Higher Market at Liverpool Causes an Early Bulge.

THERE IS FAIRLY ACTIVE TRADE IN CORN

Oats Open Strong, in Sympathy with Wheat and Corn-Provisions Are Quiet. Opening Strong on Moderate Hog Receipts.

CHICAGO, July 5 .- A higher market at Liverpool resulted in a bulge here early tobut the market reacted because of rains in the northwest, closing steady, August a shade under Tuesday. Corn closed shade lower and oats isc down. Provisions closed steady and but little changed. The opening chorus in wheat was a glad all refrain concerning a id advance at Liverpool, the extreme gravity of the Chinese situation and, a little later, it swelled out into a choral welcome to a 2d bulge, accomplished by the big grain center of the "right little tight little island." August opened Pa@Psc to Pa@Psc over Tuesday at 80%818. One long selzed this opportunity to unload a good lot, said to have been 750,000 bu., and another chorus of traders, in voices of various strength, entered singing of the rains which fell yesterday in the northwest, just as they have been doing for some days. As they sang the old song they sold and the market was gradually forced down. At 80%c, which was touched during the forenoon, the market received some support from foreign shorts whose eyes were on the Chinese situation and a recovery to 80%c followed. The hears found the bulge more of an inducement to continue their selling and jumped on the price, hammering it down to 70%070%c. The close showed the bulge and a shade more gone. The market has steadled however, and the wind up was over the bottom, August at 75%c. New York reported 12 loads taken for export. Clearances at the seabeard in wheat and flour were equal to 551,000 bu. Primary receipts aggregated 428,000 bu. compared with 770,000 last year. Minneapolis and Duluth reported 229 cars, against 338 last week and 121 a year ago. Local receipts were 120 cars, 1 of contract grade. bulge, accomplished by the big grain cen-

770,000 last year. Minneapolls and Duluth reported 250 cars, against 338 last week and 521 a year ago. Local receipts were 120 cars, 1 of contract grade.

There was a fairly active market in corn. The best prices of the day came early in sympathy with the wheat bulge and higher cables from Liverpool. The dry winds which furnished a buil motive Tuesday were displaced by rains today, all of which the beara took into consideration. The wheat decline from the top also proved an influence later as it had early and the best prices did not hold. There was a big cash husiness, however, and the close, although a shade under Saturday, was steady. August sold between 42%c and 2%c and closed at 43%c. It was the strength of the cash situation which was mainly instrumental in causing a reaction from the bottom. Receipts were 576 cars. Country offerings were irregular—large in some cases and small in others.

Onto opened strong in sympathy with wheat and corn, which, as hereinbefore mentioned, showed strength at that time. A good speculative business was done and although the market eased off from the top in sympathy with the later maneuvers of the other grains the market on the whole was a steady one. Receipts were 2% cars in sympathy with the later maneuvers of the other grains the market on the whole was a steady one. Receipts were 2% cars. August sold between 24c and 234c and closed 16c lower at 234c.

Provisions were quiet. The market opened strong on moderate hog receipts, higher prices at the yards and in sympathy with wheat and corn. The reaction in grains, the weakening of the hog market later and a desire for profits led to a reaction from the best prices, but the close found the market fairly steady. September pork sold between $13.05 and $12.90 and closed a shade over Tuesday at $12.900 12.92%; September lard, between $7 and $6.93%, closing 23% higher at $6.95, and $8.95 tember ribs, between $7.17% and $7.05, with the close a shade down at $7.07% 207.10.

Large amounts of the selling for London account had their initiative in Berlin. The home market began to rally with increasing vigor after this selling had ceased. The depressing influences of the Chinese situation was converted for home use into a factor of positive strength and for the first time since the scare over the crops became an issue the prices for wheat and for stocks advanced simultaneously. The argument was that in the event of extensive military operations in China much material would have to be supplied from our Pacific coast. The rally was conspicuously aided by speculation on the part of prominent bear leaders. There was much bolitical prediction accompanying the professional operations. A rise of My points in Jersey Central furthered their efforts. The movement was accompanied by continued talk of the change of the control in the interest of Baltimore & Ohio. The latter stock, Pennsylvania, Missouri Pacific and Reading first preferred were actively bid up by the bull operators. The same element was influential in lifting Sugar over 3 points. The local traction stocks and a number of the leading industrials also showed occasional strength. The metal stocks were all notably strong and advanced from 1 to 3 points after the opening decline on the growing conviction that prices of iron are approaching a basis where consumptive demands will come into the market. There were some recessions on profit taking and one or two final shares advanced, but the close generally was about steady near the high level. The money market continued quiet and there was no evidence of largely increased supplies from the July payments.

The bond market was fairly active, but the movement of prices was irregular. Total sales, par value, $1.36,000. United States new is declined it and there was a slight general tendency to recover. NEW YORK, July 5.—Today's cotton market was less active than any of late, with the trade showing evidences of indecision. The influences bearing upon sentiment were varied and not easily weighed. The first factors to be considered was a pronounced advance in the English market, both spot cotton and future delivery cotton being affected there by rumors of continental failures, continued feverish demand for spot cotton for European spinners an auparent effort on the part of buyers to buil the market and the knowliners and automated advance in the receipters and buying for the account of local shorts. Before midday both Liversool and New York were affected by sensational political news from China and a fine weather map and selling for long and short accounts here and abroad carried prices off sharply Later in the session prices railled on light covering by local parties, closing the market quiet and steady, at a net rise of 4600 years.

HOGS—There was rather a light run of hogs today, fresh receipts being only about 5.500 head. Early reports from other markets were favorable to sellers, and as a result onening bids were about 50 higher than Thesday's general market. A few hogs changed hands on the opening, light weights bringing around 50.05 and $5.07\(\frac{1}{2}\), and heavier hous going from that price up to $5.10. Later on prices frmed up and the market took on more life, so that practically everything was sold at an early hour. The long string brought $5.07\(\frac{1}{2}\), with the better quality and weights selling at $5.10 and better. The close was strong, or about $7\(\frac{1}{2}\) floc higher than Tuesday's general market. Chicago's weak close coming to late to be effective.

SON OF AN IRISH KING.

Civil War.

If ever there was a gallant and true-hearted Irish gentleman, says the Kansas City Journal, the late General Tim McCarthy of Kansas filled that bill. He was known to the younger generation in Kansas as a genial yet dignified min, who always appeared scrupulously dressed, and for twenty-five years he was absolutely a teetotaler. Yet in his younger days he was a rollicking lad who liked his poteen as well as the next, and he lived among rough men in a rough way upon the western border.

At the close of the civil war Tim joined the regular army and soon became sergeant Passing of a Noted Soldier of the men In a rough way upon the western border.

At the close of the civil war Tim joined the regular army and soon became sergeant major of the Third infantry. His regiment was sent to western Kansas to take part in the Indian war of 1888, and Fort Waliace was the post at which Tim was stationed. In the whole army there was no more cheery, handsome or solderly young fellow than Sergeant Major Tim McCartiy, His conduct way perfect except on widing the sounder of the post carsied occasions, when he would commune with the surfer's but he would commune with the surfer's fight with Sitting Bull, determined to give Tim a wholesome lesson. He sent for the surfer and told him that he must stop selling the sergeant Highor. Shortly after the issuance of this order Tim found himself refused, and he straightway betook himself to Captain Keogh's quarters.

"Is it true, captain, what the suller has been tailin' me?" said Tim as he came to attention before the commanding officer "Yes, it's true. Tim. You moment man as you have been doing this week. You'll set not another drink until you are entirely and the sulfer with the pride of centuries and said.

For a moment Tim looked at the captain in dull amazement. Then, pulling himself together, he struck a superb military attitude, threw out his chest with the pride of centuries and said.

For a moment Tim looked at the captain in this free country whin he soon of an Irish king. Tim marched away to his quarters with head erect and nostrils expanding, but searcely had he arrived when in walked the captain's orderly with this message.

"The commanding officer informs Sergeant McCarthy that the order has been revoked and that Sergeant McCarthy may go to hell in his own way as fast as he wants to."

Old-timers in Kansas will remember that General McCarthy used of ten to be joked General McCarthy

Old-timers in Kansas will remember that Old-timers in Kansas will remember that General McCarthy used often to be lokes about being the son of an Irish king. This is the true story of the origin of the expression, as related by General McCarthy himself. He may or may not have had the blood of royal Ireland in his veins, but he was a prince in his own right and those who knew him loved him.

Excommunicates an Archbishop.

NEW YORK, July 5.—News has been received from Rome that the pope has excommunicated J. Rene Villatte, at one time the head of the Old Catholics in this country, whose submission to the Rome church was announced about two years ago. The Catholic authorities had refused to recognize Villattes title to an archibishopey and there was a rupture that caused him to leave home and go to France. The act for which Villatte has been excommunicated was the consecrating as bishop of an Italian ex-priest known as Don Miragia. Villatte is well known in the United States and is a Frenchman about 45 years old. Excommunicates an Archbishop.
