RUCCO FINDS HIS LOST SON

Happy Denouement of What Appeared to Be a Case of Kidnaping.

WAS BEING CARED FOR BY MRS. FINDLEY FOR HIM.

Found the Boy Asleep in the Road and Took Him to Her Home and Told His Parents Called for Him.

An excited Italian, who gave the name of Sebastian Rocco, called at the police station yesterday and demanded the immediate return of his 3-year-old son, Ferdinand, whom, he hinted, the police had assisted to kidnap. When told that no member of the department was informed as to the whereabouts of the child he shrugged his shoulders and looked wise. It was evident that he suspected a deep-laid conspiracy. And the police admitted that the circumstances attending the disappearance of the child were somewhat unusual.

About 9 o'clock Thursday night a handsomely dressed woman drove up to the station in her carriage and sent word to Desk Sergeant Harvey that while driving on North Eighteenth street a few minutes before she had seen a little boy lying asleep in the middle of the street. If her horses had not shied, she said, she would probably have driven over him.

An officer was sent out to the carriage to talk with her. The child was still asleep. She had picked him up so carefully, she said, that he had not been aroused. Was the police matron there? No? Then she would not leave the boy. She would take him home and keep him until his parents sent for him. Her name was Mrs. Findley. Five-and-a-half, the name was spelled, and she lived at 522 South Twenty-fifth avenue.

NO PROFIT IN EXCURSIONS

Low Rates Stimulate Travel to an Extent, but Fail to Bring Returns.

Despite the fact that the first of the west-bound summer excursions Thursday were more than successful in point of patronage, all of the railroads having to bring into service all of their available extra equipment, a prominent passenger official of one of the lines interested summed up his observations of low rate excursions from the standpoint of the railroads in this manner: "Low rate excursions are all right in the measure of stimulating travel to a degree, but as a revenue producer I consider them far from a success. I believe that there is a smaller percentage of profit in the low rate excursion business than most railroad men themselves appreciate."

LOOKING FOR PRODIGAL SON

Young Missions Who Wanted to See the World Has a Rough Experience. J. K. Shacklett and S. A. Miller of Gorin, Mo., are in Omaha in quest of Warrick Shacklett, the 19-year-old son of the first named. Gorin is a small town in Scotland county, Mo., and young Shacklett decided that he must see more of the world. Two weeks ago he went to Cheyenne, Wyo. He had not been in the western city more than a day before he was robbed of all of his money and decided that he would go home. He left in a passenger coach, but was willing to return in a box car and in that conveyance left Cheyenne. At Lasalle, Colo., he was thrown from the train and was

PARALYSIS AND COFFEE

Symptoms Disappear When Drug "Tea and Coffee" were Forbidden by a Physician.

Coffee is such a direct poison to the nerve centers of many highly organized people that it produces all sorts of disorders, from stomach and bowel troubles, palpitation of the heart, kidney troubles, etc., up to more intricate nervous troubles, such as paralysis. The way to keep well is to get off coffee or any other destructive habit, and use Postum Food Coffee. It is a direct builder of the nerve centers.
