CHIEFS OF POLICE CONVENE

at Cincinnati Draws a Large CINCINNATI, May 6.-While the international convention of police chiefs does not convene till Tuesday there are here today many chiefs, commissioners, detectives and others for the occasion. Some have been engaged in committee work and conferences, but most of them in sightseeing. There are over 300 delegates. Most of them are accompanied by their families, The larger part of the visitors are commissioners, detectives and others associated with the chiefs, who are interested in the systems discussed and the rules adopted. The business sessions will be held in the forenoons. Elaborate programs of entertainment have been arranged for afternoons

On Thursday afternoon the annual dress parade and inspection of the Cincinnati po-lice will occur, attended by Governor Nash and staff, as well as by all the city authorities. On Friday afternoon there will be an exhibition by the fire department and the week's events will conclude with the annual banquet on Friday night.
