PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 18.—It was reported Mitchell of the United Mine Workers claimed last night, 112,000 of the 141,000 mine workers in the Pennsylvania anthracite coal fields were idle yesterday.

Statement from the Pennsylvania

George H. Ross, secretary of the collieries operated by the Pennsylvania railroad company, in a statement to the Associated Press today said:

"The situation today in our collieries is about the same as it was yesterday, with the exception that the Lykens, Luke Fidler and Cameron collieries could not be operated, because sufficient men did not report for duty. Yesterday the only collieries idle were those at Nanticoke and Glen Dale. Since the average output of our collieries yesterday was a little over 900 cars less than usual, this condition can be attributed to the closing of the Burnside colliery and the extent to which the remaining collieries are running short-handed."

STANTON in Lackawanna Region

SCRANTON, Pa., Sept. 18.—There is no break in the ranks of the United Mine Workers in the Lackawanna region and every colliery and breaker tied up yesterday when the great strike of the United Mine Workers was officially begun, is idle today.
