DUSTY COONS DOES REMARKABLE WORK

Pitches Two Grent Cames Against Pueblo and Wins Both, the First One Being a Very Sent Shutout,

Omaha, 2-8; Pueblo, 0-5. Denver, S; Des Moines, 4. Sionx City, 4-9; St. Joseph, 6-0. Detroit, 3; Chicago, 1. Buffalo, 9; Minneapolis, S.

Omaha won two games from the tailenders Sunday afternoon with an alacrity that suggests that the Colts have struck the same gait again which they had the early part of the season. Both contests were entirely devoid of lunkhead playing on the part of the locals and every man on the team was up and agoing all through the double-header.

Dusty Coons accomplished that which stamps him as a pitcher of more than ordinary ability. He pitched both games and during the first his offerings were an unsolvable riddle for the Greasers and they were shut out without a sign of a score. In the second game Coons weakened somewhat, but even then he pitched an article of ball far above the average. an article of ball far above the average.

The dual struggle was witnessed by an has had to be kept in check for the most part of the time since that awful streak and spent itself with an abandon that showed too plainly how popular the great national game is in Omaha. The big grandstand and both bleachers were crowded and the throng easily numbered

The five hits charged up to Coons' account in the first game were bunched, three of them being made in the third inning and two of these were scratches. That to scores were made at this juncture tells only too eloquently how fine were the fielding operations of the Colts. With the bases full Whitridge batted a grounder down to Coons. Dusty returned it to Thiel, if. home, putting out McHale, who was running from third, and Mobile Lauzon fired the leather down to first in time to retire Whitridge. The next man went out at first and a brilliant opportunity to score was nextly ninned in the bud. The first with the state of th was neatly nipped in the bud. The first Weimer, p. run of the Omahas was forced in by Comedian Johnson's wildness, Lauzon getting a double cushion and advancing by easy stages across the plate on three successive stages across the plate on three successive preston, of bases on balls, which Johnson gratuitously Mohler, 2b. presented the locals. The second run one Hiller, if from a base on balls and wild throw by from a base on balls and wild throw by Third Baseman Kelly, which permitted Hickey, rf. Lawler to advance from the initial bag.

The second game was featured by Stub Eyler, p. Toman's phenomenal work. In five times at but he made a single, double and two triples. In the field he outshone all of his former brilliancy, making five put-outs his former brilliancy, making five put-outs and eight assists. Aside from this the exhibition was of no particular interest. Nevertheless, it was one of those rip-roaring contests, the result of which was in doubt until the last inning was finished doubt until the last inning was finished and the crowd had plenty of opportunity to stir things up and make the welkin ring. St. Joseph took the first game from Sioux. City today without much difficulty and the visitors were ahead in the second game visitors were ahead in the second game also when a squabble arose over a decision by Umpire Cline and the St. Joseph club refused to play. Niles was on first base in the first half of the seventh, when Berte knocked a ball to Davis at first. Davis threw the ball to second, catching Niles and then claimed he had touched first base before throwing. Cline called Berte safe, however, and the decision was eminently fair. The visitors refused to accept the decision and kicked persistently. Cline put Maupin and Strang out of the game. St Joseph refused to go on and the game was given to Stoux City. The Sloux City pitches was knocked out in each game and Gilliam, a young man whom Manager Beall picked up in a small town, was substituted and did excellent work. The home team came near pulling out of the hole in the nint tinning in the first game. Store, first game: Stoux City.

DES MOINES, Sept. 2.—(Special Teleof losing, came upon the Colts uncorked gram)-Umpire Jack Grim escaped from the base ball grounds here today during the game by the aid of the police and a cab. In the eighth inning he gave one of the players a base on a blocked ball, and the players a base on a blocked ball, and it angered the crowd. About 2,500 people were in attendance, and those on the field started for Grim. They began to throw cushions and rocks at him. The police rushed up and drew their guns, while Grim fled. The police kept the drowd back while he rushed into a back and was driven off at a run. Buck Weaver took his place as umpire and the crowd petted him with cushions after the game was over, a few bricks adding to the effectiveness of the cushions. Score: cushions. Score DES MOINES.

In reporting the Brewster-Broken Bow game he states that it was all the unmire's fault and that through his many decisions in favor of Brewster the game was won. Brewster won the game on its mei's, aided by good battling and swiendid concling. It is true that the Broken Bow rooters very hearly mobbed the umpire. ESSEX, In. Sept. 2.—(Special.)—The business men of Essex subscribed $5.0 inday to be used in purchasing a suitable base bill ground and putting the same in proper shape. A stock company will be organized and a tournament will be neld overy fall. The new grounds are on the south side, are of ample size and will be a beauty. lews, head of the banking house of Henry Clews & Co., writes of the situation in Wall street: Current events are not favorable to the success of any pronounced buil campaign at this time. While what seem considered basic conditions are generally satisfactory and might be depended upon in ordinary Yesterday the Fairments played two games and won them both. In the forenoon they beat the Reserves by a score of 9 to 3 and in the afternoon, in a ten-inning contest, they beat the Bankers Union team said conditions are generally satisfactory and might be depended upon in ordinary times to develop an active and stronger market, yet, in view of the numerous incertainties regarding domestic politics, the chinese imbrokies and the money market, it would be felly to attempt any organized upward movement until the outlook in these respects is somewhat improved. Added to these factors is the evident unwillingness of the public to buy stocks at the present level in the absence of some very decided stimulus. Such a stimulus might have been forthcoming had the big operators taken hold and exercised their lifting powers, but evidently, for such reasons as just suggested, they have elected to postpone activities of that sort until a more propitious time.

Hestation of this sort naturally encouraged the trading element to take the short side of the market, and sales on this account, as well as for a few very weary bulls, have been the only relief in an exceedingly monotonous and uninteresting market.

Secretary Gage has quite opportunely warned the country of the real danger from aliverism. The law of March 11, as it now stands, is perfectly safe when interpreted by those whose faith is pledged to the gold standard; if, however, administered by its enemies or those pledged to silver it could not be depended upon to maintain the gold standard. It is still possible, if those in a authority were so inclined, for this government to pay its expenses and redeem its obligations in silver dollars as well as gold dollars. Gold payments would, of course, cause at once if such a change of podey were attempted.

That a peril of such gravity is possible.

dollars. Gold payments would, of course, cease at once if such a change of policy were attempted.

That a peril of such gravity is possible from a simple change of administration should be sufficient warning to the sound money interests to rouse themselves into vigorous activity, the danger from apathy in that quarter being almost equal to the danger from the strength of the silver party four years ago.

Without discussing politics, as such, it is perfectly proper to warn the people that if these possibilities should even be turned into probabilities at the next election the present era of prosperity would be suddenly ended and the whole country would be thrown into a state of business depression more violent than that feared four years ago, because the shock would not have been softened by several years of anticipation. Silverism should be crushed for good next November and nothing but apathy will prevent. The danger of over confidence, however, is a very serious one.

The situation of affairs in China seems to have passed in considerable degree from the military to the diplomatic stage. If Li Hung Chang's credentials as an intermediary in peace negotiations be satisfactorily attested the matter of settlement should not be overdifficult, that is, in regard to this country's claims, especially in view of the consistent attitude of our government throughout the rebellion. Our policy has been continually firm, but friendly and has been so ably administered as to leave us without the vestige of an entanglement.

There have naturally been rumors of dissensions among the allies in China, but the latest phase of development in the diolomatic situation should go far toward clearing the way for an early retirement of the troops from China.

Effect of Russia's Declaration.

Effect of Russia's Declaration.

Russia has heretofore asserted that her interests in the far east were identical with stance of America and now comes forth with tangible proof in a distinct declaration against the dismemberment of China and a perfect commercial accord with us in the open-door policy. Such a position upon the part of America and Russia must carry great weight in the calculations of the other powers and will undoubtedly simplify a settlement of the trouble. It is reassuring, indeed, that the very government suspected of entertaining the most far-reaching ulterior designs in this affair should take such a wise and friendly attitude. It is another link in the traditional friendship between that great monarchy and the great Effect of Russia's Declaration. several small institutions than had been expected.

The coal scarcity continues and is much discussed. An advance of one mark per ton has been made in Silesia. The burning of peat has begun in Berlin on a large scale. The proposed reduction of railroad freights on imported coal, as the papers point out cannot attract English coal, owing to its dearness, but will leave the field open for American coal. It would be singular if the enterprising Americans should let the present trouble pass without a powerful effort to increase the coal export. The Boersen Zeitung remarks: "The German demand must depend upon American coal for the next few months."

LONDON. Sent 2—The stock exchange was more cheering last week owing to the end of the Taff Vale railroad strike, to the belief that the war in South Africa is drawing rapidly to a close, and to the probability of the withdrawal of the allies from Pekin. Business, however, shows no signs of revival, although those who fancy themselves in the knowing argue that there must be large sums awaiting investment which earned be held much longer and that a boom will soon come, a feature of which will be the rise of consols and all other gild-edged securities.

The principal dark spot on the financial horizon is the possibility of a big Russian loan contracted in France, it is known that Russia needs something like £40.000.00 (1900) to complete the Trans-Siberian railroad the necessity or which has been demonstrated during the Chinese crisis. It
