SIOUX CITY, July 30 .- (Special Tele gram.)-The Omahas outplayed the Sioux this afternoon, winning to the tune of 5 to 3 and placed to their credit one of the cleverest triple plays that has been made in the Western league this season. It happened in the forth inning and spoiled Sloux City's chance of scoring. McCreedie had lined out a stiff single and Brashear followed him with a base on balls. Glasscock, the next man up, pounded out a drive that looked good to the base runners, but It landed a fly in the mits of Baird at second base. Before either McCreedie could get back to second or Brashear to first, both men were thrown out with a wide margin to spare and the inning closed. amid wild cheering. The Omahas played without an error and had a little the better of the batting. The Indians played loosely and Parvin was not in his usual form. Score:

DEFEATED MAN THROWS UP

As Far as it Went Battle Was Biff-Bang from Round's End to Round's End, with Honors More or Less Even.

In the early stages of the fight O'Brien did fairly well and with his rushing tactics kept McFadden blocking on the defensive, but as the battle went on McFadden's superior strength began to tell and it was plain to be seen that O'Brien was in difficulties. In the tenth round O'Brien's legs began to give out and it was only a question then how long his pluck and endurance would carry him.

In the twelfth round O'Brien was sent to the floor three times with lefts and rights over the heart and was in such bad condition that when he went to his corner at the end of the round he was advised to give up. He complained of his left side, but he insisted on going on. However better counsel prevailed and he was induced to shake hands with McFadden, who would certainly have put him out in another round. When O'Brien was examined by a physician when he reached his dressing room it was discovered that the seventh and eighth ribs on his left side were

McGovern Can Whip Either. There were about 5,000 persons in the house, most of whom had seen the Erne-McGovern contest two weeks ago. It was the general impression that McGovern could beat either of the lightweights in tonight's bout. Before the fight came off there was a twelve-round go at 115 pounds between Charley Garrigan and Terry Edwards, both of Brooklyn. The work of these two bantams was amateurish and the contest ended in a draw. The betting on the McFadden-O'Brien bout was not very brisk. McFadden was the favorite, at 100 to 60, early in the evening, but later these odds were increased, 2 to 1 being freely laid on McFadden and even money that he would win within fifteen Both lads weighed in this afternoon, each being under the limit of 133

McFadden was first to enter the ring, accompanied by his seconds. Billy Roche. Harry Tuttle, Archie Martin and Tommy Shortell. Two minutes later O'Brien got into the opposite corner. His handlers were Tom O'Rourke, Paddy Moran and Sammy The men were announced to go twenty-five rounds at the lightweight limit. First round-O'Brien tried left for body, but was short. McFadden put right to ear and left for body, but missed them. O'Brien rushed into a clinch, laiting McFadden low. He rished again, landing his left on ribs. They clinched three times after this, without landing a good blow. O'Brien tried left for body, but is was blocked and a clinch followed. McFadden hooked left to the head. O'Brien getting to the body

Second round—McFadden began forcing and, going to a clinch, got left to the face. He then tried left and right, but O'Brien ducked safely. O'Brien rushed, but McFadden countered him. McFadden got to close guarters and lifted O'Brien with a hard one on the body. McFadden then closed in, forcing Jack to clinch. Mac got close and landed hard on body. Mac threw a left to the body. O'Brien put left to chest and Mac sent left and right to ribs. There was a lot of clinching, after which Jack forced Mac to the rope, landing on eye. Illinois National Guard, and commander of the post at Camp Lincoln, today or deed a court of inquiry to ascertain, if possible, who was responsible for the premature discharge of the evening gun yesterday, by which ten men were injured. It is suggested that friction might have caused the explosion, but the general theory is that it was a lighted cigarette of the cannon, which had spilled from the thrown into the powder lying at the mouth of the cannon, which had spilled from the Stack.

Of the most seriously wounded, Corporal Charles Balsley is very weak and suffering for action, but the physicians have hopes of saving his life. Private Jesse Rupert's case is critical. Private Albert Stevens is much worse, but his recovery is looked for if lockjaw or blood poisoning does not set in. Private Sharp is out of danger.

Fight with Their Hends.

Eighth round—Mac swung right to head Jack drove left to wind and they exchanged rights. Both hooked lefts to the head and ripped their rights to body. Jack was the aggressor, but Mac in a breakaway caught him neatly with a right on the head. Mac swung his left to the body, and their heads came together with a loud bang. Mac went in with a hard drive to the body and had Jack pretty well tangled un toward the close of the round. When Jack returned to his corner he was evidently dazed from their heads coming together.

Ninth round—Jack rushed in with several lefts to the body. He got Mac to his own corner and shook him up with hard smashes on the body and face and dazed him. He then sent Mac to the ropes with right and left swings on the head, putting him on the defensive. Very fast work followed, both men fighting fiercely with both hands. O'Brien followed Mac, landing right and left.

Jack, after a clinch, started for his man, but was sent back with a flerce uppercut on the chin. Jack's gameness was very palpable, but each time he was cut across the body with either hand. Mac drove a flerce right hander under the heart, when Jack rell to the fleor, taking the count. Mac went to him with the same punch with the same result. Jack was up in nine seconds but Mac was after his man and put him down again. Jack got up quickly and gamely held out till the gong sent them to their corners.

NEW YORK. July 30.—George McFadden, the local lightweight boxer, administered a severe drubbing to Jack O'Brien, formerly of Halifax, N. S., but now a resident of this city, before the Twentieth Century Athletic club at Madison Square Garden tonight. The pair met for a twenty-five-round bout at the lightweight limit, 133 pounds, but there were only twelve rounds of fighting. O'Brien was so badly punished in the twelfth round that he was forced to give up when the bell rang for the beginning of the thirteenth round and instead of putting up his hands for attack or defense, he extended his gloved right hand to McFadden, giving the latter the bout.

In the early stages of the fight O'Brien did

Match with Local Middleweight.

Louis Friedman, a clever pugilist from Rochester, N. Y., who recently arrived in Omaha, is seeking a match with Paul Murray, the local black boy whose supporters tout him for a comer in pugilistic circles. As near as can be learned the two men are about on a parity in point or past experience, neither yet having reached a position where their fame has been widespread, but both bid fair to be heard from among the middleweights.

Peter Loch has taken Friedman under his wing and will act as his manager.

Mr. Loch has deposited with the sporting editor of The Ree a forciet of $15 for a finish right between Friedman and Murfay for $25 a side, by so doing issuing a challenge carries with it the necessity of both men weighing in at the ring-latter the bout.

OPENING DAY AT COLUMBUS

Best Feature of Harness Racing Wa Unfinished Event for 2:16

The only real excitement of the day was furnished by the 2.38 pace, which was postponed after four heats, two of which had been taken by the favorite, Annie Thornton. The Admiral proved to be the sensational performer in this race. He took the first heat almost in a walk. In the second he got away picely, but broke in the first quarter and dropped back several lengths. The little bay made a hurricane finish, however, and was beaten only a head by Harna Patchen.

The Admiral made a game fight in the third heat, but was driven almost off his feet at the wire, after he had moved up side by side with the leader. Annie Thornton. The fourth heat was fought out by the favorite and Harna Patchen. Anna Thornton winning by a nose in a drive. The Summarles:

DROPS FLAG TO FALSE START

CHICAGO, July 30.—Jiminez easily won the Clyde stakes this afternoon after a hard drive with Handyman and Possart. Through an error on the part of the track flagman the first race was run twice. Starter Holtman and the timer did not drop their flags, but the trackman, who operated the real flag, thought it was a go and sent the field away. The first attempt was won by Rio de Alter, with Invictus second, while Fildelin, at 3 to a finished third. After the horses had cooled off the race was run off. NEW YORK, July 30.—A driving rain limited the attendance at Brighton Beach to the regulars. The track was a sea of mud, but form was lived up to, four favorites winning.
