Rally at Cedar Rapids.

CEDAR RAPIDS, Neb., Oct. 6 .- (Special.) Mrs. Mary E. Lease spoke in the big tent last evening to an immense audience. For two hours she held the closest attention while she discussed the political issues in one of the most powerful addresses ever delivered in Cedar Rapids. Her scathing arraignment of the democratic party, her denunciation of the unboly fusion of the democratic and populist forces, her striking presentation of the contrast between the character and achievements of the candidates of the two parties, her hearty endorsement of the McKinley administration her elequent peroration in which she depicted the glorious future of our country, cannot fail to produce a good effect. There is every prospect that Boone county will swing into the republican column this year.

LINCOLN, Oct. 6 .- (Special.) -The secnd annual street fair closed tonight with masked carnival, which continued from 8 o'clock until after midnight. The crowd on the streets, including the masked participants, was the largest and jolliest of the week, with the exception of the attendance on Roosevelt day. Everybody seemed imbued with the carnival spirit tonight and hundreds of persons who were not masked enjoyed the fun from the idewalks, which were reserved for speclators. Luckily there were no accidents for disagreeable disturbances of any kind

From a financial standpoint the street fair was not a success. Contributions and the sale of booth space fell far below expectations, and as a consequence the street fair committee is in debt nearly $200. The ever, that they will be able to pay off the "The state fair hurt us," said one of the Beneficiary Cannot Take Life of Insured and Recover Folicy.

NEW PRESIDENT FOR DES MOINES COLLEGE

Baptist Institution Will Be Presided Over by Rev. George D. Adams, Pastor of the First Church in Kalamazoo, Michigan.

DES MOINES, Oct. 6 .- (Special Telegrain.)-The supreme court today in the case of the administrator of the estate of Claus Behrens, deceased of Scott county, against the Northern Life Insurance association holds that the beneficiary of a life insurance policy who takes the life of the insured cannot recover on the policy nor can an assignee who simply stands in the shoes of the beneficiary recover. The court holds, however, that because the life of the assured is feloniously taken the insurance company is not therefore absolved from liability, but the promised benefit must go to the estate of the insured. Whether the one committing the murder being the husband or wife of the insured would come in for a share of the estate is not determined by the supreme court, the court explaining that this point would be passed upon when properly
