The McKinley and Roosevelt club of the cott on the Jacob Richtmann, one of the First ward held a rousing meeting at Eighth and Hickory streets last night. Prior to the introduction of speakers some routine business was transacted. The resignation of R. K. Paxton as president of the club was read and accepted. Quite a number of candidates were present and all were given a hearing. Charles Unitt started out with a half hour's talk on republicanism and patriotism, and showed by quoting statistics how much better off the country is today than it was four years ago, when under democratic Ho said that all the laboring men of the United States wanted now is an opportunity to work and they will work out their own salvation. In his opinion Bryan is trying to ride into the office of presidert on a false issue.

M. A. Hall of the Ninth ward followed along the same lines. He announced his candidacy for the legislature, as did also Harry Fischer, who was next called upon. Mr. Fischer stated that four years ago carpenters were working for 15 cents an hour and hundreds were idle. Now they are receiving 40 cents an our and very few if any are out of work. He said he knew what he was talking about, as he is a carpenter himself.

TOM WHITE'S RECORD OF CRIME of Spekane are at the Millard.

Negro Burglar Under Arrest Has a Long List Charged Against Him.

Chief of Police Donahue has been looking up the criminal record of Tom White, the negro burglar arrested Wednesday afternoon by Detectives Shoop and Savage at South Omaha and what has been found thus far proves him to be a desperate character far proves him to be a desperate character and, therefore, an important catch. The chief has received records from the warden of the state penitentiary, together with Bertillon measurements and photographs. These show that White was first sent up from Douglas county March 1, 1878, for from Douglas county March 1, 1878, for burglary and served five years, being released March 1, 1883. He was next sentenced on October 4, 1888, for ten years on the same charge. His imprisonment commenced October 31 and ended November 4, 1895, sentence being cut down on account of good behavior. Before being taken to the penitentiary the last time White swore he would return and kill the judge who sent him up, but the latter left Omaha some years ago. White also said after his sentence was pronounced that he was only 42 years old and "Well, we won't have another year of had served ten years. His work in Omaha the last few weeks has proved this assertios. When the negro was "shown up" at roll call Friday evening at the police station. Chief Donahue gave his history to the assembled policemen and also questioned him. Among other things he was asked what he would do it some man would wake up while he was going through his house and attempt to stop him. Without a me the Omaha city hall that started in March.

"Well, we won't have another year of politics like this in a long time to come." This sentiment has gained considerable strength and stands in marked contrast with the statements made by the same class of persons in 1896. When they were then warned as to the evil consequences that would follow Mr. Bryan's election they said: "Times cannot be made worse than they are now. We are willing to risk any new theory in the hope of relief."

The republicans are united, well organized and making a vigorous campaign.

There is but little if any doubt that White will be convicted and sentenced for many burglaries he has done in Omaha lately. Much evidence has already been secured and more is accumulating daily. The police more freely when he is safely behind the penitentiary bars again, for he is a very bad man to have around loose.

He has beaten down all opposition to his views has retained the presidency of the company and continued his iron grasp upon the industries and enterprises of millions of people. His sudden taking off will cause consternation in western railroad circles and temporary chaos in his own ompany. Who will be his successor as the head of the Southern Pacific and its connecting lines is a problem. Were Fred Crocker, son of Charles Crocker, still living, he would be the man no doubt, but there is now no one in the directorate of the company of sufficient ability or influence to attract public attention in this regard.

Among the costly mansions on Nob hill, San Francisco, which are pointed out to strangers, the most attractive in appearance is one built by Colton, an attorney who was closely identified with the early history of the Central Pacific. that formaldehyde sails under various 'aliases." When bought at a supply house, he said, it is known as "milkine," "slickine" and "liquid sweet," but the Paulsen brothers claimed not to recognize any of these pseudonyms.

Upon motion of their attorney, C. A. Baldwin, the case was dismissed as to Hernan Paulsen, as the evidence showed that the sample of "medicated" milk had been taken from a wagon driven by his brother,

Attorney Baldwin furnished considerable inability to pronounce the word "formaldehyde." Here is an interview in the castern papers with W. E. Andrews, former congressman from the Fifth Nebraska district and now auditor of the treasury, giving the results and citizens generally will breathe much of his observations during his recent visit venient distance from their back doors, as to his home state:

to his home state:

Politically. Nebraska stands in the "doubtful column" at present. The state has enjoyed a great share of the general prosperity during the last three years. Financial conditions have been greatly improved during that period of time and President McKinley has become very pomlar among the people of the state. Although money was in great demand in 1896, it was almost impossible to obtain loans, even upon the best real estate securities. The few loans that were made drew 8 or 9 per cent interest. Two years thereafter money was seeking investments, loans, even upon the best real estate securities. The few loans that were made drew 8 or 9 per cent interest. Two years thereafter money was seeking investments, but the applications for loans were few and the rates of interest were reduced to 8 or 7 per cent, and many loans have been made at 5 per cent. This reduction of interest charges has resulted in a great saving upon the total mortgaged indebtedness of the state.

A certain bank, located in a village of about $60 people, held deposits amounting to $27,000 the middle of October, 1896, nearly all of which belonged to merchants. Two years from that date its deposits amounted to $77,000, $50,000 of which belonged to farmers. This case illustrates the improved ers. This case illustrates the impro-conditions that now prevail throughout the ignore the orders of the committee in the matter of issuing a call for the selection of delegates to the county nominating convention," said one of the hangers-on around the Peter Cooper headquarters. The committee passed a resolution declaring that all who were delegates to the state convention at Grand Island should be retained as delegates to our county convention and that the committeemen in the various precincts should be allowed to fill vacancies in those precincts where For the advancement of Judge Edgar vacancies exist. This did not suit Morearty Howard's house-to-house canvass for votes for some reason, for when he issued his call he did not mention the provision of the resolution in relation to those who attended the Grand Island convention, his one aggressive poodle has already seriously call providing that the committeemen in interfered with the course of the judge's the various wards should select the delecampaign for congress by sinking his teeth gates. This call was published, but imin the candidate's leg, as 'ff two-legged mediately some of Morearty's associates thought they saw in his call a plan under which it would be possible to pack the convention for some sinister purpose and he was accordingly deposed for disobedience and a new secretary appointed."

"I was out of the city," said Morearty, when the action was taken, but I haven't not only an assistant sergeant-at-arms at worried much over it.
