day until the mines shall be completely closed. Schuykill Region Working. POTTSVILLE, Pa., Sept. 18.—All the Schuykill region collieries resumed work this morning with the single exception of Monks, operated by Doolan...

For Local Market. The Columbus washery, which provides fuel for the electric light plants, the street railway power house and the steam heating plants, will today enter upon an agreement to operate its works. None of the coal goes to an outside market, they say, and no coal corporations profit from it.

A call at the score of officers of the mine operators here today showed all agreed upon the magnitude of the strike movement. There was a hope expressed that the split in the Hazleton and Schuykill regions would serve to disintegrate the ranks and eventually bring about a solution that would put the mines to work to a large extent.

Statement by Mitchell. HAZLETON, Pa., Sept. 18.—The second day of the strike has failed to bring anything that would lead to the coming together of the coal operators and the striking mine workers. Unless there is a break in the ranks of either it seems tonight that a third party will have to step into the breach and try to bring the two forces together.

More Men Strike. SHAMOKIN, Pa., Sept. 18.—About 20 percent of the men who worked at Mount Carmel yesterday joined the strikers this morning, having cleaned up their work yesterday afternoon, and the strike leaders declare that the indications are that all the mines there will be tied up as tight as those in the vicinity of Shamokin.

More Impossible Things Occurred on the stage at Boyd's theater in a little over two hours last night than could happen in real life in 1,000 years. This is an unpretentious way of saying that the offering was melodrama, pure and simple, although it is masquerading under the guise of comedy.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., Sept. 18.—The close of the second day of the miners' strike finds honors about equally divided between the opposing forces in the Wyoming valley. The coal companies were able to put a few washeries in operation and the United Mine Workers increased their membership in the West End colliery...
