The task devolving upon the district supervisors and enumerators is in many respects difficult impertinent to many and of little impor tance to others, but every community and the state at large is vitally concerned in the honest and efficient per formance of this work and a correct exand future reference. The federal cen sus is accepted all the world over as the standard of measurement for America's progress and development in every field of human activity.

Omaha is especially concerned at this time in securing a complete return of every inhabitant without omission and without padding. The only way to make sure of such a census is for every man, woman and child to give such assistance to the enumerators by prompt cludes also civil and respectful treatment of the men and women who are employed at this work and upon whose
