

CATHERING GREAT LIBRARY

State University Adds Ten Thousand Dollars' Worth of Books to Its List.

INCREASE FIVE THOUSAND BOUND VOLUMES

Collection of Bound Periodicals Particularly Large and Complete—Exchange Made of Duplicate Sets.

LINCOLN, May 21.—(Special.)—During the year just passed the University of Nebraska library has grown more than in any previous year of its history. An amount very close to $10,000 has been expended in books, binding and periodicals and the accession to the library has numbered 4,650 bound volumes.

The sources from which books are added to the library are as follows: Most of the books are bought already bound. The library takes regularly nearly 600 current periodicals and these are annually bound, forming nearly as many volumes. Several hundred volumes are also added by donation. The United States government is the largest single donor, but many of the states, institutions of learning and individuals are included in the list of gifts.

In the last year a duplicate department has been established. It is not often that the university buys duplicates, but very many are received by gift and in cataloging and consolidating the various departmental libraries a large number of duplicate volumes have been found which have been purchased in the past when buying was not so carefully guarded as it is now. These form the basis of exchange and sale. Duplicates amounting to $50 have been sold for cash during the last year and books from this department to the amount of even more have been exchanged with other libraries, publications and books of equal value. The university has in this time shipped books to the New York public library, the Boston public library, the library of congress, the University of Minnesota and the Wisconsin Historical Society. It has also given a great number of minor exchanges. The shipments to these large libraries have been in great part Nebraska university publications and copies of the documents of the various departments of the state government of Nebraska.

Completing Sets of Periodicals. Special attention has also been given this year to the completion of sets of important periodicals. This class of literature is so increasingly the medium through which the latest information and the most important scientific research appears at the present day that no reference library, and especially of a university, can be efficient unless current periodicals are largely represented. Among the sets which have been completed the last year are: Journal of the Royal Statistical Society, Journal de Physique, Zeitschrift für Instrumentenkunde, Aethnaeum, Transactions of the American Society of Mining Engineers, Electrochemische Zeitschrift, The Electrical Works of the World, McClure's Magazine, Review of Reviews, Transactions of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers, Charities Review, Jahresberichte der Geschichtswissenschaft, American Machinist, Quarterly Journal of the London Geographical Society, Zoological Record, The Electrical Works of the World, Kenosha, Anglia, Englische Studien.

The law library has more than trebled during the last year and there have been added the complete sets of state reports of Illinois, Wisconsin, Iowa, New Jersey, New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana, Michigan, the complete sets of the various series of the National Reporter System. Other notable sets added are: "World's Best Orations," ten volumes; Bradley, "Principles of Logic," "Ehrenberg Infusions-Thierchen," "Stiele's Atlas of the World," Ogilvie, "Imperial Dictionary," four volumes; "National Cyclopaedia of American Biography," ten volumes; Rison, "Ancient Popular Poetry."

The most important administrative change has been the consolidation of the libraries of all the agricultural departments in the new building at the state farm. This will make a library of nearly 4,000 volumes on agricultural subjects, which is open not only for the use of the workers in the agricultural experiment station and to the students of the Agricultural school, but freely open for reference and reading to any citizen in the state who can come here to consult it. It is now the largest agricultural library in this part of the country and is especially strong in horticulture and animal pathology. Here will be found complete sets of bulletins and reports of the experiment stations of all the other states, besides current files of more than 100 agricultural journals.

The university library is the largest reference library in the whole of the states from Texas on the south to Dakota and for a considerable territory east and west. This library is designed to serve students, scholars and those engaged in educational work in the whole state, while of course the first claims upon it are from the resident students at Lincoln. It stands ready at any time to make its books available, so far as possible in justice to its university constituency, to any one in Nebraska. And if the library becomes in time all that it should and may reasonably be expected, it will attract scholars from other states.

The university library is the center of the library interests of the state and use of it is frequently made by other public libraries, by committees that are expecting

LOCAL TREATMENT

For Catarrh is a Failure.

Local applications for catarrh if they accomplish anything at all simply give temporary relief: a wash, lotion, salve or powder cannot reach the real cause of the disease, which is the blood.

Catarrhal poison is discharged from the blood through the mucous membranes of the nose and throat, the discharge sometimes closing up the nostrils and irritating and inflaming the throat and bronchial tubes and laying the foundation for serious lung troubles.

The most successful remedies for catarrh are taken internally and should consist simply of antiseptics to cleanse the blood of catarrhal poison and remove the fever and congestion from the mucous membranes of the nose and throat.

For some years antiseptic applications have been used in washes and sprays applied locally, often giving welcome relief, but not until recently has a satisfactory antiseptic preparation for internal use been produced. It has been accepted by the general public under name of Stuart's Catarrh Tablets and has been so successful in the cure of all forms of catarrh and has become so popular among every class of catarrh sufferers that it is now sold by druggists everywhere.

It is the only catarrh cure in tablet form and being pleasant to the taste, containing no cocaine nor opiate, it is perfectly safe and palatable for children as well as adults. Chronic catarrh sufferers should bear in mind that the best time to attempt to cure is on a hot day in the spring and summer and probably no remedy as safe and so certain to bring about a permanent cure as Stuart's Catarrh Tablets.

WORK AMONG THE FREEDMEN

Presbyterians Listen to Reports of Success in This Direction—Extent of Work Shown.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., May 21.—The report of the board of missions for freedmen and the consideration of the Westchester overture occupied the morning session of the Presbytery of the Westchester church today. The first pleasant day since the opening of the assembly, together with the refreshing rest of Sunday, increased the number of visitors in attendance, and as the proceedings progressed the interest in the work of the assembly grew manifestly.

Besides the business Moderator Dickey announced the appointment of committees on the records of synods. Dr. Roberts, the fraternal greetings from the general assembly of the Presbyterian Church South, in session at Atlanta, Ga. A report which gained interest as the discussion proceeded was that of the board of missions for freedmen. The report was presented by Rev. E. Trumbull Lee, D. D., of Cincinnati, who told of the work done during the last year. The receipts, he said, were sufficient to maintain the work at a cost of $132,578 and also pay $17,875 of the debt. The receipts of 1905 for current work were $5,000 in excess of the needs, which has left a balance of $22,000 as balance if the expenses had been kept within the limit of 1899. They were increased, however, by $12,752, cutting the balance to $9,248. The shortage in the old debt account was $3,036, which was paid out of the surplus. The balance in the treasury is $192.

Amount of the Work.

The extent of the work is shown by the following figures: Ministers, 199; churches and missions, 339; added on examination, 1,841; certificates, 183; schools, 324; Sunday school scholars, 19,528; number of schools, 64; number of teachers, 231; pupils, 9,132. The amount contributed to the support was $1,782, an increase over the previous year of $1,000. The Presbyterians freedmen gave to the support of their own churches and ministers $33,981, an increase of $1,834.

Dr. Lee said there were many indications that the importance of the problem of the freedmen and elevation of the status of the negro was taking a deeper hold upon the minds of thoughtful men both north and south. Industrial schools, Dr. Lee continued, seem to have come more prominently to the front of the mind. As a result, he thought the public favor, so much so that at times there seems to be a danger of showing other schools of training and other lines of development aside as foreign to the problem.

Dr. Lee made a few supplementary remarks on the report and set out by severely scoring Rev. Henry Frank for his statement made in Carnegie hall, New York City, Sunday, that "emancipation was a failure."

The board of freedmen was one of the large boards of the church. The speaker gave a summary of figures which showed unusual results from the personal efforts of freedmen themselves.

Following the speech of Dr. Lee, Rev. E. C. Cowan, D. D., of Pittsburgh, secretary of the board, made a speech, pleading for increased interest in the work of evangelizing freedmen. He was followed by Prof. Thomas E. Miller, L. L. D., president of the Agricultural college at Orangeburg, S. C. Prof. Miller is a colored man, born on a rice plantation in South Carolina. He was educated for the legal profession at the University of the South, and has since been engaged in the industrial schools, which held the close attention of the assembly.

Rev. E. A. Torrence, a colored preacher of New Springs, Ark., spoke along the same lines. Rev. Torrence received the applause of the assembly when he made known his position on the proposed revision of the creed, by declaring that the freedmen should be trained under the Christian faith. After the tumultuous applause had died away, Dr. Dickey, the moderator, said a few more speeches like that would do no harm. The report was adopted as a whole unanimously.

Knox Presents Report.

Rev. Dr. George William Knox, professor of Auburn, Conn., presented the report of the Presbytery of Westchester, Conn., on the question of ministerial representation in church judicatories. The overture embraced a proposed change of section 2, chapter x, of the form of government by substituting that there will be a representation of all presbyteries consisting of active members, namely, all pastors and one ruling elder from each congregation within a certain district, also all ministers residing in such district appointed by the presbytery, or a superior judicatory, but not necessarily residing in such district under control of the appointing judicatory while engaged in such work, and all other ministers on its roll.

In the presbytery all members shall have the right to sit and speak, every committee shall be equally eligible to office, and active members only may vote. No presbyterial shall consist of less than five ministers who are active members.

"The principle embodied in the overture," said Dr. Knox, "is that the members who do the work of the church should shape the policy of the church. It divides the vote of the presbytery into two classes, those who vote and those who do not vote. The voting power is given to those men who are on an equality in the assembly."

Rev. Pentecost of Yonkers, N. Y., made an eloquent appeal for the overture and opposed an amendment to the overture which was introduced in the discussion to embrace in the voters those deacons who are habitually retired.

The assembly voted to hand the overture as it was submitted down to the different presbyteries of the church for their action, which will be reported to the next general assembly. At this point the assembly adjourned until afternoon.

Talks of Low Spiritual Condition.

After a long discussion on the report of the Board of Education, which occupied all afternoon, during which several sharp parliamentary skirmishes were indulged in, the Presbytery general assembly adopted the report and its recommendations unanimously. During the entire adopted discussion the rulings of the moderator were received with approbation and the business of the assembly moved along smoothly.

Rev. George B. Stewart, D. D., president of Auburn Theological seminary, Auburn, N. Y., presented the report and also made a supplementary address in which he expressed gratification with the state of the treasury, but deplored the slowness of the sons of the church in contributing to the support of the ministry, which, he said, indicated a low spiritual condition in families and congregations.

During the discussion of the report on ministerial education Rev. E. Trumbull Lee, D. D., vigorously denounced the adoption of a resolution which provided that candidates for the ministry who seek help from the board should be granted a loan of $150 a year at a low rate of interest. He declared that the Presbyterian church was not in the least business to gain and the money furnished the needy student should be given to the ministry should be a gift. Rev. Dr. William McKibben advocated that no oppressive conditions should be imposed and the matter of repayment should be left to the discretion of the student, according to his means to pay.

The overture was amended so as to make

ARRANGE FOR CONFERENCE

Woodworkers to Meet Planning Mill Owners and Discuss the Situation.

SETTLEMENT BELIEVED TO BE NEAR

Members of the Union Confident that All Difficulties Will Be Adjusted and that Work Will Be Resumed.

At 2 o'clock yesterday the press committee of the woodworkers union announced that a conference of the workmen and planning mill owners had been arranged for this morning at 10 o'clock, at which time the different phases of the question would be taken up and discussed.

The press committee states that this meeting will be the first time that the workmen have had an opportunity to meet their employers since the strike as all other business between them previous to this time was transacted by one man representing the mill owners. The members of the union express confidence in the ability of the conference to reach a settlement, and say that they believe this will be the last day of the woodworkers' strike, which has been in progress since May 1.

By a unanimous vote the painters' union of Omaha authorized the executive committee of the Lafayette branch to hold a conference with the Baltimore branch to arrange terms of conciliation. From different points come reports showing that the proposition has carried, or that it was defeated because not explicit enough. Local painters expect that the conference will be held in a month.

The special committee of the Central Labor union failed to meet the employing bakers Saturday night to discuss the strike with them, and a meeting has been called for this evening. The bakers' union has decided that no concessions will be made in the way of an increase of hours or a reduction of the demand for wages.

The Workmen's Political Association of Douglas County, the political club established by President Asa Taylor of the Central Labor union, met Sunday evening and spent the time discussing the methods to be followed in increasing the scope of the society.

Brewers Present a Scale.

The Brewery Workers' union had a special meeting at Labor temple Monday evening which was attended by some of the officers of the national organization who are visiting all the local unions in the west. They will also attend a conference to be held tomorrow between a committee of the union and the brewery owners to discuss the new contract to be entered into for the coming year. The workmen, of whom there are more than 150 in the union, say they have made no unjust demands and express the belief that what they ask for will be granted without delay.

Antiseptic Dressings.

In the recent wars gunshot wounds have proved less serious than formerly. This is owing to the use of antiseptic dressings, which cause the parts to heal without maturation and in much less time than by the old treatment. Every family may use a similar treatment for cuts, bruises and burns. Chamberlain's Pain Balm. It acts on the same principle as the antiseptic dressings of the army surgeons and is the best home treatment that can be given such injuries. It causes them to heal quickly and without maturation. It also allays the pain of a burn or scald almost instantly. It is most widely known, however, as a cure for rheumatism.

INSOMNIA

I was Tired but Could not Rest. After long Nights of Tossing and Torture, Relief Finally Came with the Use of Dr. Miles' Nervine.

The suffering and agony endured by the unfortunate person who is deprived of his sleep, can only be appreciated by those to whom a merciless fate has brought the same experience. To lie in bed, minute after minute, hour after hour, night after night, unable to close an eye; To roll and toss and thrash the bed clothes—to walk the floor, back and forth, to and fro, wishing, longing, praying for sleep to come and close the bloodshot eyes, and rest the weary brain! To look ahead and see looming up in the near future the horrible specter of threatening insanity! That awful state in which a person is lost to himself and to his friends forever—these are but a part of the agonies endured by the sleepless one. For all of which there is no better, safer or surer remedy known to man than Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine. Nothing in the past has ever equalled it in power of building up weakened nerve tissues and giving strength to the tired body. It searches out the weak parts and gives them new life and vigor.

"I suffered for months from insomnia, and tried two doctors, but got no better. Seeing an advertisement of Dr. Miles' Nervine in a paper I decided to try it. Two bottles completely cured me, and I would be recommending it to all people who are troubled as I was."

MRS. F. KILIAN, 50 Greenwood Ave., Detroit, Mich.

"Several years ago I injured my spine, and as a result, I have found it difficult to be about. I was all unstrung, nervous, suffered with great pain in my limbs and was unable to sleep. Dr. Miles' Nervine together with Anti-Pain Pills knocked the pain higher than a kite and brought sweet, refreshing sleep."
