SHORT CUTS PROVE COSTLY

Union Pacific Expends Vast Sum to Run as the Crow Flies.

HEAVY GRADES ARE ALSO DISPENSED WITH

Great Tunnel for Over a Mile Through Sherman Hill is Almost Completed—Heavy Expense for Equipment.

During the year ending June 30, 1900, the Union Pacific and its proprietary lines, the Oregon Short Line and the Oregon Railroad & Navigation company, spent for betterments, improvements and new equipment the sum of $8,977,404.88, more than one-half the amount being consumed in payment for the changes in the line of the Union Pacific through Wyoming and in the purchase of large additions to equipment.

The statement of these expenditures is made in the annual report of the company, which has recently been issued, copies of the same having just been received by stockholders living in Omaha. The improvements wrought in the main line of the Union Pacific by the changes of route in Wyoming entailed an expense of $3,675,845.05, but the officers and stockholders are generally satisfied that the expenditure was well warranted by reason of the great saving in gradients, distance and curvature degrees over the former line. The report shows that the old line between Cheyenne and Evanston has been shortened by 30.51 miles, but the greatest improvement comes in the reduction of 5.867 curvature degrees, enabling the operation of heavier trains and the lessening of locomotive power formerly necessitated in hauling heavy trains over steep grades and around dangerous curves.

The most difficult feat of engineering in the construction of the new line is between Leroy and Bear River, where the great Sherman hill is being tunneled for a distance of 5,900 feet. "The grading and bridging between these two points," says President Burt, "are practically completed, owing to difficulties (water and soft materials) encountered in the construction of the tunnel, the line cannot be completed before next spring. On June 30, 1900, the east and west headings had been driven 521 and 514 feet respectively, and the east and west shaft headings had been driven 107 and 104 feet, respectively, making a total heading of 1,245 feet completed to date. The work is well organized and equipped and is being pushed vigorously to completion. On the section between Buford and Laramie, across the Sherman divide, the work is already well under way and is making rapid progress."

Distance Saved in Wyoming.

The length of the new line between Leroy and Bear River, when completed, will be 21.61 miles, a saving over the present line of 9.85 miles in distance, 25.3 gradient feet per mile and 1,371 curvature degrees. Between Buford and Laramie the new line will be 29.63 miles in length, an increase over the present line of .37 of a mile, but a reduction of 54.28 gradient feet per mile. June 1, 1902, is the date officially scheduled for the completion of this work.

The detailed statement of expenditures for betterments, improvements and new equipment follows:

Regrading grades and widening embankments	$20,654.29
Enlarging tunnels	29,162.74
Relocating tracks	2,112.49

REGIRA TO THE PACIFIC COAST.

Traffic to California Already Exceeds Last Business of Season.

Assistant General Passenger Agent Arthur B. Smith and Advertising Manager J. M. Campbell of the Burlington have just returned from a three weeks' journey to California, Oregon, Washington and other western states. The trip was made for the purpose of gaining personal knowledge as to the needs of the Burlington's business and the progress of its affairs in the west.

"We were more than gratified with the conditions we discovered in the west," said Mr. Campbell. "Railroad business is thriving in corresponding measure with the prosperity which is prevalent throughout that entire section.

"It is really surprising to note in a trip through the west the great improvement that has come over conditions in the last year or two. The people all seem to have money and they are spending it as never before for what formerly seemed the luxuries of life. The exodus of eastern people into California is one of the marvels of the close of the century. Already the number of tourists in that state is far in advance of the ordinary season's numbers and the season is hardly yet at its height. How greatly pleased Californians are with this condition of affairs is not difficult to appreciate."

Pushing Central Pacific Suit.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 29.—The Chronicle says: W. Morsehead, a barrister and capitalist of London, who has been conspicuously identified with Central Pacific financial affairs for many years as a leader and organizer of one faction of the English shareholders, has come to San Francisco to prosecute the suit which he and other Englishmen, shareholders of the Central Pacific, brought against the Southern Pacific company and against the controlling spirits in the Kentucky corporation some months ago. The suit is pending in the United States circuit court in this city, and Morsehead announces his intention to press it to a conclusion, in spite of the fact that the recent Central Pacific readjustment has had the effect of minimizing the issues in the case and caused some of the other English shareholders to lose interest in the litigation.

MASONS WILL DROP TROWELS

Unless Mild Weather Prevails Work on High School Will Be Discontinued Until Spring.

Unless the winter proves to be unusually mild, it is probable that but little more work will be done on the high school building before March 1. John Latenser, architect for the Board of Education, is opposed to allowing the stone work to continue during freezing weather and will advise the board to delay the stone masons rather than run the chance of spoiling the building.

The stone work has been completed as high as the first story and the stone contractor, A. Schell, cannot do any more work until Paxton & Vierling lay the steel beams for the second-story floor. The iron has arrived in the city, but it will require about three weeks to lay the beams and strepwork the floor. This will delay the stone work until Christmas.

"The high school building is a permanent structure. It will stand for ages if proper care is exercised in its construction, and if my recommendations are acted upon no mortar will be laid on the building during freezing weather," said Architect Latenser. "We can get the building finished for use at the beginning of the next school year, even if the work is discontinued during January and February, and I think it would be wise to stop the masons and avoid all danger of frozen mortar."

"But if the masons are allowed to work at all during January and February the plan which the government follows in construction should be adopted. Work should be restricted only when the thermometer is above the freezing point and should be discontinued whenever the weather bureau predicts a fall in temperature."

STAFF WILL BE COMPLETE

List of Departmental Officials Will Be Filled Upon the Arrival of General Lee.

A letter from General Lee to Captain Erwin, adjutant general of the Department of the Missouri, says that the commanding general will arrive in Omaha about December 3. The date is not absolutely fixed, but Monday is the probable time of his arrival. Orders have been issued by the department commanding Lieutenant George M. Lee of the Thirty-ninth United States volunteers, son of the general, to report to the headquarters of the department of the Missouri for assignment to the position of aide-de-camp to the general. He will arrive in the city from San Francisco about the same time the general arrives from Washington.

The indications are that upon the assumption of the command of the department by General Lee, for the first time since the breaking out of the Spanish war, the general staff of the department will be complete. At the present time four places are vacant. Captain Erwin, adjutant general, has been acting as inspector of small arms practice during the absence of Colonel Boyle in Denver, as inspector general. In addition to his work as judge advocate Captain Sherritt has been acting as ordnance officer, signal officer and engineer officer. It is not expected that mon-

HELPED THE CHIEF.

How a Loyal Engineer Did His Brother's Great Service.

MEADVILLE, Pa., Nov. 30.—(Special.)—The Loyalty of the Members of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers is proverbial. A circumstance occurred in this city some days ago, which emphasizes this feeling.

Frank J. Zeller is chief of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers No. 143. He is extremely popular among his fellow railway men, and one of the best known engineers running out of Meadville. When the announcement was made a short time ago that Frank was pretty sick it caused a great deal of regret among the boys. Soon he was missed from his engine, having had to "lay off" on account of his back. A brother of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, who had been ill with similar symptoms, some time before, and who had been pulled through, called to see Mr. Zeller, and in a brotherly way, took him a box of Dodd's Kidney Pills, the Remedy which had cured him. He advised Mr. Zeller to try them, with the result that after seven boxes had been used, he was entirely well, and able to work.

In an interview Mr. Zeller states: "I had suffered for four years with this affliction, being often kept awake at night with pains, and at times unable to work. I tried several of the advertised remedies, and found that they did me no earthly good. Finally, a member of our order, who had been cured of Kidney Disease by Dodd's Kidney Pills brought me a box and asked me to try them. I had little faith in them, but as a drowning man grasps at a straw to help him, so I took the Pills. I used seven boxes and am today as well and strong as a man as there is in Pennsylvania." Naturally, Mr. Zeller feels very grateful, and his complete recovery has delighted his many friends, and none more than the good brother, who feels that he was instrumental in saving the life of the chief.

Dodd's Kidney Pills never fail to cure Kidney Trouble.

Milk Up to the Standard.

During November City Milk Inspector L. K. Hilton has tested the milk which forty dealers offer for sale in Omaha and found that all samples except two contained at least 3 per cent butter fat. The men who sold this inferior milk were warned that their product was falling below standard and later tests showed that their milk was all right. In both of these cases the inspector believes that he secured samples from the bottom of a can of milk which was originally up to test, but had been affected by the churning movement of the wagon.

Death of William Hay.

Died, at South Omaha hospital November 28, 1900, at 1:40 p. m., William Hay, an old and respected employe of the Union Pacific railroad for the last thirty-four years in the capacity of bridge and building department and train service. He was a native of Canada and of Scotch parentage being a grandson of Lord Hay of Dundee, Scotland. He resided in this city for twenty years, was a member of Vesta chapter No. 6, Order of Eastern Star and a thirty-second degree Mason of the Odd Fellows consistory No. 1, a member of Tangier temple of the Mystic Shrine, also a member of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen of Success lodge No. 134. He was beloved and liked by all who knew him, was a kind and lovable nature and always speaking of his deeds of charity and noble-heartedness. One knew him but to love him. He was a member of the Presbyterian church and husband of Mary W. Hay, for many years principal and teacher of the public schools of this city.

The funeral will take place Sunday, December 2, at 3 p. m. from the residence to Masonic hall, where services will be held. The deceased met his death by being struck by a train while working in the Union Pacific railway yards in South Omaha.
