FISHWOMAN USES WILLIAM AS TARGET

POLICE QUICKLY TAKE WOULD-BE ASSASSIN

Crowd Which Witness the Assault Frenzied with Desire for Revenge.

DEED THOUGHT TO BE THAT OF A LUNATIC

After the News of the Affair Had Been Reported About the Imperial Party Was Greeted with a Great Show of Affection.

BRESLAU, Nov. 16.—Emperor William was the object of an attempted outrage, which, however, failed.

As he was driven in an open carriage to the Cuirassier barracks, accompanied by his hereditary prince of Saxony-Meiningen, a woman in the crowd hurled an ax at the carriage.

The assailant is a tradeswoman of Breslau. A provisional medical examination of the prisoner has been made and she has been pronounced to be insane.

While Emperor William was returning from the barracks to the railroad station he was cheered by immense crowds of people who were gathered along the route.

While the attack upon the emperor was not planned as part of an international plot, there is no doubt that unusual anarchist activity is developing in various countries of Europe and that the police are taking extreme precautions against it.

The entire line of railway from Breslau West to Gochelshon, where is situated the palace of Emperor Francis Joseph, is guarded by special police, a thing which was never done before.

Otto Albrecht, editor of Neues Leben, an anarchist paper published in Breslau, was arrested today in the suburbs of Aldershof. Contrary to the first reports, it is now said that the woman was born in Upper Silesia, but has been living in Breslau, where she has kept a small shop.

According to newspaper reports, Emperor William did not notice the incident, but the Breslau Schlesische Morgen Zeitung says he saw what had happened and turned very pale, but continued to greet the bystanders pleasantly.

According to a special to the Lokal Anzeiger, his majesty was "apparently in a serious mood after the incident."

The entire Breslau garrison was immediately alerted and drawn up in line on both sides of the route which the emperor took in returning to the barracks to the depot after luncheon.

The news of the attempt on the kaiser made a great sensation in Berlin. It was first reported on the bourse, where the market was shaky.

The Berlin evening papers printed the details in double headed type. All accounts agreed that the woman is demented. It seems that she appeared this morning in the Breslau court in lunacy proceedings against her husband.

There is considerable conflict in the various reports of the incident. Private dispatches differ from the official telegrams. The former say that the ax, or hatchet, which was hurled at the emperor, struck a spoke in the hind wheel and then fell. Another report says the woman stooped to try to get the ax again.

When arrested and on the way to the police station she repeatedly exclaimed: "He ordered me to do it! He ordered me to do it!"

WEYLER'S TURN FOR BOASTING

Asserts He Would Have Driven American Soldiers Into the Sea.

NEW YORK, Nov. 16.—A dispatch to the Herald from Paris says General Weyler has emerged from his shell and fires some hot shot at Anglo-Saxons in general in an interview given to the Figaro's correspondent. He said:

"It has required the events in the Transvaal and the stories of the real cruelties committed upon the Boers by Lord Roberts and the English for European military writers to acknowledge that I never conducted myself in Cuba as the British have done in South Africa. People are now beginning to do as I did. The truth of the matter is that I carried on the war in Cuba with the rigor which war requires."

"If I had been able to gather together a strong conservative party after the death of Canovas I should have prevented the loss of Cuba. At the head of the Spanish troops which were then in the island I should have driven the Americans into the sea. The hasty levies of Americans would never have been able to cope with the Spaniards. I should never have asked for a fleet to be sent to me. My resources down there (in Cuba) were quite ample."

"But it is too late now. What's the good of crying over spilt milk? Politics lost us our colonies. No blame whatsoever can attach to the army. All it did was to obey orders. It was in no wise responsible for our disasters."

"Today, if it be necessary for the good of Spain for me to give my assistance and my personal support to a political party, I will certainly do so. The liberal party needs to reconstitute and undertake a campaign in conformity with its traditions of liberty and progress. I will give my help to the liberal party, but I will consent to be a politician for six or eight months only. Immediately afterward I will once again become a soldier—that and nothing more."

"It is my opinion that if Marshal Martinez Campos had remained purely and simply a soldier his fame would have been all the greater."

So far as the Carlist movement is concerned, General Weyler says it is doomed to failure.

ARE AFRAID OF ROSEBERY

Conservatives III at Ease Over Probable Return of Former Liberal Leader to His Old Place.

LONDON, Nov. 17.—Lord Rosebery's future is becoming an important problem, not only to liberals, but in an almost equal degree to the conservative party.

This morning the Daily Chronicle announces that the invitation which Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman, in his speech at Dundee, Thursday, extended to Lord Rosebery to resume the leadership of the whole party was made with the concurrence of its principal members.

"It may be taken for granted," says the Daily Chronicle, "that this will be put in a shape still more formal and deliberate before the February session of Parliament, if not immediately, by the summoning of a meeting of the party for this purpose and that he will receive an invitation from a party practically unanimous."

That the advent of such a virile personality to the leadership of the liberals will not be welcome to the conservatives, who recognize that they have a difficult task to face in Parliament, despite their big majority, is reflected in their comments, or the comments of their organs, on Lord Rosebery's rectorial address at Glasgow yesterday.

The Standard and Morning Post both point out that though Lord Salisbury follows many others in indicating the difficulty confronting the nation, he has no advice to offer as to the remedy.

BOERS ARE AGAIN ACTIVE

Railway Cut in Twenty Different Places Between Bloemfontein and Orange River.

LONDON, Nov. 17.—The Boers, according to the (capetown) correspondent of the Daily Mail, have broken the railway in twenty places between Bloemfontein and the Orange river, and the line was out yesterday between Kimberley and Belmont.

The Boers are now concentrating their operations southward along the high veld, with their cattle," says the Pretoria correspondent of the Morning Post, writing last Tuesday.

"Two commandos have appeared at Balmort and a force is concentrating to stop them. All the posts of the Mafeking to the west of Pretoria are held by the British to prevent such movements."

The Vrystad garrison is practically besieged, says the Pietermaritzburg correspondent of the Daily Telegraph, writing Thursday, and the town is evacuated. A portion has been taken upon the hills commanding it, and notices have been posted in the vicinity warning the Boers that if they attempt to recapture the town it will be blown to pieces.

Will Not Surrender Though Beaten. ST. JOHNS, N. F., Nov. 16.—The Newfoundland general election being virtually over much speculation is now indulged in regarding the next move. Colonel Whitehead, in his final orders relinquishing the command of the department, expressed his satisfaction at the orderly manner in which the officers and men, and their faithfulness in the performance of duty. IRISH BACK FROM TRANSVAAL

Members of Chicago Corps All Appear to Be in Good Health and Spirits.

NEW YORK, Nov. 16.—The North German Lloyd steamer Trave, which arrived this morning, had on board thirty-four of the Chicago Irish ambulance corps who fought in the Transvaal. They were met at quarantine by a committee to arrange for their landing and reception. The delegation consisted of V. P. Buckley, Patrick Egan, Dr. O'Neill and J. J. Judge.

The returned Irishmen are all in good health and spirits and greeted the delegation cordially, saying they were glad to get back. They were all clad comfortably in winter clothing and looked as if they did not suffer for means. Their soft, broad-brimmed felt hats were decorated with buttons and other insignia of the Boers.

John E. Schuman, who went out under General Havelock as a scout, said the men had all given a good account of themselves.

BEAR GETS HIS LITTLE BITE

Report Comes of a Secret Treaty Between Russia and China.

MANCHURIA TO COME UNDER CZAR'S FLAG

Japanese Minister in London Talks of Allies Pursuing Chinese Court Further into the Interior if Necessary.

LONDON, Nov. 17.—A m—Unconformed statements emanate from Paris and Ottawa that a secret treaty has been concluded between Russia and China for the Russian occupation of Manchuria.

There is no fresh news this morning throwing light on the actual situation. The Japanese minister in London, who was interviewed yesterday, hinted at the possibility of the allies pursuing the Chinese court into the interior if they desired, although he said it would be a long process.

Shanghai sends a report that the emperor dowager, alarmed at the rising in Kan Su province, now contemplates returning to Tai Yuen Fu.

From Hankow comes a report that General Fung Fu Hsiang is still at Shan Pa protecting the emperor dowager, that Prince Tuan has fled to Kan Su and that the whereabouts of Yu Hsien, governor of Shan Si, is unknown.

It is said that Prince Ching will be sent to Germany to apologize for the murder of Baron von Ketteler.

TO BE IMPRISONED OR EXILED

Chinese Official Decree Announces Stern Retribution for Princes and Dukes.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16.—Minister Wu has received from Director General Sheng the following cablegram, which he communicated to Secretary Hay today:

"An imperial decree of November 13 deprives Prince Tuan and Prince Chiang of their ranks and offices and orders them to be imprisoned for life; Prince Yia and Prince Ying to be imprisoned; Secondary Prince Lien to be deprived of his rank; Prince Lan and Prince Ning to be degraded; Kang Yi being dead, no penalty can be imposed upon him; and Chao Shu Chiao to be degraded, but retained in office, and Yu Hsien to be exiled to the farthest boundary."

The Chinese officials mentioned in the decree are among the highest in China and comprise most, if not all, of those against whom the powers demand rigorous punishment. Prince Tuan stands at the head of the anti-foreign and boxer movements in the past and has degraded him and taken away his office and servants, but this judgment of life imprisonment is the most severe thus far given to any of the leaders responsible for the trouble.

From a Chinese standpoint it is an extreme penalty to deprive of the blood, but it remains to be seen whether the powers will regard it as adequate to Prince Tuan's offense. The others mentioned were Tuan's active associates and two of them were specifically mentioned for punishment, along with Tuan, in Secretary's Hay's note of October 3, advising the Chinese government that this country would expect these officials to receive their just deserts.

Kang Yi is one of the officials who died suddenly after the demands for punishment had been made, probably by suicide. Yu Hsien is another who was thought to have committed suicide, but the edict indicates that he is still alive.

As the ministers at Peking also have been considering the question of punishment, it will develop speedily when they lay their demands before the Chinese envoys whether the edict of the Chinese emperor gives punishments which are regarded as adequate to fit the crimes.

EARLY PEACE NEGOTIATIONS

Reports of an Imperial Edict Making Diplomatic Adjustments an Immediate Probability.

LONDON, Nov. 16.—A news agency dispatch from Shanghai, referring to the alleged new imperial edict, depriving Princes Tuan and Chensang of all rank and offices and handing them over to the imperial clan court for close confinement, is furthering further punishment, says the punishment of Prince Tuan means that his son, the heir apparent, can never be emperor.

The edict also makes the early opening of formal peace negotiations probable.

PARIS, Nov. 16.—A dispatch received here from Peking says the Russians are abandoning surveillance of the railroad from Taku to Tang Tsou (Yang Tsun), and that Count Walderece has telegraphed direct to the Russian minister of war, complaining strongly of this measure, of which he had not been previously notified.

HILL PLANNING FOR FUTURE

Railroad Magnate Arranging to Have His Sons Relieved of Some of His Burdens.

ST. PAUL, Minn., Nov. 16.—It was learned today that James N. Hill was elected president of the Montana Central at a secret session of the board of directors. This is believed in railroad circles to be one of the steps in the plan of J. J. Hill, president of the Great Northern system, to relieve himself of the burden of the management, taking for himself the chairmanship of the directors.

Lewis W. Hill was a few days ago made president of the Eastern Minnesota railroad and it is thought President J. J. Hill will retire in favor of his sons from the presidency of the Great Northern. The Great Northern election is now one month overdue.

CRAPS WAS THEIR UNDOING

LEXINGTON, Ky., Nov. 16.—A. S. Thompson, a prominent farmer of Bourbon county, was charged today with making political capital out of the Danke 7-11 fever. It is charged that Thompson had been in the city since the election and had been in the city since the election and had been in the city since the election.

Jones, value of the late millionaire William Rice, who was killed by a steam engine in the Tombs for four weeks charged with forgery, was today taken before Recorder Richard Croker, who fixed his bond at $2,000. HAWAIIAN ELECTION RESULTS

Political Affairs Considerably Mixed—Queen Liliuokalani Said to Be Still a Political Factor.

HONOLULU, Nov. 9.—(Via San Francisco, Nov. 15)—Robert W. Wilcox, the independent royalist candidate, has been elected Hawaiian delegate to congress by a small majority over Samuel Parker, the republican candidate. His strong vote among the native voters of the district carried the day against the whites and the intelligent native voters of the cities.

The result of the election produced much depression among all whites. Wilcox was strongly opposed by Parker, an anti-white canvasser, with promises that if he were elected, Queen Liliuokalani would be replaced on the throne. The result of the vote shows the bitter animosity between the two parties.

The republicans carried the island and the island of Oahu for Hon. Parker by 219 plurality, the democratic candidate, Prince David Kawananui, receiving only about one-third as many votes as Parker. The independent native party has carried the house of representatives by a large majority. They will have fourteen members of the house, with nine republicans and six independents and democrats.

In the senate there will be seven republicans, eight independents and one democrat. With the independents in control, a lively session is expected, as they are against the ruling regime.

It is likely, as a result of the election, the congress will be asked to establish some limitations upon the voting privilege. Many of the whites want a proper qualification for voters. It is argued that in voting upon a simple color line many of the natives have shown themselves unfit for universal suffrage.

The returns, which are not quite complete, show Wilcox sixty-nine votes ahead. The prospects to be heard from are expected to slightly increase this plurality. Wilcox carried every island, but Oahu, where Honolulu is, with its large white population and with a majority of the educated natives. The island of Kauai gave more votes to Wilcox than to Parker and David combined.

The most encouraging feature to the whites is the fact that in the election the Wilcox majority is so small, which shows that very many natives were divided upon other than race lines. If all the natives had cast Wilcox votes his majority on each of the islands would have been larger than that of the whites. A third of the native population was aligned with the American parties and it is thought that the future will rapidly increase the proportion.

PRISONER KILLED BY GUARDS

Jail Delivery at Leavenworth Penitentiary Has Tragical Side to It.

LEAVENWORTH, Kan., Nov. 16.—Three convicts made a dash for liberty at the state penitentiary at Lansing this afternoon. One was killed and two escaped, but are being pursued by a posse. The convicts, Sam Smith, under death sentence; E. F. Estell and Ben Cravens, during old moments in the coal mines, had fashioned a dummy revolver out of wood, covering it with tin foil. This afternoon the guard at the bottom of the pit suddenly found himself looking into a muzzle of what he thought was a 32-caliber revolver. At the same time the convict fired and the guard was killed.

The guard was compelled to give the signal to "lift up," and on reaching the top of the quarter passed the top guard unchallenged, the guard accompany the convicts being afraid to give the alarm. Getting outside the enclosure, Guard Hewitt was shot in the back, and he was taken to an ammunition post, occupied by Guard Murray, the convicts broke and ran. Guard Swartz seized Murray's gun and began firing, the fire being returned with such effect that the convicts were scattered.

Deputy Warden Thompson was attracted by the shooting and drew his revolver and fired, shooting Smith in the head, his wound being mortal. Late reports from Lansing state that the two prisoners who escaped are surrounded in a thicket three miles from the penitentiary. The convicts were carried on between the officers and convicts. One convict was shot about 10 o'clock and his companion dragged him to a place of shelter. No one has been hit among the posse.

ASKS DISCHARGE FOR ALVORD

Attorney for Embrozzling Note Teller Declares That No Crime Has Been Proved.

NEW YORK, Nov. 16.—The case of Cornelius Alvord, formerly note teller of the First National bank, was called in the United States district court today. Jacob F. Miller, Alvord's attorney, made a motion to dismiss the case on the grounds that the prosecution had failed to prove that any funds had been taken from the bank, and hence he asked that the prisoner be discharged. The judge asked him if he did not intend making any defense and he replied that he did not; that the prosecution had proved no larceny and hence there was no crime. The judge then gave the attorneys until next Friday to file briefs in the case and reserved his decision until that time. He said, however, that he was inclined to deny the motion.

VERDICT IS AGAINST STATE

Jury in the Bank Case Has Agreed Upon Its Finding.

SEALD AND GIVEN TO THE CLERK. Result of Deliberations Reached Too Late to Be Reported to the Court Last Night, but it Leaks Out.

Although the jury's verdict in the case of the State against the Omaha National bank has not been officially announced, it is known beyond a doubt that it is for the defendant. The bank's counsel were jubilant over the outcome. It was through them that it became known the state got the worst of the decision.

One of the attorneys gave his clients assurance that the verdict was not kept secret in at least one instance. The jurors reached an agreement about 8:30 o'clock in the evening, too late to have the counsel and others interested called to hear the result of the thirty hours' deliberation. The verdict was sealed, placed in the hands of the district clerk to read when court opens this morning and the jurors dispersed, to be on hand in the court room at 9:30 o'clock.

Lawyers who have been connected with suits in Nebraska for a good many years are authority for the statement that this case involves a larger sum of money than any they can remember. The face value of the famous Bartley check, on which the suit is based, is $20,000. The interest is $48,000. These sums are given in round numbers. As a matter of fact they are a little larger, making in the aggregate more than a quarter of a million of dollars.

Although the case may be taken to the supreme court, there is one important question in connection with it that will be settled finally if the verdict is for the defendant, and that is the validity of the warrant. The state has based its case on the contention that the paper was void. At the former trial in the district court Judge Baker took the case away from the jury and instructed them for the defendant. The supreme court reversed the decision, holding that there was sufficient evidence to justify its having gone to the jury for deliberation on this one point, whether or not the warrant was valid. It is a question of fact to be determined by the jury, and one that the higher tribunal cannot disturb. This phase of the suit out of the way, the attorney general will have to try it in altogether a different manner than he did before Judge Baker.

BIT SHORT ON READY MONEY

President Major of the Linsseed Trust Explains Nature of Its Trouble.

NEW YORK, Nov. 16.—The Herald tomorrow will print the following: Approval of the discussion regarding the American Linsseed company President Guy G. Major yesterday made the following statement:

"We have no complaint to make regarding the conditions of the project. The demand is good and will continue so in spite of the limited prices. The price of seed has risen, but when the price of seed has risen $1.50 a bushel, which is what we pay for it now, obviously a greater working capital is needed. One year ago, before I have just paid out $200,000 for seed, the oil from which will not be put upon the market before February."

"The simple fact is that we need more money than we have in order to take care of our business and we don't hesitate to ask for it. We have a working capital of $1,000,000 of working capital. We shall need to raise $500,000 more money now. We are willing to pay 10 percent interest, which we charged 5 cents for it when seed cost us $1 a bushel."

"There is a committee now at work formulating plans for raising the needed millions and it will report to the directors at their prospective meeting on December 3 in this city."

There are two plans under discussion. The first is the simple project of an issue of bonds. The second involves a reduction of the capitalization. If this plan were chosen the capitalization would probably be reduced to about $16,000,000, of which $11,000,000 would represent the stock now existing, the remaining $5,000,000 to be subscribed by way of an underwriting syndicate, which could pay for it in cash at par, the cash so provided being devoted to working capital."

"It is by no means likely," said President Major, in response to a question, "that we shall consider the method of applying for a receiver and effecting a reorganization through a voluntary bankruptcy. As we are not defaulting in paying interest on bonds, we have no ground for applying for a receiver. And, then, we own a great deal of property in Illinois. By the laws of that state any holder of the shares of our stock could get an injunction against us, blocking the exchange of stock which would be necessary."
