out concerning the agreement: The following emchal statement was given out concerning the agreement: The Navy department has come to an agreement with the Carnegie and Bethie-hem companies for Krupp armor of the first class amounting to 2,500 tons for 3420 a ton. The Krupp process involves the Harvey patent, the validity of which is now under consideration by the courts, and it is further agreed that the government will assume in addition any flability for the Krupp process not exceeding $24.32 a ton for Krupp royalty, and not exceeding the United States license fee of $11.20 for Har-vey royalty. The maximum price to the government is therefore $455.52 a ton, sub-ject to diminution in case of any redaction in the foregoing royalites. The Midvale company some time ago withdrew its bid, but it would have been unable, in any event, to furnish armor in due season for the Maine class of battle ships. Had it not withdrawn its bid it is have been made for the distribution among the three companies of the manufacture of the armor other than that of the Maine class. Its bid, however, was of value in enabling the department to secure the large reduction indicated. Admiral O'Neill on the Deal. CHICAGO Admiral O'Nelli on the Deal. Admiral O'Neil, chief of the Bureau of Ordnance, said of the result: Ordnance, said of the result: The agreement is most satisfactory. The terms are reduced not only to a reasonable point, but more than reasonable. We get armor cheaper than any country in the wor'd. It is due not only to Secretary Long's able management, but also to the fact that the companies met bim in a very reasonable spirit. It is only just that this should be understood.

The armor contract covers not only the 24.950 tons specified in the official statement, but also some 10,000 tons of armor of the second and third-class, which has not been in controversy, but has been dependent on the disposal of the first-class armor.

The entire amount, approximately 35,000 tons, is now made available. New specifica. tions have been prepared by the Navy department showing in detail the tests, times of delivery, etc. There is some change in classification, but in the main features the specifications are as they were when the last bids were made.
