

BRYAN IS STILL THEIR MOSES

Democrats Want Him to Lead Them to Victory in Nebraska.

TALK OF RUNNING HIM FOR GOVERNOR

His Alleged Ability to Sweep the State and Return the Disappointed to the Trough is His Chief Attraction.

LINCOLN, Nov. 12.—(Special.)—Democrats of the state have suggested W. J. Bryan for the party nominee for governor two years hence. It is said here that at an informal conference of a number of prominent Democrats in Douglas county Saturday night it was agreed that although weak as a presidential candidate he would be the strongest man the party could put up as a gubernatorial nominee.

"The vote last Tuesday does not show that Bryan is less popular now than he was four years ago when he carried the state by an overwhelming majority," said Henry Blum of Omaha, one of the democrats who are proposing Bryan for governor. "The people didn't want to change the national administration. In Nebraska Bryan is just as strong as he ever was. He is now nominated for governor he would sweep the state. There are only three men in the state capable of polling a majority of the votes for our party. They are Bryan, Smith and Hitchcock and our next candidate for governor will be one of these men. Mr. Bryan says he is going to stay in politics. If the legislature is republican the senatorship is out of the question, but he could easily get the nomination for governor."

Another state house democrat and friend of Hitchcock did not look with so much favor on the suggestion of Bryan's name. He said: "It may be true that Bryan is as strong as any man in the party, but it is nevertheless true that he would be weak as a candidate for governor. He is not a man to lead the party. He is a man for governor the national republican party would center its forces against him here in this state and he would be defeated and defeated badly. Mr. Bryan is a young man and there is plenty of time left for him to look for a better nomination."

Fred Jewell as an Estimator. The clerks and secretaries employed in the governor's office are still at work under the direction of Private Secretary Fred Jewell in a vain endeavor to figure out a majority for William A. Poynter. Mr. Jewell has invented a new method of calculating the result of an election and in a trial test it worked satisfactorily to him by indicating that Mr. Poynter received more votes than did his opponent. Instead of counting the vote in all counties heard from he includes Douglas and ten other counties which were not reported, leaving Poynter a few hundred votes ahead. He then concedes that Douglas will cancel the majority thus obtained, but insists that as several of the remaining counties gave to the federal nominee a majority two years ago, they did the same in 1896. He then concedes that Douglas will cancel the majority thus obtained, but insists that as several of the remaining counties gave to the federal nominee a majority two years ago, they did the same in 1896.

No one can be found at the state house outside of the governor's office who will admit that he believes Poynter is elected. The populist state committee has closed its headquarters, ordered out the telegrams published in the republican newspapers, and deluded populist inquired of one of the attaches of the governor's office over the telephone if it was safe to wager money on the election. He said he had read the claims of the Omaha fusion organ and was about convinced that Poynter was defeated.

Not to Bet On. "We still believe that official canvass will show that Poynter was elected," was the response, "but we would not advise you to bet any money on that kind of a proposition." Secretary Jewell has been annoyed by the figures published in the republican newspapers. "I have lost $500 on election through wagers," he said today, "and I am now willing to wager $100 more that my figures are nearer correct than those published in the newspapers." "I regret that the papers have seen fit to mistake my position," he continued. "All that I claim or have claimed is that the vote on governor will show that whoever is elected will not have a plurality of over 300 and that the chances are in favor of the election of Poynter. If the people will withhold their decision until the official vote is in they will then agree that my estimate is nearer correct than that of the newspapers. I agree that when the official vote is received, the chances are in favor of the election of Poynter. My conclusions are based entirely upon the official returns now received by the secretary of state, together with those telegraphed to the populist state committee from the canvass of the vote by the counties."

Appeal from Texas Grand Army. The following letter from Commander Peck of the Department of Texas, Grand Army of the Republic, relative to the aid for the Galveston sufferers is being sent to Nebraska post by the state department: HOUSTON, Tex., Nov. 12.—The appalling calamity which has befallen the comrades of this department residing at Galveston and vicinity makes it a sacred duty of the department officers to make an effort to obtain funds to alleviate their suffering and in a small measure relieve the necessities of their dependents. We are unable to earn a living for those depending on them and support themselves. The department of the Grand Army of the Republic has funds which are being used to their organized capacities to contribute such relief as they may be able to spare from their meager means. It is suggested that an appeal be made to the comrades of the Grand Army of the Republic in their organized capacities to contribute such relief as they may be able to spare from their meager means. Madison's Official Vote. MADISON, Nov. 12.—(Special Telegram.)—The report telegraphed from Lincoln that an error had been discovered in the reported vote of this (Madison) county, is incorrect. The correct vote, according to the official count made here is just as follows: The vote of this county is 1,569 for Dietrich and 1,559 for Poynter. If the returns sent to Lincoln show different figures it is a clerical error. Dietrich's plurality in this county is 187, according to the official count.

Strengthening of Gold Standard. The act of March 14 strengthened the guarantee for the maintenance of the gold standard, both in providing for the redemption of gold certificates and in adding one-half to the $100,000,000, which in practice of the department was formerly maintained without specific statutory requirement. The ratio of the reserve to the fixed volume of United States notes was raised from 28.85 to 43.27 per cent. While the volume of United States notes, treasury notes and silver certificates is limited by statutory provisions, the stock of gold is constantly growing. The metallic stock of money is estimated for October 1, 1900, at $1,055,258,320 in gold, $566,355,267 in silver dollars and bullion and $50,000,748 in fractional silver coin, an aggregate of $1,711,644,335.

Court Opens at Plattsmouth. PLATTSMOUTH, Neb., Nov. 12.—(Special.)—Judge Paul Jensen arrived in this city from Nebraska City and opened the November term of district court. Very little business was transacted except the calling of the docket.

Telephone War in San Antonio. SAN ANTONIO, Nov. 12.—(Special Telegram.)—The days of the electric linemen and telephone operators have been on strike and the city has been without either local or long distance telephone service. Business men to the number of 930 have discontinued the service of the Southwestern Telephone and Telegraph company and have asked the new company to take over the service. The company has declined the proposition.

SURE INDEX TO PROSPERITY

Annual Report of United States Treasurer Adds to the General Confidence.

LARGE INCREASE IN RECEIPTS IS SHOWN

With the Exception of One Month a Surplus is Realized During Every Month in the Fiscal Year Which Has Just Ended.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12.—The annual report of the treasurer of the United States, which he submitted to the president on October 10, shows that the operations of the treasury and its branches are conducted in increasing ratio in gold, the receipts of the fiscal year in that coin having increased to $41,080,000 and the disbursements to $30,642,128 over 1899. There is an increase in the circulation of standard silver dollars in the autumn of each year, followed by their return to the treasury a few months later. This is an incident to the movement of the crops and to the free delivery of the treasury of its gold. The amount in circulation of these coins is $73,475,469.

Assistance in Moving Crops. The treasury each year is called upon to furnish small denominations of paper currency for use in the movement of the crops. The amount of these exchanges at the sub-treasuries in New Orleans, St. Louis and Chicago up to November 1 this year, was $9,748,472. A larger amount was expended during the fiscal year, the amount being $12,925,583 the year before.

Counterfeiters Detected and Destroyed. During the fiscal year there were detected and destroyed at the offices of the treasury $11,146 in counterfeit silver certificates, gold certificates and notes, 3,277 five cent pieces, and 121,552 one cent pieces. Comparison with the previous year shows no significant changes, excepting in the number of spurious minor coins in circulation, which are rapidly on the increase. Counterfeit gold coins are rare, only thirteen having been presented at the treasury during the year. The operations of the treasury show a financial law involving great changes in the bonds held by the treasurer in trust for national banks to secure circulating notes and public deposits. The total of these bonds in the treasurer's hands increased during the year from $29,588,110 to $28,478,000. Bonds of the United States, $160,000, formerly belonging to the Indian trust fund, have been paid.
