To Catarrh Sufferers. Every person suffering from catarrh in its many forms knows that the common lotions, salves and douches do not cure. It is needless to argue this point or to cite cases of failure, because every victim of catarrhal trouble knows it for himself it he has tried them. A local application, if it does anything at all, simply gives temporary relief; a wash. lotion, salve or powder cannot reach the seat of the disease, which is the blood.

The best remedies for this purpose are Eucalyptol. Sanguinaria and Hydrastin, buthe difficulty has always been to get these raluable curatives combined in one palatable, converient and efficient form.

An advantage to be considered also is that Stuart's Catarrh Tablets contain no cocaine, morphine or poisonous narcotics, so often found in catarrh powders, and the use of which often entails a habit more Decision in Rockefeller Suit.

LANSING, Mich., Sept. 26.—The supreme court handed down a decision in the John E. Rockefeller $1.00.000 suit brought against the latter by Captain John A. Corrigan. In 1899 Captain Corrigan placed 2.500 Standard Ooil certificates in Rockefeller's hands to secure a loan. Rockefeller held ...e stock as trustee and finally surchased it himself, placing the value at $167 per share. Corrigan afterward charged him with committing fraud. He alleged that Rockefeller, by reason of his position as trustee, has superior knowledge of the value of the stock and that the stock was worth $160 instead of $167 per share. The matter was submitted to arbitrators, who decided in favor of Rockefeller. Corrigan refused to accept their findings and took the case into court.

HUNTERS FACE TO FACE WITH OCTOPUS

Constantine J. Smyth, J. Ham Lewis and William Jennings Bryan Beard the Starch Trust in Its Otoe County Lair.

NEBRASKA CITY, Sept. 26,-(Special cited by the advent of the Bryan-Smythcandidates which tend to engender discord Lewis combination upon the city tonight. Outside of a few scattering people who had come in on the afternoon trains from is speechmaking. Less than 1,000 people stood about the court house grounds to listen to the addresses. George Tompkin, the chairman of the democratic county central committee and the man who, when the news of the suit against the starch company is was conveyed to him, denounced the action and stated that he had the personal assurance of the attorney general that this suit would not be brought on account of the harm it would do the city, presided and introduced the speakers. Before the meeting, John Mattes, jr., chairman of the mass meeting held Saturday night, presented to Mr. Smyth the resolutions adopted at that time, who replied that he would give them due consideration. These resolutions were signed by several hundred business and laboring men, including all of the county officials with one exception.

Mr. Smyth in his opening sentences denied any intention of seeking to close the starch works. He said he merely wanted to take the plant out of the hands of the Starch trust and restore it to the control of the Argo company. At present the Argo company and the latter may vote to close down the Argo plant at any time. He went on:

No man who condemns trusts can find failt with my action and be consistent. If I should not proceed against a trust in this trust and restore it to the consistent. The populist state central committee will soon begin distributing a state campaign book, which is said to be the result of a composite effort of all the state officials and many of the employes of the administration. But he has not done his duty. Do you want the attorney general of Nebraska to do likewise? I have seen it stated that Mr. Morton has declared that he will move the works to Kansas City if he is not permitted to operate a trust in this state. Let him not forget that Kansas City is in a democratic state, that Missouri has an anti-trust law and a democratic attorney general willing to enforce it.

to enforce it.

Besides that it would not be well to make the removal until after the 4th of March next. For unless I miss my gress we will then have an administration at Washington which will make it impossible for the starch trust or any other trust to do business anywhere within the confines of our nation.

Matter of Principle.

Matter of Principle.

How one who condemns a protective tariff can uphold a trust surpasses comprehension. A protective tariff enables its beneficiary to charge the consumer a higher price for his wares by preventing the competition of foreigners. A trust enables its beneficiaries to charge the consumer a higher price for their wares by defeating home competition. The only difference between them is that the one levies its tribute under the form of law, while the other does so in deflance of law—the tariff is a creature of law; the trust is an outlaw.

No, my friends, if the principle which underlies trusts is wrong it is as wrong in Nebraska as it is in New Jersey. You cannot condemn it in New Jersey and uphold it in Nebraska. This is a campaign of principle. Our leader has shown us a splendid loyalty to principle. Let us emulate his example in that respect and we will be better democrats and better citizens.

Lewis and Bryan.

At the conclusion of Mr. Smyth's address there were calls for J. Ham Lewis, who responded briefly and was followed by lines as did Mr. Smyth, quoting editorials from the Conservative and telling the history of the starch company. Commenting in a general way Mr. Bryan said: If the people of Nebraska City defend th

If the people of Nebraska City defend the starch trust they must be prepared to defend all the other trusts, for it is impossible for them to destroy trusts located elsewhere and defend a trust located in their own city. Are the people of Nebraska City willing to subject themselves and their countrymen to the extortion practiced by all the trusts in order to maintain one trust which has a factory in their city? As a matter of fact the people of Nebraska City are more interested in the dissolution of the starch trust than the people of other parts of the state. When the Argo was an independent company it was controlled by citizens of Nebraska City and Nebraska City interests could be considered by its management. But when the National Starch company, with headquarters in New York is allowed to manage this plant, the control will be removed to New York, and the wishes of the people of Nebraska City will have little consideration.

How a Trust Operates.

How a Trust Operates.

Mr. Charles R. Flint of Boston is one of the directors of the United Starch company and Mr. Flint made a speech in Boston a year ago last May, in which he summed up the advantages of the trusts. One of the advantages mentioned by him was that raw material could be bought at a lower price because there would only be one purchaser. Is this to the interest of those who sell raw material to the various starch companies? Another advantage was that the least productive plants could be closed down and the work done at the more productive plants. The Argo company as an independent company could not afford to close down and turn off its employes, but when the Argo company becomes a member of pendent company could not afford to close down and turn off its employes, but when the Argo company becomes a member of the National Starch company the employes have no way of protecting themselves, because the work here can be suspended while the employes are starved into submission. Under the trust system a strike in one factory brings no loss to the company, but it does bring great loss to the employes. The attorney general is seeking to enforce a statute in Nebraska. The law is a good law and ought to be enforced and the people of Nebraska City ought to hold a mass meeting to commend him rather than to condemn him. The fusion forces believe in enforcing both state laws and national laws against the trusts. The Kansas City olatform demands the annihilation of all private monopolies and if the democratic ticket is successful believe legislation will be enacted which will make it impossible for the National Starch company to "buy, bully or wheedle" the Argo company into joining a trust, and with the dissolution of the starch trust will come the dissolution of all other trusts which are now plunder-ing the people.
