FITTING A SCHOOL TO A SITE

Problem That Confronts the Board of Education Just Now.

LOCATION CHOSEN NOT AN IDEAL ONE

Difficulties Encountered in Preparing the Street Tract for Occupancy by the Proposed New High School Building.

D. W. Otis, agent for the Street property which the Board of Education decided to purchase for the site for the new high school building, has received a telegraph dispatch from A. W. Street to the effect that it is perfectly willing to open up Third street, between Fifth and Sixth avenues, and that the deed to the city to the ground necessary had been mailed by him.

The property known as the "Street tract" on which the Board of Education proposes to erect the new high school, cannot be even a stretch of the imagination be called a central location and is far more difficult of access than the Oakland avenue site, which was condemned by the state superintendent of public instruction as not being sufficiently central.

It is, it is said, however, a possibility of the board changing its mind again here it is no secret that at least three of the members are opposed to locating the school there and would be only too willing to vote to rescind the action in selecting this property and to choose a site elsewhere. There has also been some talk of injunction proceedings being brought against the school board on the grounds that the site is not centrally located.

WORRIED THE MANAWA MANAGERS.

Three Strangers Who Littered Near the Park Are Under Arrest. Three strangers giving the names of John Quinn, James Quinn and Lee Dorr were arrested yesterday afternoon at Lake Manawa. The three men are charged with littering near the park.

MONROE COUNTY COURT.

OSAWA, Ia., Sept. 9.—(Special)—The Monday court has been in session all the week. Judge Wakefield presiding. Considerable business has been transacted, but it will take two or three weeks to clean up the docket. The grand jury adjourned yesterday. It found five indictments and one order upon the defendants therein. The crimes include seduction, criminal assault and selling liquor.

GIANT TREES IN OREGON.

From Twenty to Thirty Feet in Diameter and More Than 350 Feet Tall. "I would like to draw attention to a bunch of immense trees in the mountains fifteen to twenty miles from any place on the Oregon coast," says a correspondent of the Portland Oregonian. "I would like to make every year a trip to the mountains, lasting generally eight to ten days, and it was on one of my last trips about four years ago that I discovered on the northeast side of the Mt. Hood region, the Bull Pulpit, the Bull Run and the Hood river, this bunch of giant trees. The like I never saw before or since."

RELIEF FELT AT HAZELTON

Miners and Merchants Glad That Their Efforts Are to Be Made at Compromise.

HAZELTON, Pa., Sept. 9.—The result of the national executive board of United Mine Workers, in session at Indianapolis, in declining to declare a strike involving the miners of the entire anthracite coal fields until further efforts at conciliation have been made, is taken among the mine workers here as an indication of level-headedness on the part of the leaders and a recognition of the fact that the way is open for bringing about a settlement through arbitration, although only a few of the many operators who would be affected by a strike have agreed thus far to that proposition. The operators, on the other hand, regard the postponement of the strike as meaning that the leaders do not yet consider the anthracite field strongly enough organized to force them to grant the demands made by the recent Hazelton convention and unless a great change has occurred in their attitude they will not arbitrate or make any concessions, regardless of the decision of the national board to hold off and give more time for an adjustment of the trouble.

WOMEN'S MODEL VILLAGE.

Maryland Town which the Fair Sex Has Hounded Beautiful. Camden, a village in Maryland, takes on a pride in the activities of its women's organization. The population is about 2,500. Public improvements, philanthropies of various kinds and patriotic movements have been carried for a number of years, until today the village is a model in beauty, public spirit and freedom from vexatious questions. The united organizations about three years ago undertook to improve the park, the wooded retreat to which all flock in the warm weather. A broad avenue was laid out and improved, running the entire length. A rustic pavilion, adapted admirably to the surroundings, was built and liberally equipped with benches and tables. The artist's handiwork was built there, now the village land may be seen and better than formerly. In 1899 a village library was organized by Mrs. W. J. Frisbie. Forty women pledged themselves to pay for it as a membership fee and the first year's fee then subscribed started the movement. Today there is a circulating library of over 2,100 volumes in the village.

MINERS NOT READY TO STRIKE

Executive Board of United Mine Workers Adjourns Without Action.

OPERATORS GIVEN ONE MORE CHANCE

President Mitchell Emphatically Declines That Political Influences Be Responsible for the Halting Action of His Body.

INDIANAPOLIS, Sept. 9.—The national executive board of the United Mine Workers of America adjourned today sine die without promulgating a formal endorsement of the application of the miners of the anthracite districts for permission to strike.

There is practically no change in the situation since last night. If the operators do not meet our demands within a given time the strike will be ordered upon the endorsement of Secretary Wilson and myself.

Whether the time allowed is five days or longer I decline to say. As set out in our statement, we are not in a hurry to work to bring about a settlement without ordering the men to lay down their tools. We must be able to say that the political influences are for the reason that making myself and the operators would at once destroy their effectiveness.

If there are any political influences at work here, I do not think it is our business to think of the board members. We are very anxious to see the national officers of the mine workers to ask the intervention of any party and the most certainly has not been done. We are simply trying to get for the miners of our organization and the industry with us honest wages.

As soon as he arrived at his office this morning President Mitchell sent word to the telegraph office instructing that if any messages had been received for him during the night they be delivered at his office. After waiting a reasonable time for a response the board was called to order.

SITUATION IS SUMMED UP.

Up to the time the members of the board left the office of the president there had been communication with the leaders in the anthracite districts. Summed up, the situation, according to the admissions of President Mitchell, is simply this: Negotiations are undoubtedly on for a settlement of the differences without a strike on the part of the miners. But the operators would be left a loophole of escape from the position they now occupy by saying the men had gone out at a time when there was a chance that an amicable settlement would be brought about.

Public sympathy is an absolute necessity in so far as the miners are concerned. A delay until it is seen that their wages will not be raised by the operators without a strike; that their grievances upon the powder, the burden of the anthracite, that they are paying $1 more per ton, in "black-market" prices than is asked in the market; that they are not allowed a check weighman on the tipple and must accept the weights of companies that exact from them more than a basis of 2,240 pounds to the ton, is bound to start a sympathetic movement that will reach over the entire length and breadth of the country.

Approximately 100,000 men are expected to go out on a strike if the executive board should declare a strike on the part of the miners. There are among the miners men who will provide for themselves, but men who are working at wages ranging from 50 cents to $1.35 per day cannot provide for a period of idleness, hence the organization of the miners is taking care of not less than a half million of people during the struggle.

Under these circumstances the members of the board admit that until the last vestige of hope for a settlement without a strike has been exhausted, they are not prepared to declare a strike. There are among the miners men who will provide for themselves, but men who are working at wages ranging from 50 cents to $1.35 per day cannot provide for a period of idleness, hence the organization of the miners is taking care of not less than a half million of people during the struggle.

PEOPLE GET FAR TOO MUCH.

Starvation is Successfully Used as a Cure for Many Diseases. A Philadelphia physician, Dr. E. Dewey, claims to cure all sorts of diseases by starving his patients. The usual remedy is to give the patient food, but the mind remains clear when the body has wasted away. The head is the power-house of the body. The stomach is run by brain power. When the stomach does too much work it makes too great a demand upon the brain.

Three of the fellows managed to escape, but Mike Smith, who was on the wagon, was captured. They had five sacks of smiting coal in the wagon when interrupted by the officer and were in the act of loading half a dozen more. The names of Smith's associates are known and the police expect to have little difficulty in locating them.
