FAIR AND JOCKENS RELEASED

Opinion of Judge Munger Filed in Habeas Corpus Case Yesterday.

SOLDIERS MAY NOT QUESTION ORDERS

Instructions to Shoot Escaping Prisoner May Be Illegal, but They Will Protect the Soldiers Who Obey Them.

An opinion was filed in the habeas corpus case of Corporal Fair and Private Jockens in the United States circuit court yesterday, wherein the petitioners ask to be released from the custody of the state authorities, by whom they are held on charge of murder for the killing of Samuel Morgan, an escaping federal prisoner, at LaPlatte in November, 1899. Judge Munger orders the prisoners released.

The opinion filed in the case recites the story of the alleged crime for which the petitioners were arrested. It says that Samuel Morgan was a prisoner at Fort Crook under charge of desertion; that John S. Pryor was in charge of Morgan, and another prisoner named Deacon, when they attempted to escape; that when the guard started to capture the escaping men Sergeant Simpson ordered the petitioners as follows: "Pursue the prisoners. If you sight them and are positive it is the right party, halt them, and if they do not halt, halt them a second time; and if they do not halt then, fire upon them and fire to kill." The actions of Fair and Jockens at LaPlatte, in the search which led to that place and the killing of Morgan, are reviewed.

"The principal question to be determined," says the opinion, "has the state court within and for the county of Sarpy jurisdiction to try petitioners for such killing of Morgan as a violation of the laws of the state? If so, do the petitioners will be remanded, if not, they will be discharged."

In the argument before the court the state maintained the position that the federal law of 1890 conferring upon the civil authorities the power to arrest deserters took away the right theretofore possessed by the military authorities to make such arrests. To this contention the court does not agree, but says the jurisdiction is made concurrent.

"I do not say," continues the court, "that the order given by Sergeant Simpson was in all particulars a lawful order, but its illegality was not such as to be apparent."

The syllabus of the court in this case is as follows:

1. The finding and judgment of "guilty" by a military court-martial is not a bar to the prosecution for the same act by the civil authorities.

2. An order given by a military officer to his private should be obeyed by the private, and will be his full protection in a criminal prosecution unless the illegality of such an order is so clearly shown on its face that a man of ordinary sense and understanding would know when he heard it read or given that the order was illegal.

3. The government of the United States and of a state, though exercised within the same territory, occupy different planes, and the criminal laws of the one have no application to acts performed under the authority of the other in respect to matters solely within its control.

4. Laws, rules and regulations for the efficiency and discipline of the army of the United States are matters vested by the constitution solely in the general government.

5. An officer or agent of the United States who does an act which is within the scope of his authority as such officer or agent cannot be held to answer therefor under the criminal laws of another and different government.

6. The care, judgment and discretion which exceeds his authority, he may be sued in the state courts by any person injured by reason thereof, but when the act was done in good faith and without malice he is not liable to a criminal prosecution in such courts.

7. When an officer in the performance of his duty under the laws of the United States exceeds his authority, he may be sued in the state courts by any person injured by reason thereof, but when the act was done in good faith and without malice he is not liable to a criminal prosecution in such courts.

8. While a United States court will not in a habeas corpus proceeding by an officer of the United States examine the evidence for the purpose of determining whether he should be found guilty or innocent; yet the court may, and should, examine the evidence for the purpose of determining whether the act alleged to be criminal was done while in the performance of his duty as such officer.

9. When an officer of the United States is held in custody by the process of a state court for an act done within the authority conferred upon him by the laws of the United States the United States government may protect itself by procuring the release of such officer through its judicial department.

CORPORAL FAIR IS PROMOTED

Man Who Shot Prisoner Morgan Now Wears the Stripes of a Sergeant.

Friday afternoon Fair and Jockens were ordered from Fort Crook to report at the office of the United States circuit judge, where the opinion of Judge Munger was made concurrent.

"I do not say," continues the court, "that the order given by Sergeant Simpson was in all particulars a lawful order, but its illegality was not such as to be apparent."

The syllabus of the court in this case is as follows:

1. The finding and judgment of "guilty" by a military court-martial is not a bar to the prosecution for the same act by the civil authorities.

2. An order given by a military officer to his private should be obeyed by the private, and will be his full protection in a criminal prosecution unless the illegality of such an

CADETS MUST CON BOOKS

Naxos Rule Recently Put in Force at High School is Operative at Other Institutions.

In view of the storm of disapproval following the recent adoption of a rule requiring scholarship as a condition to advancement in the High school cadet battalion Superintendent Pease has communicated with a number of institutions to ascertain methods pursued elsewhere. The rule to which the students object is that candidates for promotion from the ranks must show a grade of 70 per cent in their studies and that officers already appointed shall only hold rank as long as they are proficient in the academic work. The operation of the rule has caused the displacement of a number of officers with consequent bitterness of spirit to those affected.

The institutions interrogated by Superintendent Pease were the West Point and Annapolis academies, the Westworth Military academy at Lexington, Mo., and the Michigan Military academy at Orchard Lake, Mich. The questions submitted were as follows: 1. Are commissioned officers appointed from the highest class? 2. In making appointments of commissioned officers is scholarship considered? 3. Are students who are deficient in studies to appointment as commissioned or noncommissioned officers? 4. Are cadet officers once appointed permitted to remain officers if they fail in scholarship?

The answers received are as follows: West Point—1. In general, 2. Selections are made from those most studious, most soldierlike, most exemplary in general conduct. 3. No. 4. They may retain their position only temporarily until the study is made up to the satisfaction of the authorities.

Annapolis—1. Yes. 2. Appointments are based on scholarship and general efficiency. 3 and 4. Any student deficient in his studies is dropped not only from the battalion, but from the academy.

Orchard Lake—1. Yes. 2. Scholarship is considered; poor scholars would make poor officers. 3. No. 4. Officers deficient in their studies are reduced.

Westworth Military Academy—1. As a rule, 2. Scholarship is considered. 3. Officers deficient in studies may hold rank if they have other valuable qualities. 4. At this time officers who have failed in scholarship may hold rank, but we intend to change the rule.

A Finnish Attack.

An attack was lately made on C. F. Collier of Cherokee, Iowa, that nearly proved fatal. It came through his kidneys. His back got lame he could not stoop without great pain, nor sit in a chair except propped by cushions. No remedy helped him until he tried Electric Bitters, which effected such a wonderful change that he writes he feels like a new man. This marvelous medicine cures backache and kidney trouble, purifies the blood and builds up your health. Only 50c at Kuhn & Co.'s Drug Store.

Vacation in Public Schools.

The public schools of this city held the final session of the second term yesterday. The 15,000 school children will be left to their own devices until April 1. The High school students also come in for the week's holiday, although it was expected that they would depart for their homes by attending school on Saturdays. No examinations have been held as those ordinarily occur twice a year, in January and June.

County Attorney Declares He Will Make No Further Prosecution.

Final Chapter in a Double Tragedy

Jail Doors Open to Release the Prisoner and He is Overwhelmed with Joyous Surprise—How It Happened.

John Shannahan is free. He was called from behind jail bars yesterday and an officer told him to go his way. It was a surprise to Shannahan. He expected a new trial, but he had no hope of such speedy release.

It came about through a decision of Judge Baker rendered in the morning to the effect that Shannahan was entitled to a new hearing, he having recently been convicted of manslaughter. The motion was argued several days ago and Judge Baker took the matter into consideration. When the county attorney heard the decision he announced that he would not prosecute further, that he saw no probability of securing conviction and that he would end the matter immediately by giving Shannahan his liberty.

Prior to his conviction Shannahan was out on bond, but since a jury decided against him he has been in jail. He has been visited frequently by his wife and little child, who were his faithful companions in the court room during his trial with the law.

As soon as Shannahan was released he hurried to inform his wife. An hour or two later she would have arrived at the jail on her daily visit and would have found her husband gone.

Shannahan is the South Omaha saloon keeper who shot and killed Ed Callahan and Ed Joyce in his place of business last July. The victims were close friends or "pals." Both were killed under entirely similar circumstances, but separate trials were had. Shannahan pleaded self-defense—said the men attempted to rob him and that he shot to protect his life and property. The first trial, which was for the killing of Joyce, resulted in acquittal. The second trial, for the killing of Callahan, several months later, went against Shannahan, the jury finding him guilty of manslaughter. There was no difference in the evidence, and in view of the original acquittal much surprise was caused by the verdict for manslaughter. A few days following the verdict two of the jurors filed affidavits to the effect that Foreman Kirk had exerted undue influence over the other members, and on this showing Shannahan's attorneys filed a motion for a new trial.

COOLEY CASE WITH THE JURY.

Fate of the Alleged Embezzler in Now Trembling in the Balance.

The case of Thomas H. Cooley, charged with embezzling funds from the Minneapolis & Omaha railroad during his tenure as cashier, is in the hands of a jury in Judge Baker's court. The defense offered no testimony, relying for acquittal upon the evidence of the state's witnesses, so the attorneys stated. The defense claims that the state has failed to show the ownership of the alleged stolen money, and that in several other ways no case has been made. The prosecution does not so concede.

Cooley has maintained calmness throughout the trial, but it has been a bitter war between attorneys. One of the attorneys for the defendant and the county attorney exchanged language so tinged with wildfire that Judge Baker interfered.

One of the most interesting things was caused by the defendant's attorney laughing at the procedure of the county attorney in the examination of a witness.

"I allow no man to make sport of me when I am trying a case," roared the county attorney angrily.

"I can't help but laugh at you, for you make such a botch of your work," replied the other lawyer.

It looked for a moment as if some inkstands might be hurled, but a timely talk from Judge Baker restored quiet.

Mr. Morris Kept the Change.

Judge Estelle has granted divorce to Mary Morris, who was plaintiff against Cleon Morris. The allegations were numerous, some of which will not look well in print. A unique feature of the case was a statement to the effect that when the principals in the suit went to get married a year ago the bride furnished the money with which to buy the license. Morris made the negotiations and received half-a-dollar in change. It is alleged, which he failed to return to his bride.

Remarkable Cures of Rheumatism.

From the Vindicator, Rutherfordton, N. C.

The editor of the Vindicator has had occasion to test the efficacy of Chamberlain's Pain Balm twice with the most remarkable results in each case. First, with rheumatism in the shoulder from which he suffered excruciating pain for ten days, which was relieved with two applications of Pain Balm, rubbing the parts affected and realizing instant benefit and entire relief in a very short time. Second, in rheumatism in thigh joint, almost prostrating him with severe pain, which was relieved by two applications, rubbing with the liniment on retiring at night and getting up free from pain.

Exhibit at the Train School.

The pupils of the Train school will give an exhibition of art works today for the benefit of the picture fund. The principal and teachers will be in charge of the display which will be in place from 9:30 until 4:30. The usual collection which has been exhibited at various schools of the city will be augmented by two excellent likenesses of George Francis Train, in whose honor the school bears its name. One portrait was recently painted and resembles Mr. Train at the present time, while the other is an engraving made during the early days of Omaha when George Francis Train was one of our most stalwart pioneers of the new commonwealth.

An excellent program of music and recitation has been prepared and will be given at intervals during the day. Among those who will take part are Secretary Gillan of the Board of Education and well known locally as an elocutionist; Miss Fannie Arnold, supervisor of music; Mesdames Berryman, Cora Nelson and T. F. Rogers; Misses Henrietta Rees, Chaffee, Havens,
