A request from Secretary Fleming that the board be represented at the annual meeting of the Iowa Library association, to be held in Sloux City Thursday and Friday of next week, was received and it was decided that Mrs. Dailey, the librarian, should attend at the expense of the li brary. President Robrer announced his intention of attending and Member Edmundson said he hoped to be present if possible. Mr. Edmandson announced that he expected to remove to his new home in Des Moines the early part of next month. His removal from this city will cause a vacancy on the board. The librarian called the attention of the board to the fact that in many instances new copies of certain books could be purchased for a less sum than it cost to re bind the old ones. No rule was established but the librarian was instructed to report at each meeting such cases in order that the board might decide whether to take the books off the shelves or purchase new copies. During the discussion on books the fact was brought to light that the library does not contain a single geography and the librarian was instructed to secure a standard one.

claimed if these independent voters succeed in sustaining their organization and work together at the election they will awamp the party organizations. But the native Hawaiian is not as a rule an astute politician and is easily led by strong leaders. It is doubtful if an independent organization among them will prove successful, and it is likely that many will coalesce with one or the other of the regular parties.

READ HIS OWN OBITUARY.

Privilege and Enjoyed It. Justin McCarthy, the well known litterateur and Irish nationalist, has been forced to retire from his seat in the British Parliament on account of failing health. The fact recalls the fact that some twenty-two years ago a well known all-round journalist named McCarthy died in London. The news was deemed sufficiently important to be put on the wires by one of the press agencies and among other places it reached Liverpool Here it fell into the bands of Mr., now Sir, E. R. Russell, the editor of the Liverpool Daily Post. Sir Edward Russell at once jumped to the conclusion that the sad intelligence referred to Justin Mc-Carthy, who at that time was not in Parliament. A strong friendship existed between these two; they had known each other for many years and they had been Belief Detail of Americans Has colleagues on the staff of the old London Morning Star. On receipt of the telegram Sir Edward Russell, under the impulse of a deep feeling, wrote an eloquent and (Copyright, 1900, by the Associated Press.) touching appreciation of Justin McCarthy.
