To Monsigneur T. J. Capel has been bequeathed by the late Lord Bute of England an income of $500 a year for the rest of his life. In Lord Beaconfield's novel, "Lothair," Monsigneur Capel is portrayed under the name of Monsigneur Catesby, Lord Bute himself figuring in the work as Lothair, For several years Monsigneur Capel has been living in retirement at Arno, near Sacramento, Cal.

Commenting on the statement made by a Universalist minister at a recent Boston ministers' meeting, to the effect that clergymen ought to be paid for officiating at funerals, Harper's Weekly says. "No reason suggests itself why a funeral fee should not be willingly paid and accepted with resignation. The question of funeral fees often comes up, because cases in which they seem due are not uncommon, but they are rarely paid and are omitted in most instances because the bereaved family does not feel at liberty to offer one."

An old ecclesiastical dignity, that of liberty to offer one."

An old ecclesiastical dignity, that of mitred abbot, will soon be revived in England. Mitres will be conferred upon the abbots in the new Westminster cathedral shortly after the opening and the ceremontal is expected to be of a most impressive kind. Dr. Gasquet will be among the recipients. There is already one mitred abbot in England-Right Rev. Wilfred Hipwood of the Cistercian Abbey at Conville, near Leleester. The jurisdiction of these dignitaries is purely monastic, as is indicated symbolically by the fact that the crook of the crosier, which is made of carved wood, is turned inward. They have the right to confer the tonsure and minor orders on their own monks.

Sunday laws are strictly enforced in Honolulu. Not only are all saloons and bars kept tightly closed and stores for-bidden to sell, but any one who attempts to play ball or indulge in any other sport on Sunday is carried before a magistrate to pay a fine or go to jail.

OUT OF THE ORDINARY.

News comes from Danish West Indies that a species of grasshopper, litherto unknown in the Island, has made it appearance in St. Croix, and the planters complain of the damage done to the canes. It is feared it is similar to that which made its appearance some time ago in Cuba and was supposed to have been brought over in hay imported from the United States.
