SUNDAY-At 8:30 p. m. for ST PIERRE-MIQUELON, per steamer from North Sydney. Mails for Newfoundland, by rail to North pany, a concern now absorbed by the socalled trust. Mr. Cudaby was examined as to his relationship with the Reservoir com pany by John C. Cowin. The Seymour Lake Ire company, Cudaby said, had been operated as the property of the Cudaby Packing company, at a substantial loss. The life of the ice man, he said, was not the cheerful one fabled in song and the company had lost during its last year of existence between $6,000 and $7,000. When an opportunity came, therefore, Mr. Cudshy said, he was willing to sell the business at a low price. The total receipts of the transaction with the Reser voir lee company. Mr. Cudshy testified footed up $9,800, thirty-three borses bring ing what he considered the nominal price of $70 each. The sale was consummated on December 11 and included the company's live stock, wagone and other equipment The only property reserved was the ice houses and ferty acres of submerged land it Cut-Off lake, upon which a lease was held No Restrictions on the Sale. "Mr. Cudaby asserted that he had sold to the se-called trust such property as could be used and was actually in service today. He added that there were no restrictions as to his re-entering the business today if he so chose. There was no monopoly in the business, he said, because the whole rive was offered as a field from which to secure material: Mr. Cudahy admitted he was present a the earlier meetings of the Reservoir company's promoters and that Mesers. Talbat Taliaferro and Doe were associated with him in the conferences. The purpose of the discussion, he said, was to formulate a plan to go into the los business, and Talbet was appointed to negotiate with the South Omaha and Arctic lee companies. Mr. Cudaby was questioned as to the pa ture of Mr. Talbot's later report, when the defense entered the objection that such a statement would not be the best evidence After some parley General Cowin conceded the point, remarking, with a wave of the that the Reservoir company only de sired that the whole facts should be brough to light.

The witness said that a list of properties of the various concerns was included in the report, with the market price of each attached. The further information was secured that each dealer wished to go out of business. Mr. Cudahy had no idea as to what price was paid for the Arctic, South Omaha and Lamoreaux companies and could not recall that any discussion of competition had been entered into. Those who had taken stock in the new concern had paid for it in cash. Mr. Cudahy's holdings amounting to $15,000. The witness said, however, that NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS and Secretary. The building trades council Thursday night disciplined the executive board and left the ouncil without head of formation for a week. The fun began when the secretary read the minutes of the previous meeting showing that there was no demand made for the resignation of the executive officers. In a minute W. H. Bell was upon his feet demanding that the minutes be corrected to show that the resignations had been demanded. The president of the council sided with the secretary. The council sustained the delegate from the painters' union and the minutes were changed to conform with the council's idea of the facts. Then a reso lution was passed declaring the offices of president, vice president and secretary vacant and instructing the secretary to turn all books and papers over to the board of trustees. The carpenters' delegates were not pres nt. The bricklayers treated with silent contempt the demand of the council for the payment of dues and the return of their delegates. It is stated that the council will reorganize upon a basis of mutual support for the weaker unions, and that the unions which have withdrawn will find have decided to join the carpenters and
