

WILL OUR CLEARINGS DROP

Contract Covering South Omaha Bank Business is at an End.

PRESIDENT MILLARD AVERSE TO R. N. WAL

Some Arrangement for a Working Agreement Necessary to Protect Omaha's Standing as a Clearing City.

The contract by which the South Omaha bank business is cleared through the Omaha clearing house will expire next Tuesday.

The expiring contract was entered into a year ago between the Omaha National bank and the South Omaha National bank.

President Millard of the Omaha National bank at the time the contract was made a year ago was largely interested as a stockholder in the South Omaha National and in reality directed the policy of both banks.

Since that time, however, he has disposed of his entire holding to Guy C. Barton, also a director of the Omaha National bank.

Mr. Barton now finds that President Millard has changed his mind as to the advisability of continuing the contract relations between the two banks.

When these relations were broken off last time a big slump immediately took place in Omaha's clearings.

The hope is expressed, however, by banks not identified with these two institutions that they will not rest without they patch up some sort of a working agreement that will ward off damage to the credit and financial standing of Omaha as determined by the clearings.

What the Bankers Say.

"Has the contract between our bank and the South Omaha bank been renewed?" was asked of President Millard of the Omaha National.

"No, it has not been renewed," was the reply.

"You want to know if it will be renewed? I do not think so. We will continue to do our business just as other banks do with their patrons. I do not see any necessity for a contract."

"Will the change affect the Omaha clearings?"

"I don't know," replied President Millard; "perhaps it will. I have not been thinking about increasing the clearings, but about increasing the business of our bank. I do not see why the bank should make a sacrifice to keep the clearings up."

Mr. Barton says he does not want to discuss the subject in print.

H. C. Bestwick, cashier of the South Omaha National bank, who is the determining factor in that concern says: "The agreement between this bank and the Omaha National bank does not expire until May 22 and until that time the old arrangement will remain in force. The question in dispute is now being considered by the officers of both banks and it is my opinion that an amicable adjustment will be made. Further, I do not think that, even in the event of a new arrangement, that the clearings will show any decrease. If the disposition is to make a new contract the present arrangement will hold until a new agreement is entered into, even if it is a week or ten days after the expiration of the present understanding."

REPLY TO GIVE OUT BLANKS

Supervisor Wheeler Will Deliver Supplies to the Census Enumerators Monday.

D. H. Wheeler, supervisor of the census, has sent out word that on Monday he will be ready to deliver to the enumerators the blanks necessary for their work.

The blanks will be delivered from room No. 5 in the morning between the hours of 8 a. m. and 12 p. m. and the supervisor requests the enumerators to be prompt in calling for their supplies.

Upon instructions from Washington Mr. Wheeler has abandoned the idea of holding a school of instruction, the department believing that the printed instructions are so plain that any attempt to elucidate them would result in confusion.

Where any enumerator is in doubt he will apply to the supervisor, but will be expected to rely upon his own judgment in ordinary cases.

IS THIS CONTEMPT OF COURT?

The Articles of Which Complaint is Made that the Honor of the Supreme Court is Impugned—Sentences in Brackets Are Innuendoes Inserted by Attorney General.

COURT II. THE ETHICS OF JUSTICE.

The basic principle of our heritage of common law is that every litigant appealing for justice in our courts shall have a fair trial before an impartial judge and an unbiased jury.

For this reason a juror whose examination discloses a bias which might prejudice the case is excused and barred from sitting in the case.

Where a judge is a party to a case himself there exists a still stronger reason why he should not sit in judgment upon his interests.

In the lower courts litigants who allege prejudice can take a change of venue. In our district courts they may have their cases transferred to other dockets or to judges called in from other districts.

While it is not possible to transfer cases from the supreme court meeting thereby the supreme court of the state of Nebraska, because there is but one such court meaning thereby but one supreme court of the state of Nebraska, a supreme court judge meaning thereby a judge of the said supreme court of the state of Nebraska, who is a party to a suit or who has expressed decided opinions in favor of one litigant and against the other, owes it to himself and to the public to abstain from the determination of the issues in such a case to his associates who are not subject to the same disqualification.

Meaning thereby to charge that Silas A. Holcomb, one of the judges of said supreme court, had expressed a decided opinion in favor of certain of the parties to the said suit of the State of Nebraska against Kennedy, et al, then pending in said supreme court, and against certain other parties to said last mentioned case, and that the said Silas A. Holcomb, by participating as judge in the determination of said last mentioned case, violate the principle of magna charta of the constitution of the state of Nebraska and of the laws of said state, would deny equal rights, and would give to certain other parties to said mentioned suit an unfair advantage and would deplete said suit in favor of certain of the parties thereto irrespective of the merits of the contention of the parties to said last mentioned cause.)

A due appreciation of the sacred duties of the judicial office and the inviolable right of every citizen to speedy and impartial justice should counteract all pressure of political partisans anxious to participate in the selection of their chief magistrate for power and preferment. Meaning thereby to charge that the said Silas A. Holcomb, as judge of said court, was subject to the pressure of political partisans, and that if he, the said Holcomb, participated as judge in the determination of the said cause of the State of Nebraska against Kennedy, et al, he would use his judicial office, by participating as aforesaid, to cloak and further the schemes of political partisans for political power and preferment and would be participating as aforesaid, violate the duties of his judicial office and the rights of certain of the parties to said last mentioned suit to speedy and impartial justice.) If it does not, then Nebraska's motto, "Equality before the law," becomes a delusion and a snare.

testify on this score evaded the point, much to the disgust of his honor, "Little Bismarck," who thundered:

"Did he done any work or didn't he done any work? Dot his vot I want to know!"

After hearing all the evidence the Justice decided that Mrs. Barrett could keep Anderson's effects.

Women Who Work

Nine out of ten women are afflicted with some of the common ailments known as "female diseases." Among women whose employment requires them to stand on their feet or sit in the same position all day, not one in twenty-five escapes these troubles. The average feminine constitution cannot unaided withstand the strain to which steady trying work subjects it. The organs of womanhood are so delicate and finely adjusted that the inevitable result of constant standing, lifting, stooping or straining is displacement of vital parts. The disorder is usually slight at first, but soon develops into irregular or painful menstruation, leucorrhoea or falling of the womb. Wine of Cardui is the right remedy for female weakness. As such it is offered to you.

Wine of Cardui

will not perform miracles, but it will, if taken as directed, insure painless and regular operation of the menstrual function. It will drive out every trace of leucorrhoea and will so strengthen the ligaments that falling of the womb will be an impossibility. Don't you think it would pay you to try a medicine with such a record as that? You can get a $1 bottle of Wine of Cardui at any drug store and use it in the privacy of your home.

Townsend, Ga., May 8, 1890. I have been in bad health with falling of the womb, weak back, nervousness and heart palpitation. At monthly periods I would be in bed suffering great pain. Lately I have been taking Wine of Cardui and Black Dragon. And they have brought me wonderful relief. I have no pain, and do not stop work at the monthly period. Mrs. LUCY SMITH.
