YOUNG ADVENTURER IN COURT

John Franklin Rische Finds the Parental Residence Intolerable.

HAD FITTED UP A RENDEZVOUS

He Will Be Turned Over to the Children's Home Society and Later Be Sent to the Country.

If the stories related of 9-year-old John Franklin Rische are true he is a juvenile adventurer worthy of citizenship in Cape Nome or Dawson.

John H. Rische, father of the adventure-some lad, appeared in Judge Vinsonhaler's court yesterday with an application to have his son delivered into the keeping of the Nebraska Children's Home society. The father sets forth that he is not properly situated to take care of his son and that the boy has become so incorrigible that he requires close attention. Judge Vinsonhaler issued an order permitting the society to take the child.

For several weeks John Franklin Rische has been living with the family of John Hanlon on North Twenty-first street. It is said that the Hanlons were exceptionally kind to the lad, but his reckless disposition, it is asserted, caused much trouble. The Hanlons say they found it exceedingly difficult to keep the boy at home, and he would frequently be gone several days in succession. For some time it was a mystery where he went and how he lived. But at last the question was solved—John Franklin Rische had built for himself a rendezvous under the cellar steps at the Hanlon home. He had partitioned a compartment with wire and other material and there he ate and slept. This improvised den was to the boy what a cavern rendezvous is to the outlaw pictured in story books.

The hiding place of the youth was discovered two or three days ago, but not until Thursday night did the Hanlons succeed in delivering the youth to his father. The mystery of how he lived was explained by the finding of a lot of victuals in the den. The lad had periodically made surreptitious raids upon the Hanlon larder. It is charged that he is vicious, but simply so adventurous that he can scarcely be controlled. It is related that he once organized a swimming club among the youths of his neighborhood and piloted his companions down the Missouri river. They were about to plunge into the deep water when bystanders interfered.

John H. Rische, father of the boy, says he has experienced great trouble in the management of his children—two boys and two girls. In the harvest season last year Rische went to Minnesota to work in the wheat fields and he asserts that while he was absent his wife deserted him. Returning he took the two sons and permitted his wife to keep the girls. The brother of the incorrigible lad, who is two years his junior, is living with relatives in Ohio. The Children's Home society will give John Franklin Rische a chapter of pointed advice and then find a home for him with some Nebraska farmer.

IN UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT.

H. M. Girther Sues the Burlington for Ten Thousand Dollars Damages.

Upon an order for removal issued by the district court of Richardson county Henry M. Girther brings suit in the United States circuit court against the Burlington railroad for $10,000 damages for personal injuries received by him. The petition states that the railroad failed to maintain in a passable condition a certain grade crossing in Richardson county and that in driving over the crossing the wagon of the plaintiff was overturned and he was thrown to the ground, breaking his hip and injuring his shoulder.

Herman Schoenstadt and John E. Izzard, both of Omaha, have filed petitions asking the United States district court to declare them bankrupt.

MANDAMUS PROCEEDINGS BEGUN.

Judge Gordon Sues City to Collect Arrearages of Salary. Samuel I. Gordon, judge of the police court, has filed in the district court mandamus proceedings for the collection of $2,500, which he asserts is due him for arrearages in salary. It has been generally known for several weeks that Judge Gordon contemplated such action and the filing of his papers created no surprise about the course he would take. The action is based on the statement that the salary of the police judge was reduced by legislative act from $2,500 to $1,200 per year and that such reduction could not legally be applied during the tenure of the incumbent. Judge Gordon has for two years refused to accept the $1,200 annual salary and the city now holds $2,400 to his credit. Judge Estelle will hear the case May 4.

City Loses Special Tax Case. In the case of Thomas Breen and others against the city of Omaha, wherein the validity of special tax bills for street improvement was attacked, a decree in favor of the plaintiffs has been rendered. The territory involved is Nineteenth street from Davenport to Cumins. The court holds that the tax cannot legally be collected for the reason that the city council was not properly authorized to make the improvements, which consisted of paving and curbing. The city is perpetually enjoined from collection and must pay the costs of suit.

Saloon Keeper's Case Dismissed.

John Maher, who is identified with a South Omaha saloon, was before Judge Vinsonhaler in the county court Friday afternoon on a charge of selling liquor without a license. The defendant escaped prosecution before the trial had hardly started. The county attorney failed to prove that Maher is proprietor of the saloon where he sells liquor and that resulted in dismissal. Maher was arrested a few weeks ago along with several other South Omaha saloon men. Prosecution was instigated by the South Omaha Board of Education, the motive being on account of the law which gives to the school fund all fines imposed upon violators of the liquor license law.

Cohen Wins His Case.

The case of Restorf & Bettmann against Herman Cohen, former proprietor of a shoe polishing establishment, for $500 on account of alleged breach of contract in the purchase of supplies, was decided in Judge Vinsonhaler's court Friday afternoon in favor of the defendant. The jury was out but a few minutes. It was generally predicted by court house spectators before the end of the trial that Cohen would win a victory over the New York wholesale house that appeared as plaintiff against him. Cohen's plea was that the supplies in question were not shipped according to contract.

Alleged Bootleggers Arrested.

Deputy United States Marshal Henry Homan has returned from the Omaha Indian agency with four persons charged with selling liquor to the Indians. They are 'Vet' Conklin, Anton Rein, Will Adair and Lester Ball. Four other persons charged with the same offense were released on bond. The persons released were Charles Tippery, Ewing Ball, Daniel Ball and Frank Goodwin.

H. Clark, Chauncey, Ga., says Dr. Witt's Witch Hazel Salve cured him of piles that had afflicted him for twenty years. It is also a speedy cure for skin diseases. Beware of dangerous counterfeits.

RUSHING WORK ON TAX LISTS

Double Shift of Clerks Necessary in Order to Finish Them by May 1.

Tax Commissioner Fleming is busily engaged in the preparation of the personal and realty tax lists which the law says must be delivered into the hands of the treasurer and comptroller on May 1. A double shift of clerks is still employed, the second relay beginning work at 5 p. m., when the first goes off duty, and continuing until midnight. Mr. Fleming has no doubt that the lists will be ready by the time specified. It is necessary to prepare three huge ledgers, both of the personal and realty lists, one for the treasurer, one for the comptroller and one for the tax commissioner. These volumes, together with the preliminary lists from which the adjustments are made, involve an immense amount of labor for the commissioner's clerical force. The personal property list includes about 15,000 names.

W. W. Mayhew, Merton, Wis., says: "I consider One Minute Cough Cure a most wonderful medicine, quick and safe." It is the only harmless remedy that gives immediate results. It cures coughs, colds, croup, bronchitis, grippe, whooping cough, pneumonia and all throat and lung diseases. Its early use prevents consumption. Children always like it and mothers endorse it.

MUST MOVE OR PAY RENT

City Treasurer's Ultimatum in Regard to Davenport Street Resorts.

TENANTS EVADE BILL COLLECTORS

City, in Its New Role as Landlord, Meets with Indifferent Success—Furniture Practically Valueless.

The city treasurer's department is meeting with a variety of experiences in its new capacity of proprietor to sixteen disreputable resorts on lower Davenport street. The occupants were notified that the property had been seized from Louis Sibodinsky in default of seven years' personal taxes and readily agreed to the new arrangement. When it came to collecting the rent, however, Deputy Bert Bush was put off with many and varied excuses. Several tenants claimed that they had paid three months in advance, although it is a universal practice in the district to collect rentals daily. They could offer no receipt. Others pleaded poverty and asked for more time, believing that they would be able to touch the heart of the city officials where they had failed in the case of their former more worldly-wise landlord. After making the rounds the deputy was only able to extract $5 from his tenants, whereas at the rate of $1 and $2 per day the flats should yield about $25 daily. As a result the city treasurer is somewhat perplexed and disgusted with his present role of landlord. He has not as yet made up his mind as to his eventual course, but promises in case the laborers of the deputy are not immediately more fruitful to close up every house under his control. This would not only be in the interest of public morals, but the treasurer believes would bring the delinquent taxpayer to time the more speedily. The city treasurer had expected to realize a part of the money due through a sale of the furniture and fixtures in the houses, but he was notified yesterday by a local department store that it had a claim on all of Sibodinsky's goods at the Davenport street location. The furniture had been sold on the installment plan and had been only partially paid for. A closer inspection also revealed to the treasurer that the effects were practically without value. In some of the most sumptuous of the gilded rooms the divans were upheld at one end by joints of stowpelt, cleverly concealed by drapery, chairs were making shift to stand on three legs and lace curtains bore the marks of rough usage.

WORTHY OF MUNCHAUSEN

Agency Indians Exposed to Dreadful Perils, if Reports May Be Credited.

Henry Homan, who has just returned from a trip from the Omaha and Winnebago Indian agencies, tells a story of Indian intoxication which is only equalled by one told by James Allan, former deputy United States marshal. Homan's story is that a few days ago Furnas Robinson, an Indian of the Winnebago tribe, went to Pender, where he purchased three bottles of lemon extract. Returning to the reservation he drank the contents of all three bottles and immediately fell into a stupor. While in this condition he rolled into a fire that was burning in the center of the floor of his teepee. Before he awakened one foot was entirely consumed and the other so badly burned that amputation was necessary. Allan's story was that a short time before the "Meiklejohn" law went into effect a number of Indians of the same agency secured a barrel of apple cider which they "qualified" with alcohol. After drinking of this concoction for several hours the Indians began to bloat like sheep which have made a meal on damp clover. Before they could be relieved nine of them "exploded" and were buried before the government agent knew that they were dead.

DOES COFFEE AGREE WITH YOU?

If not, drink Grain-O—made from pure grains. A lady writes: "The first time I made Grain-O I did not like it, but after using it for one week nothing would induce me to go back to coffee. It nourishes and feeds the system. The children can drink it freely with great benefit. It is the strengthening substance of pure grains. Get a package today from your grocer, follow the directions in making it and you will have a delicious and healthful table beverage for old and young. 1c and 3c."

POND'S EXTRACT

Used over half a century. Refreshing and invigorating, for the toilet or after shaving. Immediate relief to eyes irritated by wind or dust. As a remedy, it controls pain, bleeding and inflammation.

Used Internally and Externally

CAUTION.—Witch Hazel is NOT Pond's Extract, and cannot be used for it. Ordinary Witch Hazel is sold in bulk, diluted, easily turns sour, and generally contains "wood alcohol," which is an irritant externally and taken internally is a deadly poison. Pond's extract is sold ONLY in SEALED bottles enclosed in buff wrappers.
