

RESUMES CAMPAIGN WORK

Hon. George D. Meiklejohn Ready to Take Up His Interrupted Tour.

BRINGS FRESH NEWS FROM THE FILIPINOS

Positive Proof that Aguinaldo Ordered Renewal of Hostilities in Hope of Aiding the Election of William J. Bryan.

Assistant Secretary of War Meiklejohn came in from Washington yesterday to resume his campaigning in Nebraska, opening at Falls City tonight. His itinerary extends up to the day of election and is as follows: Auburn, October 16; Nebraska City, 17; Aurora, 18; Wahoo, afternoon, 19; Stromberg, afternoon, 20; Clay center, 21; Fremont, afternoon, 22; Arapahoe, 23; Broken Bow, 24; Leola City or Aradiah, 25; Chadron, 26; Schuyler, 27; Crawford, 28; Hartington, 29; Madison county, 30; Pender, November 1; Madison, November 1 and closing on the evening before election at his home in Fallerton.

Mr. Meiklejohn in reply to a question said that conditions are most encouraging for the republicans in the east and that the eyes of the east are now upon Nebraska. The great desire of the republican people generally being that Nebraska should cast its electoral vote for McKinley and get back into the ranks of republican. He said that Chairman Hanna is looking forward with much interest to his coming visit to the Antelope state and that he believed that the election of a national chairman would do an immense amount of good.

Encouraged by American Amities. Talking about matters connected with the war department, he said that just as he was coming away a communication had been sent from the military government of the Philippine islands, stating that a distinguished Filipino statesman had been deposed toward the publication of the islands and preliminary to giving certain extracts from the communication of the military government, Mr. Meiklejohn said that the insurrection in the Philippine islands would have been ended long ago had it not been for the Tagalogs of the United States advocating Aguinaldo's mobocracy.

In support of this contention he authorized the use of the following extracts from the letter to the military government, which is signed by a distinguished Filipino, whose name for state reasons is withheld. Speaking of the conference had with Senator Trias on July 16, 1900.

General Trias showed himself very much surprised at the position and confidence of the military government, and he said that he had never before seen such a position of confidence in the military government.

Acting to Aid Bryan. General Trias was not present at this second conference, only Mr. Meiklejohn and an officer of his staff. They informed me of having received letters from the military government, which are of a nature that I do not believe to be true. I am not wishing to give the impression of representing those who opposed the peace movement.

Up to the present date Trias has received no reply from Aguinaldo, but he has already written several times to the military government, some of them being more opposed than others to the peace movement. Those who are least opposed are those who are nothing to low and who imperiously demand recognition of the military government as a friendly power. In my opinion, do not wish for the war ever to cease because they are bandits and they do not wish to be left to exterminate them.

On August 2 returned at the request of General Trias to the place designated where I met the latter group of General San Miguel's officers. Trias was not present. At this conference they told me that more than 100,000 men were being fitted the arms of Senor Buencamino to reach an honorable peace and doubling them as traitors. They were to be sent to China as a reason for the depletion of the American force here and also of the promise of Mr. Bryan to give independence under a protectorate in case he should be elected.

I supposed all such reasons as absurd, assuring them that if Mr. Bryan was elected they would not have to fight. I also told them that they should bear in mind that the military government would not be permitted to enter that their goods would be confiscated and that he who would not resist would be hanged.

They then related to me that they had learned all this from another source, but that in view of the letters that had recently been received and the fact that they were to be sent to China, they were to be sent to China to the effect that aggressive operations should be entered upon with the object of aiding in the election of Mr. Bryan.

Will End With McKinley's Election. "It will be but a few months after McKinley's re-election till the Philippine insurrection will be a thing of the past. The fighting has been sharp recently and there is no question but that it is inspired by the talk of the anti-expansionists. In my opinion," said the assistant secretary of war, "the trouble will end suddenly after McKinley's re-election, much as the civil war ceased after Lincoln's re-election.

There is absolutely no foundation for the claims the democrats are making concerning their great gains in New York, Maryland and Indiana. All three of these states are safely within the republican ranks. Maryland will go for McKinley by at least 15,000 votes. McKinley's majority in the republican majority in New York may be slightly less than it was four years ago, but will be a great surprise to the democrats who are making such extravagant statements.

In discussing his candidacy for United States senator, the assistant secretary of war said that he expects to let the matter rest for the present and will devote all his energy from now until election day to carrying Nebraska for McKinley. In case a

It is an absolute fact that the solid south would never again be sold," said Mr. Hanna, emphatically. "If it were not for the negro question, I am not talking with the industrial systems of Alabama all over the state as they are the most radical expansionists you ever saw. They go beyond what the republican party has advocated. Dozens of them regretted in the strongest terms that we did not make a colony of Cuba. We will be just like Haiti and the little republics of the West Indies. They will never be a monument to American beneficence. Why should not America take it and make something profitable out of it both for the Cubans and ourselves?"

Why Davidson Withdrew. TOLSON, Neb., Oct. 14.—Hon. H. C. Davidson, Chairman Republican State Central Committee, Dear Sir—The question has been raised as to whether a national convention should be held for the purpose of presidential election and as I am and for several years have been a national bank director and do not wish this question to cause any sort of embarrassment to your committee at any stage of the present campaign, hereby resign and withdraw from the position of candidate for presidential elector and decline to continue as such candidate. For the reason above indicated. But in this withdrawal as a candidate for presidential elector I heartily and earnestly hope for the success of the republican nation and state tickets at the coming election. I will fully endorse the republican national and state platforms and the loyal and distinguished statesmen who have been nominated as the standard-bearers of the party. Their Americanism and loyalty to the flag have secured the republican nation and state tickets at the coming election. I will fully endorse the republican national and state platforms and the loyal and distinguished statesmen who have been nominated as the standard-bearers of the party.

Bennington Holds a Frost. Although the democratic rally scheduled for Bennington yesterday afternoon had been advertised for ten days, probably a crowd of sixty-seven by actual count assembled in the hall where the speaking was to take place. This number included three women and ten boys who were present for the purpose of listening to the democratic speakers. The list of orators that had been provided for the occasion included such lights as Edgar Howard, Frank Johnson, Messrs. Shields, Riddell, Webb, Johnson and Ed P. Smith. Rather than face the stigma that attaches to giving no show Mr. Hanson made an extended talk, while Howard and the others sat and looked disgusted.

According to a poll taken by Chicago Record correspondents, William McKinley is an overwhelming favorite for re-election among the faculties of universities and colleges of the lake and north central states. Polls of the teaching staffs of eleven institutions made by the Record correspondents show that the men who will vote the republican ticket November 5 outnumber their democratic colleagues almost five to one, while the democratic superiority over their prohibition fellows is expressed by a slightly greater ratio.

The University of Chicago and the University of Illinois lead the rest in supporters of the national administration. Chicago will give 104 votes to McKinley and Roosevelt and only thirteen to Bryan and Stevenson. Illinois will go beyond the narrow in its allegiance to the power that the McKinley men counting up the while but ten members of the faculty have made up their minds to put a cross in the republican column.

Oberlin (O.) college is pledged to solid support of McKinley. Fifty professors and managers saying that they will vote to continue the present administration in power. President J. H. Barrows of Oberlin is an enthusiastic supporter of McKinley. All the Northwestern, Lake Forest and Beloit professors who are willing to publish their sympathies regard themselves with McKinley. Bryan's greatest strength among the teachers is at the University of Wisconsin and the University of Iowa. Wisconsin will cast fifty votes for McKinley and thirty for Bryan, while Iowa will give McKinley thirty and Bryan forty-two. Wood's greatest proportional strength is at Northwestern, where four professors intend to vote for him, though Chicago and Iowa will both give him eight votes each.

The vote is as follows: Total number of professors and managers for McKinley, 104; for Bryan, 13; for Roosevelt, 13; for Wood, 13; for Stevenson, 13; for other candidates, 13. Total number of managers for McKinley, 104; for Bryan, 13; for Roosevelt, 13; for Wood, 13; for Stevenson, 13; for other candidates, 13.

The Changeling Child.

The Scientific Explanation of the Change Formerly Attributed to the Fairies.

In folk lore stories there is frequent mention of changelings—children who were changed by fairy influence. Some loving wife and proud husband found their child weak of body, and sometimes weak of mind, it grew up to be frail, stunted and perhaps epileptic.
