out upon the waters to rescue a drowning man. But his strength had been exhausted and he was unable longer to do battle with the swirling currents and the high waves and the mad rush of water overcame and drowned him. It is intended, if possible, to unveil Anderson's monument in this state May 18, 1901, the ninth anniversary of his heroic death. It will be made a Pythian event of state wide interest and the officers of the grand lodge will be invited to participate in the event.

COLLEGE FOR MASON CITY

Memorial to Soldiers and Sailors Will Be Erected in the Iowa Town.

MASON CITY, Ia., Sept. 12.—(Special Telegram.)—Mason City rejoices tonight at the news received from the convention of Sons of Veterans in session at Syracuse to the effect that the National Military college will be located here.

The million dollars have already been pledged to the school. Mason city donated the location and gave $100,000. The plan was conceived by Colonel Al Sertor, ex-governor and commander of the Sons of Veterans association.

Mason City organized about a year ago and has been persistently pushing the matter since. A public meeting was held to-night and elaborate arrangements made for the reception of the committee.

Outlook on Iowa Farms. OAKLAND, Ia., Sept. 12.—(Special.)—Many of the farmers adjacent to Oakland are having feeding cattle in South Omaha and the present outlook for a very large consumption of the crops grown right on the farms. Stock of all kinds is high.

Grain men are contracting the new corn crop at 25 cents per bushel and some are offering to buy with the privilege on the part of the seller to deliver any time before January 1, 1901.

Tenant farms are in great demand and rentals are up to $2.50 to $2.75. Many tenants are eager to find a place, as farms in good condition are about all taken for another year.

Fall pastures are in fine shape and with the heavy rain of Monday night will furnish abundance of feed for several weeks yet. The corn crop is maturing very rapidly and the great quantity of straw and stubble beyond the reach of frost. Monday night's wind lodged a considerable quantity of the lighter corn. The yield will be good.

The threshing of small grain is well-nigh a thing of the past. Farmers are beginning to appreciate the value of a good straw and are turning to advantage their newly acquired knowledge. Instead of seeing "straw piles" scattered indiscriminately about the fields one now is greeted by well built stacks of the golden feed. The greater part of the same hay crop was raised by the heavy rains which immediately followed the harvest of the same.

John Caldwell recently sold his 200-acre farm to C. T. Hanley for $33 per acre and his fine residence to John Rostford, a farmer from east of town, who will soon become one of our citizens.

Rural Delivery a Success. SIOUX CITY, Ia., Sept. 12.—(Special.)—"There is no longer any question about the success of the Postoffice department's system of free rural delivery in this western country," said C. E. Llewellyn of Omaha.

One thing that is quite noticeable in connection with the rural system is its effect upon the circulation of daily papers. Without such a plan of delivery the farmer cannot afford to take a daily paper. He subscribes to daily papers nearly as many as he does to newspapers. Nearly one-half the farmers in Nebraska, in communities where mail is delivered, take daily papers now, where formerly they did not.

Cole & Cole's Hot Blast

We will replace any Hot Coal Stove in Council Bluffs with Cole's Original Hot Blast Heater, and in many chimneys that will keep pipe from clogging will duplicate the effect of a hot blast. THE EVEN HEAT, THE NIGHT HEAT and save one-third the cost of heating.

One and one-fourth tons of soft coal equal one ton of hard coal. COUNCIL BLUFFS, Iowa, Feb. 1, 1900—We used Cole's Hot Blast, No. 268, all winter. We have heated three rooms all this winter and part of the time a fourth room. We have used all kinds of hard coal base burners and we like it better than any of them. It leaves walls and rooms exactly as clean and we figure the stove will pay for itself in one winter in the money it saves over any other stove we ever used. It is just as even and steady as a clock and will keep you warm up to the house in the morning with coal put on the night before. MARY F. HAYES.
