police commission, but he would also have to hold his nose and close his eyes.

The Norfolk people do not appear to be inclined to allow the secretaries of the State Board of Transportation to get away through any holes in the fence. Every time they make a dive for an opening they find a Norfolk man there ready to lead them off.

The bill which the naval committee of the house has introduced is evidence that this country does not propose to fall behind in the matter of keeping up the navy. The antiquated tubs which Americans abroad were once compelled to hush for have been supplanted by vessels as fine as any afloat.

THE OMAHA DAILY BEE: SATURDAY, MARCH 17, 1900.

President McKinley has said to the British government that the United States would be glad to aid in any friendly manner to promote a cessation of hostilities in South Africa.

The injustice of this must be apparent to everybody not utterly blinded by prejudice. All the powers having representatives at Pretoria were appealed to to intervene with a view to a cessation of hostilities. Only the United States submitted this appeal to the British government.

Those who have insisted that the United States should proffer mediation are either ignorant of our international obligations or are willing to place the government in a position that might prove exceedingly embarrassing.

The despairs of the democratic gang in Douglas county could not be more conclusively evidenced than by the lawless interference from Governor Poynter to put a police commission club in their hands.

Governor Poynter is said to have asked William J. Broatch to wire whether he would accept a place on the next popocratic police commission. As if Broatch were ever known to refuse any position of profit or notoriety.

Mayor Kusor of South Omaha says he was "double-crossed" by his friends at the democratic primary. But the doctor, with childlike and bland humility, says he not only forgives the men who smote him, but turns the other cheek.

Republicans all over the state will watch with interest the little game of freeze-out that is being played in Lancaster county between ambitious aspirants for senatorial honors.

Young Mr. Poppleton would not only have to keep his gloves on while associating with Broatch, Peabody and Harry Miller on the police commission, but he would also have to hold his nose and close his eyes.

The Norfolk people do not appear to be inclined to allow the secretaries of the State Board of Transportation to get away through any holes in the fence. Every time they make a dive for an opening they find a Norfolk man there ready to lead them off.

The bill which the naval committee of the house has introduced is evidence that this country does not propose to fall behind in the matter of keeping up the navy. The antiquated tubs which Americans abroad were once compelled to hush for have been supplanted by vessels as fine as any afloat.

THE OMAHA DAILY BEE: SATURDAY, MARCH 17, 1900.

President McKinley has said to the British government that the United States would be glad to aid in any friendly manner to promote a cessation of hostilities in South Africa.

The injustice of this must be apparent to everybody not utterly blinded by prejudice. All the powers having representatives at Pretoria were appealed to to intervene with a view to a cessation of hostilities. Only the United States submitted this appeal to the British government.

Those who have insisted that the United States should proffer mediation are either ignorant of our international obligations or are willing to place the government in a position that might prove exceedingly embarrassing.

The despairs of the democratic gang in Douglas county could not be more conclusively evidenced than by the lawless interference from Governor Poynter to put a police commission club in their hands.

Governor Poynter is said to have asked William J. Broatch to wire whether he would accept a place on the next popocratic police commission. As if Broatch were ever known to refuse any position of profit or notoriety.

Mayor Kusor of South Omaha says he was "double-crossed" by his friends at the democratic primary. But the doctor, with childlike and bland humility, says he not only forgives the men who smote him, but turns the other cheek.

Republicans all over the state will watch with interest the little game of freeze-out that is being played in Lancaster county between ambitious aspirants for senatorial honors.

Young Mr. Poppleton would not only have to keep his gloves on while associating with Broatch, Peabody and Harry Miller on the police commission, but he would also have to hold his nose and close his eyes.

The Norfolk people do not appear to be inclined to allow the secretaries of the State Board of Transportation to get away through any holes in the fence. Every time they make a dive for an opening they find a Norfolk man there ready to lead them off.

The bill which the naval committee of the house has introduced is evidence that this country does not propose to fall behind in the matter of keeping up the navy. The antiquated tubs which Americans abroad were once compelled to hush for have been supplanted by vessels as fine as any afloat.

THE OMAHA DAILY BEE: SATURDAY, MARCH 17, 1900.

President McKinley has said to the British government that the United States would be glad to aid in any friendly manner to promote a cessation of hostilities in South Africa.

The injustice of this must be apparent to everybody not utterly blinded by prejudice. All the powers having representatives at Pretoria were appealed to to intervene with a view to a cessation of hostilities. Only the United States submitted this appeal to the British government.

Those who have insisted that the United States should proffer mediation are either ignorant of our international obligations or are willing to place the government in a position that might prove exceedingly embarrassing.

The despairs of the democratic gang in Douglas county could not be more conclusively evidenced than by the lawless interference from Governor Poynter to put a police commission club in their hands.

Governor Poynter is said to have asked William J. Broatch to wire whether he would accept a place on the next popocratic police commission. As if Broatch were ever known to refuse any position of profit or notoriety.

Mayor Kusor of South Omaha says he was "double-crossed" by his friends at the democratic primary. But the doctor, with childlike and bland humility, says he not only forgives the men who smote him, but turns the other cheek.

Republicans all over the state will watch with interest the little game of freeze-out that is being played in Lancaster county between ambitious aspirants for senatorial honors.

Young Mr. Poppleton would not only have to keep his gloves on while associating with Broatch, Peabody and Harry Miller on the police commission, but he would also have to hold his nose and close his eyes.

The Norfolk people do not appear to be inclined to allow the secretaries of the State Board of Transportation to get away through any holes in the fence. Every time they make a dive for an opening they find a Norfolk man there ready to lead them off.

The bill which the naval committee of the house has introduced is evidence that this country does not propose to fall behind in the matter of keeping up the navy. The antiquated tubs which Americans abroad were once compelled to hush for have been supplanted by vessels as fine as any afloat.

Stunted Hair. Does your hair split at the end? Can you pull out a handful by running your fingers through it? Does it seem dry and lifeless? Give your hair a chance. Feed it. The roots are not dead; they are weak because they are starved...

Ayer's Hair Vigor. If you don't want to dye your hair, use Ayer's Hair Vigor once a day. It makes the hair grow, stops falling, and cures dandruff. Always restores color to gray or faded hair.

GREEN GRASS AND OWLD IRELAND. The green grass of owld Ireland! Whist! It's growing! All fresh an' green an' jewel-green. It's growing! It's growing! It's growing! It's growing! It's growing!

GREEN GRASS AND OWLD IRELAND. The green grass of owld Ireland! Whist! It's growing! All fresh an' green an' jewel-green. It's growing! It's growing! It's growing! It's growing! It's growing!

SCOTT'S EMULSION. Pneumonia. The lungs weak and leaves the door for the germs of Consumption. Don't wait until they get in, and you begin to cough. Close the door at once by healing the inflammation.