the Brown Palace hotel, where supper was | said in part; provided. There were many other guests and a large number of people who joined the procession to the hotel. Three evening meetings had been arranged for, the first at the Coliseum hall, the second at the Broadway theater and the third at the Capital grounds. On account of the rain the open air meeting was abandoned. Rev. Thomas Russell presided at the Coltseum meeting and General Irving Hall presided at the Broadway theater.

After the meeting Senator Wolcott took Governor Roosevelt in charge and conducted him to Weihurst, his country seat, twelve miles from Denver, on the Rio Grande railroad, where Senator Lodge and Mrs. Lodge were also taken, and where they will remain for the night.

In addition to the eleven speeches which Governor Roosevelt made today he had considerable executive business to attend to, being all the time in close touch by wire and by mail.

Coliseum hall, the largest auditorium in the city, was crowded to the doors when Paron Uzzell called tonight's meeting to order and introduced Governor Roosevelt. During his address Governor Roosevelt said that there was no more excuse for the breaking of a promise made upon the stump than for breaking those made in private life. It was just as bad, he said, for the people to demand promises impossible of fulfillment as for the candidate to make

Trusts and Their Origin.

Taking up the matter of trusts, he said that in common with every individual and with every institution in the last four years trusts had flourished. When prosperity came every section and every class had felt it. Undoubtedly, he said, many of these vast combinations of capital had evil tendencies.

"Good weather for crops," he said, "is also good for weeds. While I am willing to do all I can to destroy the weeds, I am not ready to plow up the crops to do it." "The trust is a new evil," he declared and we must feel our way to find how best The governor then spoke of the action of the two parties in New York in relation to trusts, holding that while the democrats had denounced trusts in a ferocious manner they had done nothing to rid the people of them, while the republicans had in the last two years put upon the statute books a franchise tax law which has added nearly $200,000,000 to the tax rolls of the state. The New York state democratic convention he said recently adopted a platform declaring against expansion and in favor of labor, and then nominated a man who is an ardent expansionist and a life-long opponent of trades unionism.

Laws in Labor's Interest.

Speaking of laws in the interest of talor the governor said that manufacturers in by Mayor A. A. Kerr of Moorehead. Massachusetts and New York were moving factories to South Carolina because the EAGER TO HEAR BEVERIDGE labor laws in the states just named were so much in favor of the workmen, while in the latter state they could work their employes as many hours as they desired and need take less steps for their protection.

At the Broadway theater tonight Governor Rossevelt said in part:

I have just received a letter purporting to be from the governor of your state, written upon official paper, requesting me somewhat at length to state my position on the currency question and asking why I should not state it in Denver as well as in Chicago and Milwaukee. It is perhapsunusual in the chief executive of a state to attempt to dictate to a visitor within that state the subject upon which he shall speak. I am not aware that such a course has ever been followed before, but most certainly there is no question that my opponents can ask which I am unwilling to answer, no matter in which portion of the United States it may be put. I would suggest to the governor that hereafter he will do well to read the letter of accentances of candidates. Had he read my letter which was oublished in Denver exactly as in New York or Milwaukee, he would have found his question already answered. But, without regard to that, let me say that of course I stand now, as I have always stood, on the platform of my party. I am for a protective tariff, the gold standard, expansion and the honor of the flag. Roosevelt said in part:

Fundamentally the issues in this cam-paign are but two: The issue of preserv-ing the conditions under which this na-

I am an expert in children; I have several myself. Now they come here carrying the American flas. Why? They bring it because the flag stands for homer, for right dealing, for upholding the interests of the nation and upholding the higher and finer sentiments that self for national greatness. There are two issues, the Issue of keeping our selves prosperous and keeping our bonor unstained. The man in private life who has to choose between wealth and honor has a hard choice. If he is worth anything he will choose honor, but if he has both honor and wealth on the same side, he is a 1001 when he goes against it. number of men on the north side. The marchers were quite successful, the operators admit, in intercepting the mine workers who come over the hills from Nuremberg and Westen on the way to Tombicken, Derringer and Gowen. The working forces at the two latter places were badly crippled. The Tombicken mine, however, was only slightly affected. No actual clash occurred between the sheriff's posse and the strikers, but there was a war of words. Three other men were arrested, they, with the first man taken into custody, being charged with breach of the peace. After the strikers had finished their work of getting the men out of these three places they marched over the hills, two by two and 100 feet apart, in the direction of Weston. It is believed they will continue on to the Potts mines at Oneida.

Philadelphia & Reading Company Loses Three More from Its List.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 25. - Where thirty-four of the thirty-nine collieries operated by the Philadelphia & Reading Coal and fron company were in operation a week ago, thirteen were working today, three less than yesterday, according to reports received at the office of President Harris of the Reading company today. Wes Shenandoah, which began operation yesterday morning, after being shut down from Friday, was unable to resume today on acount of being short-handed. Preston colliery, just outside of Shenandoah, where the militia is centered, also failed to star up today. Wadesville colliery, near Potts ville, one of the largest operated by the Reading company, did not start up, be cause, according to the officials of the empany, a shaft had broken.

He defended himself with a revolver and soon drove his assailants away without doing them any harm. This is the first disturbance that has occurred in the Lykens valley region since the strike was declared.

A meeting of the miners was called last night at Tower City, at which forty made application for membership in the Mine Workers' union. The men are still at work in the colliery, but the indications are that they will join the strikers before the close of the week. There is no change in the situation at Williamstown, where 1,200 men and boys are at work.
