The First Ward Republican club met last night at the corner of Righth and Hickory streets, holding an open air session. The meeting was opened by Mel Uhl, candidate for representative, who spoke for a few minutes upon the importance of the coming election from a local standpoint and the necessity of Omaha having a strong delegation in the state legislature. He was followed by Fred M. Youngs, who talked from a laboring man's standpoint, saying that the events of the last few years had proven that the laboring man must depend upon the republican party for any legislation in his behalf, because while the party platforms of other parties promised much for the wage carners, the only laws
