ALLISON GIVES AN OVATION

Huge Crowd Turns Out to Hear Iowa's Senior Senator.

GIVES PROPHECY OF CERTAIN VICTORY

His Forecast One of Triumph for the Republican Ticket and His Speech a Defense of the Party's Principles.

Senator William Boyd Allison was accorded a most enthusiastic ovation here last night—an ovation which demonstrated far better than words the esteem in which Iowa's distinguished senior member of the United States senate is held by the community at large, irrespective of party. The Dobany opera house, where he spoke, was taxed far beyond its capacity and hundreds were turned away unable to secure even standing room. The galleries were packed from the orchestra rail to the galleries, every seat being occupied and the aisles thronged with people standing up. Senator Allison spoke for two hours, was listened to with the closest attention and interest and his remarks were frequently punctuated with the most liberal applause. The audience was a representative one and included a number of the prominent women of the city, many of whom occupied the boxes. Senator Allison arrived at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon from Sioux City, where he spoke to a crowded meeting Tuesday night. He was met at the depot by Chairman George S. Wright of the republican county central committee, National Committee member Ernest C. Hart and other prominent members of the party, who escorted him to the Grand hotel. At the hotel he was greeted by Judge Smith McPherson of Red Oak, recently member of congress from this district, Judge J. R. Reed of the federal district court, land claims, Hon. Scott Lewis of Cleveland, Congressman M. Treynor, Colonel C. G. Saunders and others. Result is Not in Doubt. Despite the fact that he has been taking a very active part in the campaign, speaking almost every day, Senator Allison appeared to be in the best of health, a fact which was particularly remarked by those who had the pleasure of meeting him at the hotel. Asked as to his opinion of the outcome of the election he said: "There is no question about the outcome of this campaign. At no time since the conventions were held has there been any doubt about New York, although the democrats claim through Mr. Croker of Tammany that they will carry it. The conditions now seem to indicate a great victory for the republicans in Indiana. It is now, almost a doubtful state, but the conditions seem to have changed recently to such an extent as to make it almost certain that we will carry it by a larger majority than before. I have confidence that the republicans will carry the next house, notwithstanding the claims being made by our opponents to the contrary." The meeting at the opera house was presided over by a torchlight parade through the principal downtown streets, headed by the McKinley guards and the Colored Republican Marching club in uniform. The streets were thronged with people and the greatest enthusiasm prevailed among the crowds. The parade was headed by the McKinley guards, who were marching with the national colors, were Hon. J. N. Baldwin, Rev. George Edward Walk, Judge J. R. Reed, Ernest E. Hart, J. D. Edmundson, W. H. Kilpatrick, C. F. Kimball, Judge George Carlson, Frank C. Harlin, Hon. Scott Lewis, Charles R. Hannan, George S. Wright, John Galvin, George H. Scott, Colonel C. G. Saunders and other leading republicans. Greeting for the Senator. Colonel C. G. Saunders, president of the McKinley club, introduced Senator Allison, taking the opportunity to refer to the remark made by President McKinley when he passed through here two years ago when he said the Iowa delegation, of which Senator Allison is the senior member, was the best of any delegation in the national legislature. Senator Allison was greeted with a perfect storm of applause and it was several minutes before the cheering subsided and he was able to commence his speech. In his speech, which was a masterly discussion of the issues before the people today, he dealt with the money and Philippine questions, dwelling especially on the propositions concerning the future disposition of the territories contained in the Kansas city platform of the democratic party and in Mr. Bryan's speech of acceptance at Indianapolis. He debated the questions of parenthood concerning the issues of the campaign, insisting that free silver is paramount because Mr. Bryan, in the event of his election, would not support in congress for repeal of the currency legislation enacted last session than by his Philippine program. In concluding his address Senator Allison urged upon all republicans to stick to the platform and to continue their efforts in electing their congressman, as the prosperity of the country wholly depended on the republicans retaining control of the national legislature. He laid special stress on the importance of this.

RESPONSIBILITIES FOR PROPERTY.

Speaking of the prosperity of the country Senator Allison said in part: "Our tariff policy revived our industries and because of the democratic party's attempt to change the tariff, we are now in a position to be able to pay our debts and to be able to pay our taxes. The fact that Mr. McKinley was elected and with him a republican congress was established in 1879, would continue until the strengthened. This encouraged industry and enterprise which gave opportunity to labor and enabled those having capital to embark in practical business with assurance of stability for four years at least without fear that the capital thus employed would be swept away by the adverse legislation of congress proposed by our opponents. The McKinley administration was a debased and fluctuating standard of money. President McKinley called congress in extraordinary session, the Douglas law was passed and the clouds soon disappeared under the industrial stimulus of that law and at the last session the currency law was passed, strengthening and backing up the preservation of our money standard and making ample provision for the convertibility of our money into gold or silver or gold certificates. Of national bank notes, shall always be kept at par with the other in circulation, and will not be changed except by a vote of two-thirds of both houses of congress. This letter and spirit of its repeal. Not only have we found ourselves now with a larger per capita money circulation than we have ever had before, which has been increased nearly $5 per capita during the last three years."

ABUNDANCE OF IMPERIALISM.

Speaking of the absurdity of the democratic cry of "imperialism" he said: "How is it possible that anything that has grown out of it or of the Spanish war or that is growing out of it or that is in the future to be the destruction of all free institutions? Nothing material has thus far been done that has not received the sanction of the government. Nothing has been done and

KNIGHTS MUST PAY TAXES

Iowa Court Decides Camping Ground of Lodge is Not Exempt.

REPUBLICANS ARE CERTAIN OF IOWA

Members of National Committee Feel That There is No Contest in the State and Speakers Will Be Sent Elsewhere.

DES MOINES, Oct. 10.—(Special Telegram.)—The federal court this morning decided that the right eminent grand camp of the Knights Templar must pay taxes on their camping ground at Spirit Lake. They held that the property was not used for benevolent purposes more than four days in the year and that members of the order are not attending the devotional exercises when using the place as a summer resort. Opinions were filed today as follows: Chicago & Northwestern Railway company, complainant, against S. W. Weaver, trustee, proceeding in certiorari, dismissed. State Exchange bank of Parkersburg, plaintiff, against Parkersburg, defendant, judgment of bank in controversy. T. B. Lacy et al against I. C. Davis et al, Dickinson district action to restrain collection of taxes on real estate, affirmed. Rosa Bell White against C. B. Day et al, Chancery district action to restrain settlement of guardian bond, reversed. Chairman Weaver returned from Chicago this morning, where he was in conference with the national committee on matters pertaining to the campaign. Chairman Weaver says the committee has no doubt whatever that the republicans will organize the next house. As to general results members of the committee feel that the contest is all over except the shouting. The stories of anxiety on the part of the committee are without foundation in fact. Members are more than confident of a sweeping republican victory. The committee informed Chairman Weaver that Iowa was so certain to cast an overwhelming republican vote that the committee had decided to let the state take care of itself. In other words speakers would be sent here only when they could be conveniently spared from other states. And as to funds, well, the committee had none for use in Iowa. The twenty-seventh annual convention of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union of Iowa convened here today. The sessions will be continued until Friday. The president of the association, Mrs. Esth B. Hurd, of St. Paul, presided at the opening. The executive committee was held this morning. This committee consists of the state officers and the vice presidents of the association, of which there is one from each congressional district of the state. The Wednesday afternoon session was opened by devotional exercises led by A. E. Potter of Grinnell, and following that was the appointment of the committees of the convention.

FINISH BUILDING NEW ROAD

People of Sibley, Iowa, Turn out to See the Last Rails Laid.

SIBLEY, Ia., Oct. 10.—(Special Telegram.)—This afternoon the Gowrie and Northwest Sibley's third line of railway, reached here. It is a branch of the Rock Island. The line runs from Gowrie in Webster county to Sibley, in Osage county, and is about 10 miles long. It is a diagonal line to Des Moines and the coal fields. M. B. Day, Rock Island engineer, states that the road is practically an air line, with no curve exceeding two degrees except to Gowrie and Sibley. There was a general turnout of the people to see the track-laying machine and construction train and nearly 100 workmen rapidly approach the town building the new road. Mr. Day says the only heavy work left to be done over the line is the grading of the road. The road is now ready for the heavy traffic of the coal fields. The work of constructing the line began September last year.

ALLOW FOR PRACTICAL WORK.

AMES, Ia., Oct. 10.—(Special.)—At a recent meeting of the board of trustees of the Iowa State college provision was made for allowing limited credit for practical work on stock farms, horticultural course to students who are employed from three months to a year in practical work on stock farms, horticultural or feeding farms, beet sugar farms or factories, dairy establishments or for other agricultural purposes. The provision and faithful service is rendered under direction of the proprietor and a concisely written report or resume of their observations and experiences is made by students on returning to the college. The provision is a recommendation of Prof. C. F. Curtis to give emphasis to and encourage practical work as well as scientific training in the agricultural course and to more fully meet the demands for young men competent to become managers of farms and agricultural enterprises of various kinds.

FINCE PROPERTY ON MARKET.

SIoux CITY, Ia., Oct. 10.—(Special.)—The Sioux City real estate market is active. The annual meeting of the real estate association was held here today. All its property in Sioux City on sale. This is a unique organization, perfected in the summer of 1893 by creditors of the Union Loan and Trust company, which failed in Sioux City, Iowa, in 1892. The organization was made to make the most out of the assets of the loan and trust company and they have been successful in their purpose, as the properties are now on a paying basis. By this most recent action of the company the following properties are placed on the market: The Sioux City stock yards, valued at $3,500,000; the combination bridge across the Missouri river, valued at $1,500,000; real estate holdings to the value of $1,000,000.

CITY MUST PAY DAMAGES.

SIoux CITY, Ia., Oct. 10.—(Special Telegram.)—The jury in the case of W. A. Smith against the city of Sioux City today returned a verdict for the plaintiff for $5,000. Only one larger verdict was ever returned against the city in a damage suit. Smith tripped on a defective sidewalk. His legs are paralyzed. One doctor testified he would never recover the use of his legs. The city is expected to pay the amount that he would be able to walk in the course of time. Smith asked for $10,000.

BUSINESS MAN MISSING.

WATERLOO, Ia., Oct. 10.—(Special Telegram.)—C. I. Shelton, a well known business man of O. Shelton, has not been seen since he came to Waterloo to attend the Roosevelt rally. Relatives and the police are searching for him. They know no reason for his leaving home, as his family relations were pleasant and business prosperous.

COLVILLE RESERVATION OPENED.

SPOKANE, Wash., Oct. 10.—(Special Telegram.)—The Colville reservation was opened to white settlement at noon today. Hundreds of prospectors are expected to enter the hour. John Falls filed the first entry in the Spokane land office just at noon. He is believed to be one of the comparatively few contestants are expected.

Through one of these free scholarships you will be making a study, preparing yourself for a salaried position. Equipped with the thorough and practical education that will be given, you can easily secure a situation, and by subsequent study can rise to the highest and most profitable and influential positions of the profession. It will not be necessary for you to leave home and go away to school or college, to take up one of these free courses of study. You will not even have to lose a single day from your regular work. You can continue to support your family in your present occupation, and will be taught through the mails by experts in the branch that you select. The instruction is thorough, practical and successful. It will qualify you for advanced work, and if you wish you can go to college. Thousands that have received this instruction are occupying responsible and well paid salaried positions, and rapidly rising in life as a result of the education received by correspondence. The only limit to the high position you can attain will be that set by your own ambition. Any one can enter the contest. Both men and women take up the various professions for which these free scholarships prepare. Young people, particularly, will reap great benefits from the courses. Mechanics and clerks will find in them an easy way to secure advancement or to change their work. None are too old to be helped by the support of thousands of your present occupation, all ages are successfully qualifying themselves for professional positions through study by correspondence. This is your opportunity. Seize it, and get a good start in life. Take hold with the best of intentions, and you will secure the untold benefits of a professional education. The records of the competitors will be published in every issue of The Bee until the close of the contest. The Board of Trustees of the American Institute of Electrical Apparatus and Drawing Instruments, which go free with the courses, are on exhibition at the Continental Clothing Co.

TESTS TEAS FOR A LIVING.

Work of the Expert Employed by the Government.

In the corner of a room on the third floor of the United States appraiser's office, corner of Harrison and Sherman streets, rears the Chicago Chronicle, there sits during office hours every working day the patriarch among Uncle Sam's tea examiners. This is Joseph L. Langley, who, although one of the oldest government employes in point of age, is one of the most efficient and successful. Mr. Langley's specialty is the testing of tea samples, to see that the statute which prohibits the importation of tea below a certain grade is complied with by the importers whose entries are made at Chicago and other western ports. It might seem unnecessary to see. There are about seven thousand samples of tea there sits, day in and day out, year in and year out, with a circular revolving table in front of him. Around the edge of this table are ranged a score or more of tea cups. Behind each cup is a small box or package of tea, stamped with the name and number of the brand. An assistant at an adjoining table is busy sorting out other samples, of which there are hundreds awaiting the attention of the busy examiner. Mr. Langley breaks open the packages and puts a small handful, probably a tablespoonful, in each cup. An assessor, at a table where hundreds of different samples are examined every day many of the infusions are superior to the government's standard. Occasionally there is one that fails to come up to the requirements and it is rejected. The penalty for the latter is a confiscation of the whole importation by the government and either its destruction by government officials or deportation from the United States. Mr. Langley is a most picturesque figure as he passes judgment on the constant procession of tea cups. His venerable face leans over the table and his eyes scan the exhibit like a hawk. "No dead leaves there," "Ah, too much scum on that one," "This one is a better color, you see, than the standard. It is a higher grade tea." "This one is only fair, but it passes." And so the test goes on. Another whirl is given the table and a tier of cups containing an infusion of tea dust is before the examiner. There are a "standard" cup or two of the same number. As a matter of course where hundreds of different samples are examined every day many of the infusions are superior to the government's standard. Occasionally there is one that fails to come up to the requirements and it is rejected. The penalty for the latter is a confiscation of the whole importation by the government and either its destruction by government officials or deportation from the United States. Mr. Langley is a most picturesque figure as he passes judgment on the constant procession of tea cups. His venerable face leans over the table and his eyes scan the exhibit like a hawk. "No dead leaves there," "Ah, too much scum on that one," "This one is a better color, you see, than the standard. It is a higher grade tea." "This one is only fair, but it passes." YOUTSEY IN COMATOSE STATE Defendant's Condition Necessitates Adjournment of Trial.

EYES CROSSED BY TERRIBLE CONVULSIONS

Previous Crisis May Result in Death or Permanent Insanity of Man Charged with Murder of Governor Geble.

GEORGETOWN, Ky., Oct. 10.—Henry Yousey on trial for complicity in the Geble assassination, did not appear in court when he was to be tried this morning. The juror stated to the court that Yousey was not able to be brought into the court room. Colonel Crawford then stated that a physician had been called to see Yousey last night and found the defendant violent and once or twice during the night he had been in the influence of which he slept, but every indication of having been in convulsions during the night. Attorney Franklin, for the commonwealth, had no objection to passing the case, but said the court should appoint physicians to examine and report on Yousey's condition. It was thereupon ordered that the case be passed until tomorrow morning. Yousey has remained in a comatose condition all day. Whether that is due to the opiates administered to quiet him last night cannot be ascertained. He has answered no questions addressed to him by his nearest relatives and physicians, but once or twice during the day he held up his hands and exclaimed: "There is no blood on my hands—there is no man's blood on my hands." Eyes Are Still Crossed. He has kept his eyes closed all day and they are still slightly crossed as if drawn and set by the convulsion he had last night. The only nourishment he has taken was a glass of milk, which was almost forced down his throat by the physicians. Dr. Carrick says he is in an extremely critical condition, which may take a sudden change for the better or worse at any moment, and if for the worse Yousey will be permanently insane. He has not been taken to the jury room in the courthouse as directed by Judge Cantrill this morning. Yousey may be taken there early tomorrow if there is no change for the worse in his condition tonight. Judge Cantrill said this morning that the trial would certainly proceed, but if Yousey is absolutely unconscious tomorrow the judge may abandon his purpose. Yousey's attorneys think he simply had hysterics last night, brought on by the severe strain and long confinement and that he will recover in a day or two. It is a strange case and while nothing else has been talked of today, two persons seem to agree as to the cause and meaning of Yousey's action last night.

SMALL POX, Scarlet Fever, Diphtheria, Whooping Cough and epidemics of other contagious diseases are more prevalent now than at any time during the past year and it becomes necessary to adopt the best method of disinfecting the home in order to kill the germs which are so dangerous and catching diseases. Ninety-five per cent. of these diseases can be prevented by the proper use of disinfectant which destroy these disease-breeding germs. DR. GEO. LEININGER'S For-mal-de-hyde GENERATOR (using solidified Formaldehyde) offers the people the only safeguard against the spread of contagious and infectious diseases. By the proper use of the generator you avoid all danger of Small Pox, Diphtheria, Scarlet Fever, etc., entering your home. In the treatment of Whooping Cough, nothing equals Solidified Formaldehyde.
