BWINDLE BY OMAHA "AUCTIONEER."

Charles McClelland Invests Nineteen

Charles McClelland, living at Broadway and Nineteenth street, went across the river to Omaha yesterday morning and returned with a watch worth at wholesale about $2 a dozen, for which he had paid $19 of his hard-earned money. He realized he had been up against a bunco game and complained to Chief of Police Albro. who suggested that he tell his troubles to the authorities in Omaha.

McClelland was lured by the siren voice of the man back of the counter in one of the "auction" shops on Douglas street. It took but very little persuasion to induce him to part with $9 for a "gold-filled" timepiece. The auctioneer, before turning over the watch to McClelland insisted on making out a bill of sale for the article. While this was being made in a little back room, a man rushed in and wanted to borrow $20 on a $75 watch. The auctioneer told the supposed stranger that his concern would first of the new year, but suggested that perhaps McCleiland might accommodate him. The upshot of it was that McCleiland was induced to trade the watch he had purchased and give $10 to boot for the alleged $75 timepiece. He did this on the whispered suggestion of the auctioneer that if he got the watch he would buy it back from him for $25. When McCleiland offered to hand over the watch in return for $25 the auctioneer declined to accept unless McCleiland could give him a written guaranty, signed by some responsible citiguaranty, signed by some responsible citiguaranty, signed by some responsible citiguaranty. commence lending money until the zen, that the timepiece had not been stolen.

County Clubs and Maintenance Leagues to Be Formed in Large Countles and Systematic Agitation to Be Carried On.

DES MOINES, Nov. 12 .- (Special Telegram.)-Dr. Frances Wood, state organizer of the Equal Suffrage society, left today for extended work in Marion, Mahaska, Washington and Muscatine counties. She will endeavor to organize county clubs and also secure contributions to the national bazar fund. This fund is to be used at the big bazar in New York in December. The lowa society will try to get a carload of hogs and sell them and send the proceeds to the finance committee of the bazar. It is thought scores of farmers will favor giving a pig to the local club in their county and then a collection of the hogs twenty-two of the country precincts. The ular works to patrons of the library has will be made, probably at Des Moines. The maintenance league is also to be organized all over the state, that is, a general fund is to be raised by members donating whatever sum they like and they can belong to the league whether really equal suffragists or not. The central offices in this city, in charge of Mrs. Nelson, will receive such contributions. Unknown Floater Found.

The dead body of an unknown man was found floating in the Des Moines river this afternoon. None of the local officers recognize the dead man. He was about 50 years of age, wore a blue working shirt and overalls, was clean shaven with exception of a black mustache slightly sprinkle with gray. He had dark hair and eyes and weighed about 180 nounds. From the condition of the body when found he has not lain in the water a great length of time. There are no marks on his person to indicate violence and it is supposed he took his own life.

Sale of Fancy Stock. The dispersion sale of the Elmendorf herd, which was held at the stock yards a day or two ago, is attracting a great deal of attention on account of the prices paid for blooded animals. The auction was held in the stock yards' sale pavilion. Before being brought into the ring the cattle were placed in the well-warmed and ventilated barns adjoining the pavilion and were brought into the ring in first-class condition.

In speaking of this recent sale Bruce McCulloch says: "South Omaha, with its excellent shipping facilities, its advantageous location and newly arranged pavilion, promises to take its proper place with Kansas City and Chicago as a center for holding sales of thoroughbred stock The next big sale will be held on Novem tempt to auction off $70,000 in funding her 20, when a big bunch of Aberdeon-

a base burner. What Our Customers Say.

Had always used a hard coal base burner till last winter, when I got a No. 206 Cole's Hot Blast. We burned four tons of soft coal all winter, heated three rooms, fire never went out, and I can't see but what we got just as even, steady heat and just as great cleanliness as we ever had with hard coal.
